There will be a meeting of both student and campus fire companies on February seventh in room 121 Old Main at seven o'clock.
There will be a meeting of the Luzerne County Club in room 211, Old Main on Wednesday evening at six-thirty o'clock.

NITTANY MATMEN WILL MEET VIRGINIA THURSDAY

for his man to make the first move, but as soon as he is touched, he becomes strongly aggressive.
The 145-pound position lies between Captain Evans and Boone. Evans is at present laid up with an injured knee and if he is not in condition to wrestle Thursday night, Boone will take his place.
Parthmore and Park in the 155 pound division put up the strongest competition of the trials, their bout lasting for fifteen minutes with no decision awarded. Parthmore had a slight advantage over Park but lacked aggressiveness and did not seem to make a strong enough effort to push his opponent to the mat.
The 175 pound class represents another division with no candidate yet picked to enter the mat against Virginia. Everett, Ellwood, and Burdan have all put forth a strong effort to clinch the position, but the coach has not yet decided on the final representative. Ellwood seems to have the most fight of the three and is quicker and faster on his feet than the remaining candidates.
Emory will represent Penn State in the unlimited division, showing up well against his opponents, Worth and Kurtz. His shoulder which for a while kept him from the mat is now in good condition and should not hinder him in the first meet.

Virginia's Strength Unknown
The University of Virginia grapplers who will wrestle with the Blue and White warriors Thursday night are a new addition to the Nittany wrestling schedule, which leaves their real strength in the dark. Three veterans however will be able to put up formidable resistance to the Penn State representatives. They are Captain Graves a veteran of three seasons in the 145 pound class, Manning, captain of last year in the 125 pound class and Mullings, the 155 pound grappler.

The remainder of the squad has been chosen from long and stiff try-outs. Spry, the 115 pound contender, has obtained his position by the elimination of three other men. The 125 pound division will probably be represented by Henger, who wrestled with his opponent for two ten-minute matches at different times, with two extra periods necessary before a decision could be reached for this class. The 175 pound class and the heavyweight will be filled by Holland and Weaver respectively.
Following the meet here Thursday night, the Virginians will leave for Philadelphia to go to the mat with the University of Pennsylvania grapplers, Saturday.

NORTHWESTERN U. STUDENT GIVEN UNUSUAL PUBLICITY

Entering the Northwestern University at the age of thirteen caused Wilmore Kendall, Jr., son of a blind pastor of Oklahoma, so much publicity that the Chicago "Herald and Examiner" has offered him the opportunity of writing up features for its columns in his spare time.

DR. THOMAS TO MEET WITH FORESTRY HEADS

care of the State forests, but the preparation of wardens alone should not be the aim of a forest school. Pennsylvania, under a system of educating foresters at Mont Alto, would soon find herself in the position of producing men capable only of handling the lower positions in the State Forest Service while she would be drawing her administrators and higher salaried men from better class forest schools in other states such as Yale, Michigan, Cornell, etc. On the other hand, if the forestry work were centralized at Penn State, men capable of handling both high and low positions could be developed through courses of different lengths.

It was told yesterday by the office of personnel of the Forest Service that of all students from the various forest schools of the country, Penn State forest students have for years maintained and still do maintain the highest average number of eligibles on the Civil Service list for technical position of Forest Assistant. This position is awarded graduates of forest schools upon entering the Federal service. It is a significant condition and speaks well for the work Professor Ferguson has done and is doing.

"Governor Pinehot is correct in that Pennsylvania State College might easily establish national leadership in the line of woodlot forestry. Surely the same could not be said of Mont Alto, nor can it be said that Mont Alto might establish leadership in professional forestry or even leadership in its own State service, should the contemplated change be made. It is very evident that it does not have the facilities for training leaders in the profession of forestry that the Pennsylvania State College might have should it become a state university."

PENN STATE TOSSERS PLAY PENN TOMORROW

man, and Wilson go with the team as substitutes.
The week-end games with Pitt and Carnegie Tech resulted favorably for the Blue and White. Herman's tossers defeating the Panther quints by a 38 to 31 score and tripping the Skibo five by a score of 38 to 29. Both battles were hard-fought throughout and in both of them "Johnny" Reed, diminutive Nittany forward, was the star performer.

Reed Makes Record
Not only did this fleet-footed son of Penn State score as many field goals as all of his teammates put together, but he established a record for foul shooting which ambitious free tossers in collegiate ranks may find it hard to equal. In the Pitt game Reed scored twenty out of a possible twenty-four foul throws and made thirteen tosses count in the Carnegie Tech tussle. In addition to this he caged five field goals in the clash with the Panther and six more on the following night in the battle with Tech for a total of fifty-two points in the two games.

"Sam" Shair also played a sterling game at center for the Nittany five, out-jumping and out-playing his men in both contests. His floor work was better than at any time this season and his shooting and passing were beyond reproach. Loeffler was a little off color on the western trip, due perhaps to the fact that he was not in good condition as the result of a cold contracted in the game with Lebanon Valley. Captain Koehler played his usual steady, consistent game, his generalship and handling of the team being largely responsible for victory in both contests. Gerhardt did not hit his stride in the Pitt game but came back strong in the Tech tangle and scored three field goals from difficult angles in addition to playing a flashy floor game.

Rivalry Keen

Jordan and Captain Byers starred for Pitt, the former making six field goals, all of which were garnered from exceptionally long shots. Anderson and Gibson played a stellar game for Carnegie Tech. A big crowd was in attendance at both games and rivalry

Somewhere Lives a Man I Am Looking For and He Is Looking For Me

I want a man who worked his way through college by selling books, aluminum ware, brushes, bonds, maps, views or other specialties; a clean-cut, congenial fellow who has been trained in the science and art of selling merchandise direct to the consumer; has had experience in hiring and training college men to sell specialties, has made and saved money; a man who has ambition backed up by a burning desire and a willingness to pay the price of success; where the reward is only limited by the limitations of the man himself. If you are the man, write me a personal letter, giving me full particulars of your past experience and tell me why you think you are the right man.—J. H. Northridge, 717, Globe Ave., Freeport, Ill.

"I have never been more encouraged over the prospects of Penn State than I am today," he said. "This campaign work thus far has resulted in the showing of a large amount of good will and confidence in the college by its many friends, and we find great ease in making well informed friends."

There is no exact precedent for a general campaign such as this in a state institution. Many of them have campaigned for stadiums or gymnasiums, but none have attempted the broader scale that we have here. Our by-products in this campaign may prove to be larger than our main product, for we are gaining more and more friends every day. The education of the public to what we have at Penn State is perhaps one of the most important results."

STUDENTS IN EUROPE EAGER FOR MAGAZINES

Students and professors in Europe are eager to secure both popular and technical magazines, especially the latter, since there is a great shortage of this class of reading material in that country, according to F. I. Olmstead, Penn State "Y" Secretary.
While in Europe during the past summer, William M. Sharp '21 became acquainted with this condition and agreed to forward any unused magazines that came to his hands. For this reason fraternities and others are asked to send any discarded magazines they may have to the "Y" but where they will be forwarded to Europe.

ILLINOIS GRADUATE WRITES BOOK ON CAMPUS LIFE
A graduate of the University of Illinois has written a book describing the campus life of a university. Characters of the faculty and student body as he champion "fusser," the "dumbbell," the "college vamp," the "grind," the "journalist," the fraternities, the sororities, and even the parents. The scenes are laid in the classrooms, on the campus, at the fraternity dances, and the coming houses.
