

TABLET TO MARK HISTORIC FURNACE

Old Iron Works at Thompson Spring Stands at Entrance to Penn State

FUTURE PLANS INCLUDE LARGE DAM FOR LAKE

The first step toward improving the appearance of what is really the entrance to the grounds of Penn State will be taken on October thirtieth when a tablet erected from the old stone stack just below the Thompson spring...

This tablet is part of the plant of the Centre Iron Company, erected in 1792 by Colonel John Patton and Colonel Samuel Miles, officers of the war of the Revolution. Its product was the first iron smelted in Centre County and was carried on mule-back to Pittsburgh...

Erected on the 150th Anniversary by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission and the Department of History of the Pennsylvania State College.

This will be one of the first industrial places marked in the state, and it is fitting that it should be done in connection with a college devoted so largely to the industrial pursuits and professions of life. The tablet will be set upon the northern corner of the stack where it can be seen and read from the new state highway which passes near that corner of the old stack...

The college property begins a few feet to the eastward of the stack and from that point it extends, on one or both sides of the highway, to the western limits of the golf links. It is the hope of those interested in the improvement of the eastward approach to get enough money to make a permanent fern bank along the race leading from the spring to the stack...

The slope of the hill above the race will offer opportunity for landscape ornamentation, while the crest above will supply building sites with a beautiful outlook. It is greatly to be hoped that some preliminary work such as planting trees beside the new roadway and along prospective paths can be done next spring...

PROF. BEESE SPEAKS BEFORE JUNIOR AND SENIOR I. E. N. A lively get-together dinner and pretzel feed was held last Wednesday night when the Junior Industrial Engineers entertained the Seniors of the same school...

After the so-called "inner-man" was satisfied, Professor C. W. Beese spoke on "Engineering Activities at Ames." The occasion proved a success since the men went home full of elation and imbued with the idea to support their department to the best of their ability.

Why Don't You Banish Your Corns?

Why are corns? Nobody knows. But few human beings escape the distress and inconvenience of corns. There are said to be many fine remedies on the market. We naturally carry a big line of corn remedies, including all the standard advertised brands, but what do we know about them? Absolutely nothing, but we know about one particular corn remedy made in our own laboratory...

CO-EDS OF SENIOR CLASS STAGE PARTY FOR FROSH

The Women's Building parlors played a new role last Friday evening when they were turned into a pirate island for the Senior girls' Treasure Island party for the new girls. No one would have recognized the harmless co-eds in the villainous and piratical crew that roved through the building...

The first event of the evening was a hunt by the Freshman pirates for hidden silver in the form of Horshey bands. Then followed an Advertisement guessing and a tableau song-guessing contest. The winners in each of the events received a certain number of points and the pirate holding the highest total at the end of the evening received a box of Whitman's Treasure Island candy.

Later, the crew assembled in the Pirate den where they ate and drank and were entertained by a Pirate Cabaret consisting of a great variety of stunts, both humorous and gruesome. They saw Blue Beard's wives in ghastly array, a bull-fight, an Eskimo tragedy and murders and wicked dances in blood-curdling profusion...

NEW METHODIST GYM TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

The Methodist Episcopal Church of Penn State will add materially to its physical equipment next Tuesday when the new Wesley Foundation Building, which has been in the course of construction for the past year, will be formally dedicated. The services in connection with the dedication will begin Sunday morning when Dr. A. S. Pasiek of Tyrone will conduct the morning services and in the evening when "All-College Night" will be observed.

On Monday evening there will be an open house in the Wesley Foundation Building for students, congregation, and friends of the Church from eight to ten o'clock. A general meeting will be held in the church auditorium on Tuesday at two-thirty with addresses by Dr. John M. Thomas, Dr. W. F. Sheldon, Dr. J. E. A. Bucke, Dr. F. L. Patten, the Reverend E. M. Frear, and Secretary F. I. Olmstead, of the Penn State Y. M. C. A. Following this meeting, Bishop William F. McDowell of Washington D. C. will make the dedicatory address and will formally dedicate the new structure. A Tuesday evening service will also be held at seven thirty o'clock with Bishops McDowell and McConnell as the speakers.

The new building is constructed of limestone and brownstone and is of the same general type of architecture as St. Paul's Church which it adjoins. It will provide a gymnasium, four large student class rooms, an assembly room and an auditorium, and will cost with the furnishings about fifty thousand dollars. It is the first of two units which are planned to care for the Methodist student work at Penn State.

Campus Gossip

Hereafter and henceforth we will place no faith in public opinion. We have come to the conclusion that it is as futile as a college widow. Even if we claim to know nothing about a sardine's whiskers or a cat's mustache, we thought that we were going to start something when we announced our own little prize, letter-writing contest. Instead of the expected truckload of mail we have received but one cancelled postal card explaining why freshmen paint their numerals on the sidewalks.

Our martyr is a junior which explains and excuses him for writing what he did. He writes, "Blame the violation of every custom on the sophomore class. The painting of the numerals about the town is but one more example of their neglect in enforcing the law. If the members of the 1923 class were on the job, the freshmen would have been forced to remove those numerals as soon as they appeared. Customs were made to be obeyed; not to be violated."

"Customs were made to be obeyed; not to be violated." This causes us to believe that the discredit should be placed on those painting the ghastly numbers. The Barnum rule of one per minute exists even in colleges, according to our notion. And those who did the fool thing come under this rule.

We read the other day that a son was killed by his father when he demanded an egg for breakfast. We wonder what would happen if we would ask our boarding house proprietor for an egg. We like eggs but we consider it wiser to go on eating our quota of toast. Such is the self-sacrifice of the long-suffering student.

Do you want to buy a nice chapel seat. We're getting worried about the usual emptiness of ours and want to sell it cheap before we get flunked out of college. It appears to us that we'll really have to get up this year if we ever expect to get our sheepskin. The Trustees don't fool, so we are planning to be there our three times out of four. No more sleep practicum for us!

How many yellow slips are you going to collect this year? That's an unpleasant subject, we know, but life isn't all an orchard of apples. There are bound to be some green ones there according to our own revised philosophy. It's a good thing to get some work done before the big football games come around. Personally, we are not afraid of work. We can go to sleep by it any day.

Not being dumb aqs, we know nothing about pomology. Nevertheless we feel safe to say that there must have been many treeful of apples this fall from the amount of cider that we have observed being consumed. If the reservoirs run dry around here, we wouldn't object to falling back on apple juice to moisten our parched throats.

If we had been wise when we were freshmen, we would have joined many more clubs than we have. With all the cider and pretzel feeds now taking place, we figure that we could save

HEALTH SERVICE GIVES PRECAUTION FOR COLDS

Series of Illustrated Lectures On Disease Being Arranged for This Winter

Although there are a number of acute respiratory cases being treated at the College Health Service Building, the average visitations for medicinal treatment do not make an alarming total. More prominent among the cases being treated are coughs, colds in the head and chest, and sore throats.

Since the formal opening of the College there have been approximately two hundred and twenty-four cases treated at the Infirmary, four of which were bed cases. At present there are no students under confinement.

TENNIS CANDIDATES END FIRST ROUND TUESDAY

The first round of both the Varsity and Frosh tennis tournaments must be completed by Tuesday evening at six o'clock, October third, if the weather permits. The two Army corps will be reserved for these tournaments, and no other matches will be allowed. The following rules should be observed when using the courts:

When courts are crowded only two sets will be allowed any one person, and doubles must be played on all courts. Only tennis or suction soled shoes allowed on courts. This does not mean sport shoes even though they have flat soles.

Do not jump over nets. Walk around. Do not tamper with nets; they will be taken care of by the caretaker.

Courts one to six inclusive reserved daily from 9 o'clock to 4:30 o'clock for class work. Only men scheduled for class work allowed on during these hours.

FROSH MALE CHORUS PLANNED FOR SUNDAY EVENING CHOR

The first choir rehearsal of the year was held Tuesday evening by director Grant, in the Auditorium. Plans were discussed for the organization and outline of the coming year. A new departure will be attempted when a Froshman male chorus will be selected to sing for the Sunday evening service.
