BIBLE STUDY MEETINGS TO BEGIN NEXT MONDAY

Series of Five Discussion Course
Prepared by "Y" to Follow
Up Rugh Meetings

Five of the series of follow-up meetings for further discussion of the problems brought up in the meetings held over the past week-end by Arthur Rugh will open next Monday evening and continue weekly until the Easter vacation. While most of these courses have educational subjects, they are strictly devotional in nature. The Y. M. C. A. has been active in formulating these courses since the Arthur Rugh series were held, and under the leadership of Stewart Wiant '21 have developed into their present wide scope of subjects. The meetings will be led by faculty members and leaders in State College church work and include subjects that will be of interest to every Penn State man and woman who cares for Bible discussion work.

The first of the series is being led by Dr. F. L. Pattee and is on the subject of "The Four Gospels". Dr. Pattee plans to give a more comprehensive discussion of the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John than is ordinarily secured in a similar course, and will take up the author of each book, its purpose, and the various points of view of the life of Christ which each of these four apostles endeavored to bring out. This course will be started Monday evening in room twelve of the Liberal Arts Building.

In room fifteen, Dr. S. W. Fletcher will conduct a course for students who are interested in problems of faith such as were brought out in the Rugh meetings. By far, the greater number of the questions asked Mr. Rugh were questions of faith and for that reason the "Y" has secured Dr. Fletcher to lead a discussion for the purpose of solving such questions as came up over the week-end and may arise during the coming weeks.

Donald Carruthers, the Student Pastor of the State College Presbyterian Church, will lead a mission study class on China in room thirteen of the Liberal Arts Building, that promises to contain a large amount of interesting information. Mr. Carruthers has been in China for a number of years and his working knowledge of conditions in that great country of the east will make his course one of the most attractive of the series. Professor W. F. Gibbons will conduct a similar course on India in room fourteen.

The fifth course of the Bible study series will be on the subject of Christianity and Economic Problems. The Y. M. C. A. has not yet announced who the leader of this course will be, but it is probable that the leader and time and place of meeting will be posted on the Liberal Arts bulletin board within the next few days.

All of these meetings will begin promptly at seven-fifteen each Monday evening and will last for one hour. Any student is invited to select a course and enroll at the first meeting or sign up at the "Y" Hut during the week-end.

SUMMER SESSION BULLETIN READY NEXT WEEK

National Measurements. The summer session starts this year on June twenty-fifth, and continues until August eighteenth. Besides the usual courses the session will be interspersed with short two week intensive courses on various subjects, including the two named above.

The two weeks' course in Nature Study will be under the direction of Mrs. Anna Botsford Comstock, of Cornell, Editor of the "Nature Study Review". The course will take up the consideration of the many lines of nature study in an interesting manner.

The course in Educational Measurements will present the methods and the theory of the testing of intelligence, capability, and allied work. It will be under the direction of Dr. Monroe, Professor of Education and Director of the Bureau of Educational Research at the University of Illinois, and the author of several books on the subject of education.

STATE GRANGE PLANS LOCAL CHAPTER HOUSE

At the Grange meeting held on Tuesday night, it was announced that the Pennsylvania State Grange intends to build a home here for the Penn State chapter. This was very welcome news in so far as the men had to meet in one of the rooms of a college building. The building will be outfitted with a club room and lecture room.

Last Tuesday's meeting was characterized by enthusiasm throughout. A spirited debate was held on the question "Resolved: that Pinchot is justified in cutting the Appropriation of Penn State." The negative side won.

The Grange has decided to hold a subscription dance sometime in the near future. This dance will be open to all Agricultural and Home Economics students. Plans were discussed regarding a drive to be held among the students, for new members for the grange.

"THE STORY OF ASBESTOS" TO BE SHOWN FEBRUARY 14TH

methods of wrestling and should be able to put up a much stronger opposition in the next meet.

A. F. Kerckhoff, another heavyweight candidate has materially strengthened the frosh squad in that division. I. April, who wrestled last week was at a disadvantage against his opponent, since he weighed only about 175 pounds. Kerckhoff, who has been showing up well should prove as asset to the team since he weighs twenty pounds more than April.

Abbott, the 115-pound wrestler who was hurt in the meet last week is now again on the mats and is steadily regaining his position and will be ready for the next contest.

His long experience in affairs of the Near East and his native gift of thorough investigation and careful judgment place him in position to speak with authority on the involved problems of eastern Europe concerning which so many hasty and conflicting statements are made. His coming to Penn State furnishes an opportunity to obtain first hand information on a subject of great interest and of world importance. Doctor Barton's subject will be "The Peace Conference Which Culminated in Conflict."

RIFLEMEN SHOOT WITH COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

but the Penn State team is not worrying, since so far it has turned in perfect scores against Yale and Lafayette, and intend to keep up this good record. The ability of the Blue and White team can be estimated when the fact is known that Yale is one of the best teams in intercollegiate circles, and was unbeaten, for three consecutive years, until defeated by the Lion.

BASKETEERS TO MEET DICKINSON TONIGHT

a fast and hard-fought battle from start to finish.

Nittany Line-Up Unchanged

There is little doubt as to the Nittany line-up for tonight's encounter. The varsity first-string men have been going strong in all of the games played this season and their team work is steadily improving. Captain Koehler and Loeffler will be seen in their accustomed guard positions with Shafr at center and Reed and Gerhardt filling the forward berths. This combination is one of the best in collegiate ranks and is expected by many basketball fans to hang up a record this year.

Penn State's second floor team, composed of Fixter and Stuckeman, forwards, Marshall, center, and Wilson and Huber, guards, is also strong and capable of suppressing good opposition. Coach Hermann is anxious to give this five as much experience as possible and will probably rush it into the game at some period of play.

Dickinson Strong

There is not much basis for comparing the relative strengths of the Dickinson and Penn State quintets except by their encounters with Penn. Both teams defeated the Quakers by decisive scores although the Nittany tossers seem to have had the easier time doing it. The visitors must not be underrated, however, as they have a veteran team composed of practically the same players who represented the Dickinson institution on the floor last season. In view of this fact and their fine record made in the games thus far, Coach Hermann regards tonight's engagement as one of the most difficult of the entire schedule.

PENN GAME

(By special correspondent)
The Lion tore loose with a vengeance on Wednesday night when the Penn State quintet invaded the city of the Quakers and tripped the Penn team by a score of 30-23. Starting the game with a rush that swept all opposition before it, the Blue and White tossers were not to be stopped until the final whistle blew and until they had decisively beaten their old time rivals. Gerhardt got the first and last basket of the first half and the other four ably supported him throughout the period. Koehler started the action in the second half and finished the fray. No man was to be denied in that battle to the last. The fact that Shafr is not checked with a goal gives credit to the remarkable guarding and "feeding" game that he played.

First Half Furious

Speed was the middle name of the beginning and ending of the half. Shafr got the jump immediately and had little trouble in tipping the ball where he willed. Both teams started to guard closely and an airtight defense marked the playing of the first two minutes. Penn was the first to score, when a foul was called on Loeffler. With two points needed to tie the score, the Lion started to claw the four in earnest, and soon Reed was given two free shots at the basket. This netted two points for Penn State. With the score even, no break occurred in the playing for four minutes and then Gerhardt led his man by traveling down the side of the arena. It was first blood for the Nittany beast. It was two minutes later before the score was again increased. With the board showing 14-6 against the Red and Blue, Penn started a rally which won for them four points, two of which were secured on fouls.

With but three minutes to go, another foul was called on Loeffler and he was forced to leave the game, Harry Wilson substituting for him. Koehler started the new regime by dribbling down the basket from the jump off and ringing a two pointer without aid. Gerhardt added the last field goal of the half just ten seconds before time was called. Score, Penn State 18-

Penn 10.

Steadier Work Displayed

The beginning of the second half showed two determined quitters, settling down to a difficult task. Due to the excellent defense formed by Coach Hermann's men, the Philadelphians found it impossible to make very many short shots and they had to be content with long attempts, netting them little. On the other hand, the Nittany team found gaps nearly at will and used them to advantage. Before the period had progressed far, the score stood 29 to 17 in favor of the visitors.

This was not to stand, however, for two long Penn shots found the oval and this seemed to be the general signal to score. After a short rally, the ceased with the chalk telling the story of a Penn defeat.

The line-up follows:

Penn—23..... Penn State—30
Carmack..... R. F. Gerhardt
James..... L. F. Reed
Kneass..... C. Shafr

Vocglin..... L. G. Koehler
