WELL, OL' TIMER!

There is no doubt but that Alumni Day has become one of our best week-end events and that, as an annual affair, it should become fixed in Penn State's calendar. The old grads have been here and are now back in the mazes of the world's industry. But we have the memory of a glorious Saturday.

Again we are sure that benefits have accrued to both the Alumni and to their Alma Mater from their visit. They will be able to return to their work with more youthful vigor than they have felt in a year; they will be able to face their many problems with more of that bulldog tenacity that is injected into any true Penn State man when he sees his football team on the gridiron. On the other hand, the undergraduate has gained, to a greater extent, a realization of the worthiness of the college and of the love which a student generally holds for the institution where he has been trained for the struggle with life; he has seen an impressive example of the old time spirit of which he has heard so much and which he is trying to uphold; he has experienced that flood of fellowship that engulfs a group of Penn State men when they meet. He is glad that he is a member of that great Penn State brotherhood.

Now that it is known Alumni Day is the success that it should be in regard to quality, let us carefully review the quantity. The number that returned to the Nittany Valley this year did not greatly exceed last year's representation. The undergraduates realize that a man of the world can not leave his position for a week-end whenever he wishes, but surely there are more who can come back and who did not. This is something for the college and the student body to work for. To a considerable extent, more publicity is needed. At least one month before the date of Alumni Day, each alumnus should receive such an earnest appeal to come back and such a glowing account of the good times he is missing that he would be unable to stay away. He would then approach his employer with the all-important question and the chances are in his favor. Why not try it anyway?

TIE-UP SCRAP

With the first class scrap only a few days away, it is proper to sound a word of warning to the sophomores and freshmen. The members of these classes will be expected to turn out next Saturday one hundred percent strong and no excuse of absence is liable to be tolerated.

The showing made last year in the scrap was probably the poorest that has ever been made in the history of the college. The sophomores added no laurels to their class honor that day. Heats were run of fifty men each and that class had only enough men on the field to run through two heats. It is extremely doubtful if there were more than one hundred and fifty second year men that saw the scrap. The freshmen can not be accredited with such a poor turnout. They reported in full numbers and gave a good account of themselves.

Therefore, the underclassmen are advised to attend the scrap next Saturday in view of the fact that Student Council, Student Tribunal, and the members of the upper classes are determined to have customs strictly enforced. The Tribunal has made an excellent record this year. The student body has proved that it will support student regulations to the limit. There have been more cases turned in to the Tribunal so far this year than were turned in during an entire semester last year. There have been more haircuts so far this semester than there were the entire school year of 1921-1922. This is but an indication of the feeling of the student body on the question of customs. Let the underclassmen recognize the spirit of the times and act in accordance with the dictates of the majority.

IT'S A GOOD TEAM

Coach Bezdek and his staff and the entire college with all its friends may well be proud of the gridiron team that is wearing the Blue and White colors this year. Imbued with a spirit of cooperation, working with the definite aim of conquering all foes to the glory of Penn State, and radiating that spirit of loyalty which acknowledges no superior, the Nittany Lions are about to meet the last and hardest half of their season's schedule. Syracuse, Navy, Carnegie Tech, Penn, and Pitt are to be, in turn, the foes on foreign fields. Each one of this quintet is anxious to stop the victorious Nittany march. It is surely a stalwart and worthy team that can merge the conqueror. Our hopes are centered in this little group of eleven men, selected from thousands to carry the Penn State banner. We wish them the best of luck.

THREE HAVE RECORD ENROLLMENTS THIS YEAR

Yale, Princeton, and Harvard have record enrollments this year with more students than any of them have had before. The enrollment at Yale is 3445, at Princeton 2184, and at Harvard 6256. The freshman class at Princeton is larger this year than it has ever been before and of an unusually good calibre as five hundred and twenty-six of the entire class of six hundred and twenty-eight, have entered without conditions.

LAFAYETTE CELEBRATES VICTORY OVER PITT

Lafayette students celebrated their victory over the Pitt Panther last Monday by taking a holiday without faculty permission and staging a huge bonfire as the center of activities. So much keen rivalry exists between the two schools that the Lafayette students put their feelings into action and burned an effigy of Holleran, the Pitt captain, amid the shouts and cheers of the celebrators.

"Y" CAMPAIGN POSTPONED UNTIL DECEMBER FIRST

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and advisory board it was decided to postpone the Y. M. C. A. financial campaign until the first week in December. Because of the fact that men who have been helping to forward the college campaign would have to start work immediately upon the "Y" campaign if the previously announced date for the financial project was not changed, it was deemed advisable to hold it at some future date.

The postponement of this campaign does not necessarily mean that the Penn State Y. M. C. A. is not in need of money, for the entire future success of the Y. M. C. A. activities rests upon the outcome of this financial enterprise. There will be only one such campaign during the year and the individual students will not be asked for an unreasonable amount. Unlike former years, when all subscriptions were usually paid at one time, it is tentatively decided to forward this project along the lines of the college building fund campaign. Thus each student will not have to make any unusual efforts to meet their subscriptions.

Besides the entertainment course, which is the finest and best that has ever been put on at Penn State, the Y. M. C. A. is providing free lectures, movies, and various other entertainments. In order to continue this work which is vital to the social welfare of the college it is necessary for the student body to give them sufficient financial support.

The full details of the campaign, which is now scheduled to be held the first week in December, will be announced at some future date.

COUNTY CLUBS PLANNING DANCES FOR CHRISTMAS

Delaware County Students Report One Hundred Per Cent Enrollment in Student Campaign

Several of the county clubs of Penn State have already had their meetings, and two of them have announced the fact that they are planning for their annual Christmas dances.

Dances During Holidays
At a recent meeting of the Luzerne County Club plans were made to hold the annual Christmas dance at the Elks Home, Wilkes-Barre, December twenty-seventh. At this meeting officers were chosen as follows: president, Harry A. Leonard '23; secretary, W. J. Devers '23; treasurer, Dennis McCarthy '24.

Following the election of officers at the first meeting of the Beaver County Club, D. L. Bowers '23 was elected chairman of the committee that will take charge of the annual Christmas hop, to be held at Junction Park. It is the aim of the committee, as in former years, to make this the biggest social event of the Club's activities. The officers for the coming year are: president, D. L. Bowers '23; vice-president, C. A. Andrews '23; secretary, H. Gold '25; treasurer, T. A. Merriman '24.

One Hundred Per Cent Participation

After the first meeting of the Delaware County Club this year, president E. L. Carter '23 reports that a one-hundred per cent subscription to the student campaign fund has been attained by the club members. The following officers were installed at the meeting: president, E. L. Carter '23; vice-president, M. H. Gatchell '24; secretary, T. V. Palmer '25; treasurer, E. H. Henderson '24.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY CO-EDS INDIGNANT OVER CUSTOMS

The Freshman Co-eds in the Temple Dorms at Temple University are indignant over the strictness to which their customs have increased this year. Following are extracts from the customs as stated: Monday, Wednesday and Friday wear blue hose. Tuesday and Thursday use no powder or paint. Do not curl hair. Carry powder for the Sophomores and upperclassmen. Report for breakfast every Saturday morning. Wear a bib bearing your name in green letters at all meals. These rules are in effect until Thanksgiving.

Campus Gossip

The student population of State College is 3300, 300 of whom got up before breakfast.

Boarding house victims, beware of plunk steak! They're feeding cows a sawdust mixture now!

Judging from the stamina of the football players, we opine that their steak must come from cows raised on milk.

We're not curious but we would like to know what was in the package that "Foxy" and his family gave to our own Nittany Lion.

Lucky freshman! With no hands in their pockets they have room to carry more junk than we do.

The co-eds can learn the Middlebury yell in one week. From the cheering we have the impression that some male students can't learn the college yell in three years.

Start digging Pennsylvania Day cellar's early. The coal shortage is something terrible.

We're being cheated out of a vacation. Pennsylvania Day and Armistice Day are one and the same this year.

Poverty Day is postponed until spring says Student Council. Most of the freshmen will have accumulated some old clothes by that time.

Why not a post-office to fit the size of State College instead of trying to cram State College mail into the present crowded quarters.

That dinky little P. O. door is symbolic of the inadequacy of the whole P. O.

And in the meantime we must walk around the corner for our mail while the former wide and convenient entrance remains boarded up doing nothing.

Fools names will now appear in a public place. Frosh convicted by the Tribunal will have the pleasure of reading their case in the COLLEGIAN.

Some Brilliant Suggestions
We take pleasure in publishing the following communication: "Speaking of signs, we would suggest that on the one on College Avenue opposite McAllister St. (the M. E. Church) the word 'run' should be struck out, and 'walk' substituted. The sign should read, "Danger, walk slow". In fact it is doubtful if that path is safe at a slow walk.

"Which leads us to ask what that corner of the campus has ever done to deserve such a steady and consistent neglect of its walks as the last several years have seen?"

"And while we're over that way, why not straighten out McAllister Street? If the new Mining Building is on McAllister St. and the M. E. Church likewise, how come? Of course Mack Hall's presence would suggest the name of Mack St. for the roadway, but we rather favor rechristening it Pond St."

"Now that suggests another bright idea, or possibly only a thought. Since the Pennsylvania Railroad hits Centre Hall, Mill Hall, and Oak Hall, why isn't it a logical argument for extending it to Mack Hall, Pine Hall, etc.?"

"Itumor has it that Student Council is going to establish a joint system. Fine idea! We suggest the editing of this column be rated with the presidency of the senior class. Really for

SIRLOIN CLUB PLANS TO DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP

The first meeting of the Sirloin Club was held Tuesday night in room 206 Ag Building. The meeting opened what the officers intend to make the most active year in the history of the club, as it is hoped to double the membership of the organization by enlisting every student enrolled in the Animal Husbandry course.

Professor Tomhave addressed the gathering on the functions of the organization in Animal Husbandry work, while president J. L. Kerby outlined the plans of the club for the coming year.

This is you—at college

SEEKING a symbolic figure to represent Knowledge, let us turn away from the muses of antiquity and the be-capped and be-gowned youth of our own day.

How about the Football Player Tackling a Dummy? Isn't he typical of everything you do in these four years?

You are the Football Player. The dummy is every knotty problem you tackle, every effort to earn your way through, every examination, every campus activity.

Tackle the dummy hard, and you'll be ready for even bigger tests in the game of business or professional life.

Do not say about this symbol, "How clever", and let it go at that. It is worth nothing unless it reminds you to get the spirit of the Tackler into your work.

By his earnestness he seems to feel the thrill of combat. With set jaws and muscles tense he plunges at the dummy. For him it is alive, and the practice is a means to win the game.

If you intend to help score touchdowns after college, here is a man to measure up to.
