Notices

The regular meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet in the faculty parlor of the Women's Building at seven-thirty p. m. Thursday evening. All members are requested to be present and to bring any new people who are eligible for membership in the association.

Dr. E. D. Hall will speak on "The Place of Research in National Development" in Room 100, Hort Building, tonight under the auspices of Gamma Sigma Delta, the honorary agricultural fraternity. The meeting is open to the public.

BEZDEK'S FORCES DOWN GETTYSBURG

and smashed through the opposing line for consistent gains.
Fumbles proved costly to the Nittany Lions, all but one being recovered by the Gettysburg boys. Bezdek's followers also lost more than one hundred yards on penalties. "Hap" Frank was injured early in the game and was replaced by Artelt.

Major General Charles S. Furness, chief of infantry, United States Army, and one hundred and sixteen officers of the Twenty-eighth division, N. G. P., who were attending a reunion at Boalsburg, witnessed the game.

Penn State made twenty-three first downs, while Gettysburg totalled three, one made in each period except the third. The Nittany team tried twelve forward passes, four of which were intercepted. The visitors tried to pass the pigskin ten times and were successful in five attempts.

Penn State Scores
The game started with Emanuel kicking off for Gettysburg. Wilson received the ball on the ten yard line and returned it to the twenty-five yard line. Singer shot through center for three yards and Simmons cleaned up five through right tackle. Patton hit the line for three yards and a first down for Penn State. A series of line plunges by Wilson, Simmons and Patton gained three more first downs in a row for Bezdek's proteges. Singer fumbled the slippery ball on a pass from Bentz and Smith recovered for Gettysburg on the forty yard line.

A number of unsuccessful attempts at bucking the Nittany stonewall forced Bream to kick to Patton on the twenty-five yard line who returned the ball to the thirty-three yard line where he was downed by Wolfe. Simmons and Wilson registered two more first downs by their consistent gains through the line. Patton fumbled the ball on a pass from Bentz and Singley snatched it up for the Gettysburg team on the forty-five yard line.

After a number of short gains by Bream, Smith and McDowell, Mensch tried two forward passes, both of which were successful and resulted in the only first down made by the Battle-field warriors in the initial period. Failure to gain by line bucking resulted in Bream kicking to Penn State. The ball rolled behind the goal posts and was returned to the twenty yard line.

A steady march down the field in which all of the Nittany backs figured, brought the ball on Gettysburg's six yard line. Wilson pushed the pigskin over on the next play for the first touch down of the game. Palm replaced Patton at quarter at this stage of the game and promptly proceeded to kick the goal for the extra counter. The quarter ended with the score 7-0 in Penn State's favor.

The second frame was marked by march after march of the Nittany Lions down the field for consistent gains. "Hap" Frank, who was injured near the close of the first quarter, was taken out at the beginning of the second period and Artelt was substituted for him at left end.

Wilson broke loose for a sensational twenty-five yard run and was tumbled by Emanuel on the forty-eight yard line. A pass, Palm to McCoy, gained fifteen yards for the Nittany lads and Wilson, Simmons and Singer bucked the line for gains which brought the ball within five yards of the visitors goal posts. Wilson slid over for the second touch-down and Palm came through with the additional point. Score at end of half, Penn State 14—Gettysburg 0.

Pass Registers Last Goal
The ball changed hands several times during the third quarter without either side making much progress until Smith fumbled for Gettysburg near the close of the period and "Tiny" McMahon scooped it up for Penn State on the visitor's fifteen yard line. Then the Nittany back opened up and, despite a penalty of ten yards, brought the ball within striking distance. A beautiful pass, Palm to Wilson, gave Bezdek's warriors their third touch-down of the game. Palm failed to get the proper angle on his drop kick and the score stood at 20 to 0 in Penn

CAMPAIGN LETTER SENT TO PARENTS OF FROSH

Campaign Headquarters Prepares Letter of Information on $2,000,000 Drive

In order that the present freshman class and their parents may be better educated to the needs of Penn State and the object of the present campaign, the General Campaign Headquarters has prepared the following letter which will be sent to each freshman's parents at once.

My dear Mr. Blevitch:—
As a "parent of Penn State" I want to write you just a word of explanation regarding the Emergency Building Fund Campaign which is now in progress and to which your son has been asked to subscribe.

I should not want you to think for one moment that there was the least bit of compulsion about a subscription to this fund from the members of the Freshman or any other class. The undergraduate campaign which seeks to raise $2,000,000 for the purpose of remodeling Old Main into a Students' Union or club-house is entirely the work of the undergraduates. They, represented by campaign, set the amount of individual subscription and have conducted it from start to finish. At the moment of writing more than 70% of the students have subscribed a total of nearly $200,000. More than 80% of the girls have subscribed toward a goal of $15,000.

CHAPEL SPEAKER TALKS ON THE BROADER LIFE

The man who devotes all of his powers and energies to the betterment of himself alone, is doomed to disappointment, and unhappiness according to the statement of the Rev. C. G. Atkins in his sermon at the Sunday Chapel services. Comparing such a life to a short circuit, in that it burns out the heart and soul, he urged every college student to take advantage of his opportunities to acquire that broadness of outlook and desire for service that is the only means of attaining real happiness.

He also warned the students to avoid that spirit of skepticism which has made the slang expression, "What's the use?" so prevalent. With such an outlook on life, it is impossible to accomplish anything and the result is always discontentment and unhappiness.

This is the second time that the Rev. Mr. Atkins has been here, his previous visit having been in the spring of last year. He is the pastor of the First Congregational Church in Detroit, a deep thinker and the author of several books.

In both games the varsity squad defeated the second team 6-0. The soccerists are, however, weak in several points that will have to be strengthened before the Lehigh game. Not only are they slow in following up the ball, but the kicking of the backs lacks distance. McVaugh shows kicking ability but has trouble in keeping his feet, while Horst, although able to stay on his feet after kicking, needs to improve the quality of his booting. The forward line has not developed sufficient skill in "centering" the ball when running down the field, while the shooting is weak and delayed too long. The backs are frequently caught out of position, and the members of the team show lack of vigor and persistence in checking. Games will be played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and it is hoped that most of these discrepancies will be removed in the scrimmages.

Eighteen on Squad
As the varsity squad now stands, eighteen men are candidates for positions on the first team. Candidates for the fullback positions are: Shadr, Horst, Edgerton, McVaugh and Savollan; for right half, Hagenbush, Webber and Kelley; Bream and Captain Herral will fill the left half and center half positions; Longhurst will act as goal keeper, while the personnel of the forward line is not yet certain. However, the strongest candidates for these positions are: Crooks, outside left; Gaul, inside left; Warner, center forward; Russell, inside right; Miller, Edgerton '25 and Hallowell, outside right.

GRADUATE SCHOOL HAS SEVENTY-FIVE STUDENTS

One of the most important features of the work being pursued in Penn State is the work being carried out by students in the graduate school. It is a fact not generally known by the Penn State undergraduates that there are a number of students, graduated from this school and many others, who are now working for degrees.

At the present time seventy-five are carrying class work and a number are registered who are not carrying class work, either because they have completed the class work, or else are devoting all their time to the thesis.

Of the total number now attending there are only thirteen who are not candidates for degrees. There are forty new students this semester and three candidates for technical degrees, and sixteen of this number are Penn State graduates. The other twenty-four students represent sixteen institutions from other states.

GIRLS' ENDOWMENT FUND CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

part of the upper-class girls, the freshman girls do not seem to be able to raise their percentage above the mark shown last Saturday night. However, all available arguments have been brought to bear upon the situation and the Campaign leaders are hoping for the best. Because the present freshman class will be the only class now enrolled in Penn State who will see the campaign's hopes materialized, it is felt that the remainder of the student body is justified in expecting a one hundred percent participation from that quarter.

RUSSIAN SITUATION IS TOPIC TO-NIGHT

The meeting, which is guaranteed to last for only one hour.

Russian Situation Important
The position which Russia occupies today in present world politics is one of importance. Her interest in the Near East uprising is great, since that country covets the possession of the Dardanelles for commercial purposes. Mr. Colton, who has been in Russia since 1918 is well informed on the condition of the country.

The future of Russia depends largely upon her younger generation and Mr. Colton will be able to tell of the conditions of Russia's educational system, with special emphasis on the universities. During the war he was in direct charge of student feeding as a member of the American Relief Administration.

The concern of the students in America for those struggling for an education on foreign soils has greatly increased since the organization of the Student Friendship movement last year. It will be remembered that this was started at Penn State at the same time as the Student Disarmament Movement. Mr. Colton is a member of the overseas division of the International Com-

DEBATERS' CONFERENCE HELD AT HARRISBURG

Methods of selecting questions and judges were agreed upon and recommendations in regard to the conduct of judges were passed.

"Open Debate" Advocated
Adoption of the open form of debating was suggested by the delegate from Swarthmore. In this system of debating there are no judges and the audience takes an active part in the debate, interrupting the speakers to ask questions, joining in the discussion at the end of the formal speeches and rendering a decision at the close of the debate.

RIFLE TEAM PLANNING FOR SEVERAL MATCHES

At the meeting of the members of last year's rifle team on Thursday night, R. M. Spangler '24, was elected captain for the present year and G. C. Jeffries '24, was elected manager of the team. Lieutenant Gruber and Sergeant Lennon of the Military Department staff will act as coaches.

It was announced that a dual match with Maryland and a triangular match between Yale, Lehigh and Penn State would be shot during the winter. Arrangements are also under way for dual matches with Oxford, Dayton University and the University of Pennsylvania.

The team will start practice on Thursday or Friday of this week. Both candidates for the R. O. T. C. team and the college team are being called out for that time.

NEW BACTERIOLOGY HEAD APPOINTED BY TRUSTEES

George Kernohan, who has been employed by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., comes to Penn State as an assistant in the bacteriology division of the department of Dairy Husbandry.

Mr. Kernohan is a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural College, and comes highly recommended. Attaining the degree of Veterinary in June 1912, he was employed by the Kansas State Live Stock Board in 1913, and the following two years by the Department of Animal Industry at Kansas City and St. Louis. He was an assistant in bacteriology in the University of Kansas in 1917, and since June of that year has been with the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington. There, under Dr. Marion Dorst, he has been carrying on research work with tuberculosis and hog cholera.
