

GRAHAM & SONS

The Little Store on the Corner
See our Window for Halloween
Specials in Candy.

Bulletin

Friday, October 27

11:20 p. m. - De Sars - The Old 18 Chapel
12:00 p. m. - Club - Old Chapel
1:00 p. m. - Club - Old Chapel

Saturday, October 28

1:00 p. m. - Football - Penn State
Freshmen vs. West Virginia Freshmen - Old Beaver
2:00 p. m. - Telephone concert - Penn State-Syracuse Game - Auditorium
8:00 to 9:30 p. m. - Radio concert - Penn State Band and Varsity Quartette - Old Chapel
8:00 p. m. - Y. M. C. A. free movies - Old Chapel
8:00 p. m. - Old Main Club Dance - Arnoy

Sunday, October 29

Both Chapels - The Beyond Andrew
Mutch D. D. pastor of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia

Monday, October 30

1:30 p. m. - Furnace Memorial Dedication - Centre Iron Company
6:30 p. m. - Bible Team practice - Gallery Lane
7:00 p. m. - Candidates for Debating Team - 25 L. A.
7:00 p. m. - Warren County Club Organization Meeting - 314 Old Main

Notices

On account of the many other activities scheduled for tomorrow, Coach Martin has changed the date for the first Interclass Fall Trek Meet to Saturday, November fourth.

The rifle team practice will be held on the gallery range starting Monday night at six-thirty and every night except Saturdays and Sundays.

New Books on the Library Shelves

- American public health association.—A half century of public health.
- Bennett.—Accounting, principles and practice.
- Bogardus.—A history of social thought.
- Bryan.—In His Image.
- Davies.—Introduction to economic statistics.
- Elder.—Primer of statistics.
- Fairlie.—Local government in counties, towns, and villages.
- Harley.—The league of nations and the new international law.
- Jackson.—A community church.
- Jackson.—What America means to me.
- Lamb.—Statics, including hydrostatics and the elements of the theory of elasticity.
- Love.—A treatise on the mathematical theory of elasticity.
- Moore.—Coal.
- National industrial conference board.—Wages and hours in Amer. industry.
- Peters.—Bible and spade.
- Pierce.—Sanitary entomology.
- Ray.—An introduction to political parties and practical politics.
- Reitner.—A treatise on the transformation of the intestinal flora.
- Rittenhouse.—Accounting theory and practice.
- Schauble.—The First battalion.
- Sherman.—Vaccine therapy in general practice.
- U. S. Federal trade comm.—Food investigation.
- Humpstone.—Some aspects of the memory span test.
- Id.—The influence of temperature on the formation of judgments in lifted weight experiments.
- Id.—The Wittmer forward and cylinders as tests for children two to six years of age.
- Vodder.—Syphilis and public health.
- Snell.—Colorimetric analysis.

"Shoes of Worth"

The value of a shoe is measured not by the price you pay but by the amount of service you receive.

TRY OURS

20th Century Shoe Co.

121 Allen St.

State College

ENGINEERS DISCUSS COLLEGE EDUCATION

Prof. A. J. Wood of M. E. Department Writes Article For Engineering Magazine

The latest issue of the "Refrigerating Engineering" contains an article by Professor A. J. Wood, head of the Mechanical Engineering Department of Penn State, dealing with the Engineering Educational Conferences that were held last spring.

Last spring an educational committee of the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers attended the Second Commercial Engineering Conference at Pittsburgh, the Seventh Annual Engineering Extension Convention at State College, and later an industrial conference at State College. Professor Wood was one of the committee to attend these conferences and brings out in his article many important points. Some of the main points were that the conferences were not in favor of too close specialization in the colleges. They felt that emphasis should be laid more on the fundamental points than the general ones; it was brought out that, quoting Professor Wood's article, "The industries when approached with a tangible program, are willing to take an active interest in the promotion of education, and on the other hand that a college may obtain and profit by the advice of men in industry."

Another point, which was brought out, is right in line with the extension work of the engineering department. It was decided that until there was some definite plan put in operation for the training of foremen and other minor executives, the great waste due to such lack of training will continue to take its toll.

CIVIL ENGINEERS WILL HOLD SOCIAL MEETING

The monthly social meeting and smoker of the local student branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers will meet tonight at seven-thirty at the Phi Kappa Alpha House. The entertainment committee has planned a very interesting program for the occasion and a number of the members of the teaching staff will be on hand to contribute speeches of a humorous nature.

C. E. Society Dance
On Friday evening, November twenty-fourth, the first C. E. dance of the year will be held at the Phi Delta Theta House. Talbot's orchestra has been secured for the occasion. Freshmen will be permitted to attend the affair. Tickets will sell for one dollar and twenty-five cents and may be obtained from W. Fosby '23 at the D. C. House.

AG. ED. STUDENTS HAVING PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Believing that students who intend to teach should have practical experience before leaving college, the Rural Life Department requires all students in Agricultural Education to do six weeks of observation and practice teaching. The students are sent to the rural community vocational schools where they will meet conditions identical with those that they will have to face when they start their actual teaching.

At present Guy T. Everett '23 an Ag. Ed., is relieving the County Supervisor of Potter county and C. H. Kaufman '23 is doing his practice work at the Spring Mills vocational school. Along with his other work he is assisting with the rural Community Day program. The seniors in the rural life department will have charge of the games and plays for all ages at this Community Day.

HORT GRADS TO SPEAK BEFORE CRABAPPLE CLUB THIS YEAR

The first meeting of the Crabapple Club, held on Monday evening, was well attended. Dean Warrs told of the former days of the Department of Horticulture and what the graduates are now doing. Dr. Fletcher, head of the Department, announced that about fifteen former graduates, who are making good in horticulture, will be brought back to address the students in horticulture at different times during the semester. At the next meeting of the Club, which will be the second of November, several students will relate their summer's experience in commercial lines of horticulture.

Two graduates of Horticulture, A. I. Shirk '19 and A. B. Schantz '20, who were here for Alumni Day, gave talks to the senior horticulturists on Friday, concerning their experience in commercial fruit lines.

The First National Bank STATE COLLEGE, PA.

W. L. Foster, President
David F. Kapp, Cashier

year. There will also be the sophomore squad to choose from, which showed up some very promising material last year. It is not yet decided whom the team is to play during the Christmas vacation, but something will be arranged to keep the team from going stale over the two weeks.

FROSH ELEVEN SET FOR WEST VIRGINIA

(Continued from first page.)
catching passes. Buckley, who did exceptional yard gaining last Saturday, may not be able to play tomorrow on account of an injury to his leg received last week. In case Buckley is not able to play, Helbig who has been showing up very well in scrimmages will take his place. Light will play left half and is a valuable man on defensive play. W. Baker and G. Baker who played quarterback and fullback last week will both play tomorrow, although Johnston may be started following a great improvement in scrimmages. Kirkoff, who plays tackle still has an injured leg and will be out for some time.

SCHOOL TEACHERS HELP CAMPAIGN

(Continued from first page.)
subscription comes from men who just this year started to grow potatoes on an extensive scale and use the scientific methods advised by the college agricultural extension specialists. Eight growers representing one hundred and thirty-seven acres of potatoes made the gift. They averaged two hundred and forty-six bushels per acre on their potato yield, considered to be very good. The men are Ira M. Shields, S. Blain Lehman, W. H. Gluck, S. S. Misch, J. A. Upperman, F. A. Zimmerman, Samuel Bert, and J. O. Kraig.

During the week a new "Penn State Pictorial" made its appearance and is destined to create a favorable impression. It contains reproductions of the large all-college photograph taken in front of Old Main shortly after the College opened, and of the Summer Session students. Each picture covers one side of a long folder. The pictorial is being sent to sixty thousand people on the college mailing list.

President Thomas is away for the week-end, speaking in the interest of the campaign. On Thursday night he spoke to the combined membership of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs at Lebanon. Tonight he will address the New York alumni at the big dinner that is to be held in the Hotel Pennsylvania launching the drive among alumni in that city. Tomorrow night he will be the guest of honor at a banquet given in West Chester by the Chester County Holstein-Friesian Association. He will also attend their annual Holstein Field Day there tomorrow afternoon when the college will receive three pure bred Holstein cows to be added to the college dairy herd, from the association and individual breeders.

The campaign will receive good publicity through the broadcasting radio program from the New York station tonight and through the game broadcasted tomorrow afternoon.

NITTANY GRIDDERS PRIMED FOR GAME

(Continued from first page.)

han's outfit and is a tower of strength on the defense. Heers, the other guard and Waldorf and Starobin, tackles, all tip the scales at two hundred pounds or more. Captain Culver at center and Jappe and McRea at the end positions are somewhat lighter but exceptionally fast and complete a well-balanced forward aggregation.

Big Crowd Expected

A big crowd is expected to attend the game in New York City tomorrow. A large delegation of Salt City rooters will be on hand to support the big orange team. Many Penn State undergraduates will also make the trip, while the famous student band and mythical Nittany Lion will be on hand to encourage the Blue and White gridders from the stands. It is expected that many prominent persons from New York and surrounding territory will watch the fray.

Coach Bezek and his assistants are looking forward to a hard battle tomorrow afternoon. There was a big improvement in the work of the Nittany squad this week, but the men are as yet untried against a powerful foe and the result of tomorrow's contest is more or less a matter of conjecture.

Nittany Team Improves

Night after night of hard, conscientious work has worn out to a considerable extent the rough spots displayed in the games thus far this season. The attack has been showing signs of unexpected strength in the scrimmages with the second and third teams this week, and the Nittany stone wall has been still further improved by the increased efforts of the coaching staff. It promises to be a great battle, for the teams are well matched.

Captain Bentz's lame shoulder is still causing him considerable trouble and he will not be able to start against Syracuse tomorrow. It is possible that he may enter the line-up during the game if his services are required. "Bill" Hamilton, who played a splendid game at the pivot position last Saturday, will hold down the center berth in tomorrow's clash.

Palm will start at quarter, with Wilson and Kratz at the halfback positions and Singer fullback. Schuster and Mc-

LOST—Nita Nee Pin. Finder please return to Rooms Hill, Woman's Building.

EAT
Regularly at The
Penn State Cafe

will fill the tackle berths, while Bedenk and Flock may be counted upon to hold down the guard positions. Hufford will start at right end for the Nittany team, with Frank at the other extremity.

PROFESSOR CROCKETT WRITES FROM PARIS

(Continued From Second Page)

Chartres and Bourges the best glass that we have seen is in Laon.

Most of the way from Amiens to Laon, and again from Laon to Reims, we were in the war region of what was the Western Front. Through town after town we passed, completely or almost completely in ruins. Here and there efforts had been made at restoration, and in some places such restoration had greatly progressed, but nowhere in such degree as we were to see it in Reims. But everywhere still more evidence—gaunt and ghastly—of the ruthlessness of war. Elsewhere I have said that I have thought "The Trojan Women" of Euripides the greatest sermon against war, ever written; but in the light of our recent experiences, quite as eloquent have seemed some of the pictures that we have seen of war's desolation.

I was very glad again to see Reims and to see the changes that have been wrought in both cathedral and city in the short space of a year since my former visit. Some remarkably fine restoration has been done far up on the sides of the Cathedral where most needed for immediate strengthening of the mighty structure—giving promise as I foretold a year ago that again the Cathedral of Reims would little by little resume her one-time beauty after a restoration that will doubtless require scores of years. Such restoration could not have been had the World War come a century ago; but ours is an era of photography; and the parts of the Cathedral have been photographed so many times and from so many angles, that in the hands of artistic workmen they make possible the almost perfect restoration of that overwhelming masterpiece in stone.

When the war began in '14, there were 14,000 buildings in the city of Reims; when the last gun was fired on the morning of the Armistice, there were sixty buildings inhabitable. But with a determination and spirit that were superb, the people at once began the rebuilding of their city. A year ago, but little, seemingly, had been accomplished. Here and there a house restored or rebuilt, but everywhere, everywhere, were rows on rows of houses filled with debris, and several feet above the window sills of the first story, with the windows gone, doors of their hinges, partitions shattered, roofless. Faithfully they lined the streets, in the gauntness and nakedness of their ruin.

How changed is the Reims of today. Though there are ruins still in every block and the ruins still far outnumber the restored buildings, everywhere the debris above ground has been removed from the houses, hundreds of new stores, though oftentimes in temporary buildings, have been opened; and it requires but little stretch of the imagination to see in the not-distant future a new Reims, built practically on the same lines as the martyred city, but more beautiful than ever. What- ever told us before the war that France was a decadent nation; but if the new Reims is a type of the new France, as I believe it is, one need not worry about the decadence of France in our century.

We reached Paris at the end of our fourth day in France, tired but happy. We had seen four great cathedrals, and oh! so much else, besides. It had been a great Adventure. For a day we had traveled with two friends we had made on the Lafayette, and we had made the acquaintance of some most delightful Cambridge University people in Rouen. But for days we had been by our lone; and when we at last struck Paris and our hotel, the Palais Royal, and old friends in its management, to open one by one in the quiet of our room the package of letters awaiting us, it seemed almost like getting home. So ran down the curtain that night on the first stage of our Cathedral pilgrimage and the second of our longer tour.

William Day Crockett
Tours, France, September 9, 1922.

A Special
Parchment Paper
Club Size
60 Sheets Price $1.25
50 Envelopes
The Athletic Store
On Co-op Corner

Let the Nittany Lion Roar!
From Coast to Coast He'll Look For Gore;
He's Out to Boost Two Million, Mate,
And Garner Glory For Old State!

Penn State needs that $2,000,000 more than the Football Championship---But She WANTS 'em both!

If you want to HIKE the 3000 miles to California, you had better start NOW! Also---

NOW is the time to put in some good licks on the Campaign. Talk it up with the fellow who gives you a lift to New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and all points North, East, South and West.

Are You Short of Money

Read what Guy Harris says about making money selling Simpson Tailor made clothes.

"I worked my way through school selling Simpson suits and overcoats."
"Last spring I found myself in a position of being compelled to earn extra money to meet my expenses on leave school. Through the employment manager at school I learned of J. B. Simpson, Inc., and succeeded in making a connection with them. Although I had never in my life before sold a suit or an overcoat, I have earned an average of $122.00 per week by using my spare time to take orders for Simpson suits and overcoats."

"I did not depend only on the college students, but each afternoon I went out and called on from ten to thirty men. As Simpson values are exceptionally good and I could save the men from $10.00 to $20.00 on every suit or overcoat I nearly always succeeded in getting from one to five orders a day. The opportunity to do this work was a God-send to me and I can think of no better way to meet expenses than by getting the agency for Simpson clothes. The firm is 100% on the level—a big, reliable, honest institution and I cannot speak too highly of them. This season I will do even better as I have several hundred satisfied customers whom I can resell."

GUY C. HARRIS

If you are looking for a means of making money you can find no better or more profitable way than by making application for the Simpson Agency at your college. All our suits and overcoats are made from virgin wool fabrics, tailored to order and sold for the flat price of $25.50. In fit, style and quality, they are equal or superior to the average garments retailed at $50.00. We are one of the largest tailoring organizations in the United States and stand back of every garment with an honest guarantee of absolute satisfaction. If you are working your way through school write us. Please address your letter Attention of Salesmanager.

J. B. SIMPSON, INC., Dept. 324
831-843 W. Adams St., Chicago