VOL. XVIII. No 39 STATE COLLEGE PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1923 PRICE FIVE CENTS

ALUMNI ALARMED AT APPROPRIATION STATE PROPOSES

Will Mean a One-Third Reduction of Present Student Body, Says "Alumni News"

NEXT YEAR'S FRESHMAN CLASS MUST BE CUT

Far Reaching Effect of Small Budget Shown by Article in Alumni Magazine

Unless the appropriation bill for Penn State, which is now before the Legislature at Harrisburg, is increased considerably over the $1,360,000 amount recommended in the state budget for the coming biennium, it will be necessary to cut the size of the present student body thirty per cent next fall according to an article in the last issue of the "Alumni News", the official organ of the college alumni association.

Picturing the necessity of sending a third of the present students to their homes, a reduction in the teaching staff, and heavier loads on the remaining instructors and a possible disruption of organization, Penn State service and work, the alumni spokesman states that "a most deplorable situation would exist if the budget amount originally suggested cannot be changed".

"Alumni News" brings out more alarming possibilities in the event that the college does not receive more state aid for maintenance with the statement that approximately 1100 of the present student body or 3300 would have to be notified that they need not report for classes next September. In proportion, this would include one hundred girls. Freshman classes of a few hundred would have to be admitted in each of the next two years to keep the college going. It is a well known fact on the campus that upwards of two thousand high school applicants now apply for enrollment each fall, and fifty per cent have been turned away in the past few years.

PENN STATE YEARLINGS TRIP INDIANA TOSSERS

Nittany Cubs Gain Easy Victory By 55 to 16 Score—Haines Uses Three Freshmen Teams

Defeating the Indiana Normal tossers by a score of 55 to 16, Coach "Hinkley" Haines' yearling unit wound up the home season with a bang on the Armory floor last Saturday afternoon. But one more game remains on the freshman schedule, an engagement with the York Collegiate Institute passers at York next Saturday evening.

The Penn State cubs experienced little trouble in disposing of the Normal school cagers, leading to a safe majority of points throughout the entire game. Loose guarding, poor passing, and inaccurate shooting marked the playing of both teams in the first part of the initial half. It was full four minutes before either side registered a field goal. Hood's punting the first toss from the floor for the Nittany five.

Cubs Improve
With the score 16 to 3 in favor of "Hinkley's" yearlings, there was a general tightening up and a noticeable improvement in passing and floor work. Jarmolowitz, Dawson, and Serwick shot three field goals and a succession of Richman contributed another two-pointer soon after by jumping the ball through the ring from a toss-up under the basket. Hood's full shooting was a feature of the first half, the Nittany free tosser making seven of his chances' count for points.

At the beginning of the second half, the entire second team was substituted for the yearlings and near the close of the final period a number of third string players were given a chance to

NITTANY TOSSERS GET EVEN BREAK ON TRIP

Cornell Hands Hermann's Protoges First Reverse of Season—Orange Five Proves Easy for Penn State

Bowing to Cornell in a hotly contested battle by a score of 27 to 26 on last Thursday night, and overwhelming Syracuse on the next night by a 44 to 14 count, Coach "Dutch" Hermann's basketball tossers secured an even break as a result of their weekend invasion of New York state. The defeat at the hands of the Cornell cagers marked the first reverse of the season for the Nittany basketballers.

The tussle at Ithaca was staged before five hundred spectators who cheered and groaned intermittently as first one team and then the other fought ahead. The large floor in the spacious Cornell gymnasium proved a handicap to the Nittany tossers as their style of play, essentially a passing game, was not as effective as the dribbling system employed by the Ithacans.

TRACKMEN WIN AT WEEK END MEETS

Relay Team Cleans Up at N. Y. A. U. While Hile Smashes Record at Baltimore

C. H. MOORE '26 BREAKS TAPE AT JOHNS HOPKINS

The mile-and-a-half relay team sent to the New York A. U. games last Saturday returned to the Nittany valley with the coveted laurel. J. A. Moore '24, who ran the first quarter mile for Penn State made the distance in 53 seconds, being beaten by a few yards by Wisconsin '26, did the following quarter in 52 and 1-5 seconds, finishing even with his opponent. Carter received the baton from Wisconsin and ran the first half-mile for the Lion. He finished about ten yards behind Connelly, in 2 minutes flat. Alan Heffrich ran the last half mile, catching his man and passing him on the straightaway by about five yards, his time being 1 minute and 45 seconds.

Moore Wins at Baltimore

"Hop" Hile '23 and C. H. Moore '26 represented the Lion in the 100 yard hurdles at the Johns Hopkins Games in Baltimore. In the preliminary heat, Hile beat the world's record by beating the tape in 14 and 4-5 seconds. In the finals, Moore ran with a four yard handicap and won the race with a time credit of 11 and 4-5 seconds. Due to the fact that he ran under the handicap, he was not entitled to recognition for breaking the existing record. Hile finished second in the finals.

DR. TANGER WILL LECTURE TONIGHT

"A Budget System for Pennsylvania" Is Subject of Tuesday Evening Lecture

LECTURE SCHEDULED TO BEGIN AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

"A Budget System for Pennsylvania" will be the topic of this week's Tuesday evening lecture, when Dr. Jacob Tanager is well qualified to speak on such a subject of current interest and, as associate professor of political science, has been in close touch with his subject for several years.

Dr. Tanager is to point out the relation of a budget system to a responsible government at the beginning of his talk and then show how the budget system has developed in the United States and in Pennsylvania in particular. Several attempts have already been made by state legislatures to amend the constitution of Pennsylvania in such a way that an adequate budget system would be provided, but thus far their efforts have been in vain.

It remains for Governor Pinchot to endeavor to attain the same end this year without constitutional backing and is now submitting his budget to the legislature for approval and ratification. Dr. Tanager will show the reasons why Pennsylvania should have a budget system in his lecture this evening, because, as he points out, without a budget system it is practically impossible to keep a close account of the state's expenditures and expenses.

SONGSTERS TO HOLD DAILY REHEARSALS

Glee Club Sparing No Effort To Make Perfect Showing at Intercollegiate

PENN STATE WILL SING JUST BEFORE HARVARD

No effort has been spared by Richard W. Grant, Director of the Club, to make the production of the contest songs perfect in every detail. With thirty men representing the best vocal talent of the college, Mr. Grant is confident that the Club will uphold the standards of the college and make a good showing for Penn State.

In connection with the department of physical education the Penn State Club will also establish an inter-unit track meet. The popularity with which the inter-unit track meet was favored in former years has given rise to the working out of a schedule which will be conducted upon a similar basis.

LION MEETS DEFEAT AT HANDS OF PENN BOXERS

Nittany Team Is Crumpled By Absence of Clark and Tait—Contestants Evenly Matched

The University of Pennsylvania team defeated Penn State, 4-3 in the Armory last Saturday night in a hard-fought contest between evenly matched opponents.

As in the Navy battle, so in the Penn meet, the heavyweight contest was perhaps the outstanding fight of the evening. "Rags" Madeira was the winner of a bout in which hard, continuous, heavy-hitting boxing was a feature.

"Tommy" Covell returned to the Nittany valley this year with the intention of avenging his defeat at the hands of Madeira two years ago in this same Armory. From the opening of the first round, however, the Blue and White heavyweight took the aggressive, although with an earnestness that showed he was fully on the alert for any novelty that the Penn boxer might uncover. Covell, on the other hand, seemed to play a "cat-and-mouse" game, although he stepped in frequently with a hard swift blow that counted. This was the feature of the entire fight—and "Rags" again emerged the victor even though his crown was not so easily acquired this season as it was the last time the two met.
