

D. H. MEN TO ATTEND NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

No Penn State Judging Teams of Cattle Will Be Sent to St. Paul and Minneapolis

Professor A. A. Borland, Head of the Dairy Husbandry Department; W. B. Combs, W. D. Swope, Instructors in the Department of Dairy Husbandry; P. D. Jones, superintendent of the college dairy herd; and F. B. Knoll, Superintendent of the creamery, will attend the National Dairy Show which will be held this year at Minneapolis and St. Paul, during the week of October eighth to fourteenth. Several students in the department also expect to make the trip.

Attendance at the National Dairy Show is considered by many to be an education in itself. Dairy cattle from the entire United States are taken every year to the show to compete for ribbons, and dairymen are always greeted with an immense equipment of all kinds, including not only machinery for use in milk production but also every type of machine used in dairy manufacturing, such as ice cream, cheese and butter production and milk evaporation.

Penn State will not send a dairy judging team nor any cattle to the National Show this year, on account of the great expense involved in making such a long journey and in view of the fact that the judging team has but recently returned from the Eastern States Exposition. Last year two student teams represented Penn State at Minneapolis and St. Paul, although the college sent no cattle.

The cattle judging team ranked near the middle position among the teams competing last year, being surpassed mainly by mid-western teams. The Dairy Husbandry products-judging team from Penn State, however, ranked near the top.

Leroy Hoffer, now an extension specialist for Penn State is pursuing graduate work at the University of Minnesota this year as a result of his skill in judging dairy cattle at the National exposition last year. Hoffer took second prize in judging Holstein cattle, and since the student winning first place waived his right to the prize offered by the Holstein Association, Hoffer was awarded the four hundred dollar Holstein scholarship.

ALUMNI OF PENN STATE FIND THEY NEED THE COLLEGIAN

As a further proof that the PENN STATE COLLEGIAN is becoming recognized more and more as a vital part of Penn State, the following letter was received yesterday from George D. Johnston, an alumnus of the college.

Dear Sirs:- Enclosed you will find my cheque for two dollars and seventy-five cents which I think will cover my subscription to the "Collegian" for the coming year. I find that there is nothing like the Collegian to keep in touch with the college and I would not want to do without it. Here's hoping you have a most successful year, I am Yours sincerely, George D. Johnston

PLAYERS MAKE CHANGE FOR NOVEMBER OFFERING

The play which the Penn State Players have been planning to put on, the popular comedy by A. A. Milne called "Mr. Pim Passes By" is not available, and "Alice Sit By the Fire", by Sir James M. Barrie, is to be substituted. The material of over one hundred applicants in all will furnish ample talent for the Barrie production, and it will be possible to select a very well balanced cast.

The cast will be selected the first part of the week, and rehearsals will begin immediately. The presentation will probably be early in November.

Scenic effects of the production are under the direction of D. H. Porterfield '23 and a staff of assistants.

GOLF SEMI-FINALS WILL BE PLAYED THIS WEEK

Work is Started on New Eighteen Hole Course—Will Be 6400 yards long

The tournament which has been held to decide the college championship in golf has been completed up to the semi-final stage in good time.

The following men are eligible for the semi-finals which will be played off this week:

- R. H. Stevenson
- H. O. Ewer
- J. W. Crookston
- E. O. Gearhardt

The first two and the last two men named will compete with each other for a place in the final round of the tournament. Work has been started on the new greens in preparation for the change to an 18-hole course, and the greens will be ready for seeding by spring. Play on the present course will not be interfered with at any time this fall.

The entire course has been laid out by Willie Park, a nationally known figure in the golfing world, who has designed some of the best courses both in this country and in Europe. When completed, the course will be over 6400 yards in length, making it an official championship course, and without doubt the best course maintained by any college in America today.

RECORD HOLDING JERSEY ADDED TO COLLEGE HERD

Gambolin's Royal Mabel, a fine Jersey heifer, has been donated by Mr. L. B. Carter, owner of Oakwood Farms at Titusville, Penna., to the College. This heifer is sired by Mr. Carter's former herd sire, Gambolin's Royal Majesty, one of the most prepotent Majesty bulls in the country. The dam of the heifer is Western Finish, a cow that has a Register of Merit Record of 671 pounds of butter and almost 10,000 pounds of milk.

Gambolin's Royal Mabel is safely in calf to Blonde's Golden Oxford, a Jersey bull that Mr. Carter recently imported from the Island of Jersey. He is one of the finest bulls brought from the Island of Jersey in recent years.

The dairy department is highly gratified that the breeders over the state are taking such an active interest in building up the dairy herd of their state institutions. With animals like Gambolin's Royal Mabel, the Pennsylvania State College will have a herd of dairy cattle that will rank with the best in the United States.

DARTMOUTH "PREXY" SAYS TOO MANY IN COLLEGE

Too many men are going to college at the present time according to President Hopkins of Dartmouth College in his opening address to the students. In his speech were several interesting statements on a problem that confronts every college, namely, the selection of men who are best fitted and suited for a college education.

"After Every Meal" WRIGLEYS P-K's

The respect often paid to a college education for its own sake is objectionable to President Hopkins, for frequent by a college course does not do away with ignorance and illotry although the student has seemingly fulfilled all the requirements of the college. Thus the main object of the college, to make a man of more benefit to society, is defeated.

Some men really desire the benefits that college offers but lack the temperament to take advantage of their opportunities; others have the opportunity but use it only as an excuse to spend four years of leisure. Both classes bring about the crowded conditions of our colleges and President Hopkins believes them to be a hindrance to those men who are really fit and deserving, from getting the full advantage of their opportunities.

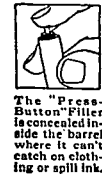

The solution that has been tried by most colleges, is the selection of those applicants for admission who seem best fitted for a college course, but as President Hopkins pointed out, this system is far from perfect, no matter how carefully worked out.

What other pen dare you lend to your roommate?

What Other Point Serves 25 Years?

The "Pressure-Button" Filter is concealed inside the barrel where it can't catch on clothing or spill ink.

THERE'S a pardonable dislike to lending the ordinary fountain pen, lest the other fellow's way of writing foul the point, or turn it. Not so with the new Parker Duofold. This lacquer-red classic holds its original point regardless. For this is real native Iridium, set in extra thick gold—as smooth as a polished jewel bearing. And we guarantee it for wear and mechanical perfection 25 years!

And when you consider that the student averages four fountain pens a year, you can see that the Duofold at $7 is the most economical pen you can buy. One Duofold will do all your four years' college work and still be good for your life's career when you graduate.

When first you lay eyes on the black-tipped, lacquer-red Duofold, you'll recognize something handsomer than gold. Its big, balanced barrel and super-smooth point will thrill your hand with "writing urge!" You'll not be surprised that 62 men in 100 picked the Duofold first from a tray of assorted pens.

You'll see many Parker Pens at college this year. Come in and pick out the point that suits your hand—extra fine, fine, medium, coarse or stub. Then take the Duofold on 30 days' trial. Money back if you are not delighted.
