MYERS BUS LINE TO AID CAMPAIGN FUND
of operation, turning over all the fares to the Campaign fund.
The general campaign total early in the week was officially placed at $1,097,624.44. Faculty teams of canvassers are at work this week in Fayette, Philadelphia, and Berks counties and it is expected that Indiana county will go over the top with its quota in a few days.
Yesterday a $1000 pledge was received from an alumnus who is located in the Belgian Congo, South Africa. People throughout the state who are talking correspondence courses in engineering and agriculture have received miniature plaques during the last month and a large number of pledges have been received from these off the campus "students" of Penn State. Several have come from patients at the Mont Alto sanitarium, pledges that indicate a great sacrifice.
A recent tabulation of alumni, former students, and two-year students, giving the participation by counties, shows very few counties with a record of fifty per cent or more, and the general average is 28.6 per cent. The alumni participation is increasing every day in a manner that indicates excellent cooperation by the time the campaign is over.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL GAMES START TUESDAY
With the close of the varsity basketball season but a few days away, the members of the four classes are now looking forward to the annual inter-class contests which will be held on March thirteenth, fifteenth, and twentieth.
Owing to limited time, class managers are requested to see "Chief" Myers at the Armory, at once, and arrange gym reservations in order that all teams may be able to secure as much practice as possible. Preference will be given to class teams during the noon hour. There is an abundance of good material in all the classes this year, and the competition promises to be keen.
The schedule will be as follows:
The Schedule

Seniors vs. freshmen; Juniors vs. sophomores.
Thursday, March 15
Seniors vs. sophomores; Juniors vs. freshmen.

ARCHITECTS GET CHANCE TO TRAVEL IN EUROPE
Opportunity Will Be Afforded To Study Development of Art in Foreign Countries

American students of architecture will be interested in the opportunity offered them by the Institute of International Education to study the development of architecture in Europe next summer under Professor Albert C. Phelps, Professor of Architecture in the College of Architecture, Cornell University. Professor Phelps will be a member of the faculty of the Art Students' Tour which has been organized for the summer of 1933 under the sponsorship of the Institute; other members will be Miss Edith R. Abbot of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City, as a lecturer on the history and appreciation of painting and sculpture, Mr. John C. Tidgen of Rice Institute, Texas, as instructor in painting and lecturer on the fine arts from the standpoint of the creative artist, and others whose names will be announced later.
The group will sail from New York on June 30th, 1933, on the Cunarder "Saxonia". Professor Phelps will lecture during each day of the transatlantic voyage, as a means of sketching in the broader outlines of the development of architecture and of preparing for the more specific lectures during the land portion of the trip. His lectures on shipboard will be illustrated by stereopticon slides from the collection of the Cornell College of Architecture.
After landing at Cherbourg, the group will visit Paris, Versailles, Rome, Perugia, Assisi, Florence, Venice, Milan, Ghent and Bruges, Brussels and Antwerp, the Dutch cities of Amsterdam, Haarlem, and the Hague, and finally England. The return voyage will be by the "Saxonia", due to arrive in New York, September fourth.
The Institute of International Education, under whose auspices the Art Students' Tour has been organized, has for many years been carrying on an important work characterized by such activities as exchange scholarships, exchange professorships, etc. During the last two years it has been extended to include also European travel for college students, organized so as to permit students to travel more inexpensively, more conveniently, and with greater educational return, than they could otherwise.
Complete information may be secured from the Institute of International Education or from Irwin Smith, 30 East 42nd Street, New York City.

FRINGEMEN IN GOOD SHAPE FOR V. M. I.

entering the ring against an outside opponent. Coach Houck is in a quandary as to which of the three contenders to choose, and will probably wait until tonight before naming the man.
Weiss, a brother of the 160-pound Blue and White boxer is a promising prospect for the lightweight berth, and is hindered only by his inattention in training, and his consequent lack of form. O'Donnell continues to improve steadily in form and condition, and is a strong factor in keeping up keen competition in the 135-pound class.
It is probable that Zerbe will box the Virginian in the welterweight division tomorrow. Coach Houck is well pleased with his showing at the Army, in spite of the fact that he lost the decision. Elsier has again returned to the Armory for fluke workouts, and looks good, for either the welterweight, or the 135-pound sector.
In spite of the fact that Weiss, like Young, seems unable to exhibit the control in the ring that he does in practice, the probabilities are that Leo Houck will enter him in the 160-pound class. Pierce, another late arrival at the Armory workouts, is also working hard to win the middleweight title. "Hap" Frank will represent the Lion in the light-heavyweight class, while "Rags" will enter in the unlimited weight. Fritz is still improving in this class, and Houck is pleased with the showing made by Graff '26, a likely prospect for the interclass scrap.

THEATRIAN DIRECTOR LEAVES PENN STATE

Regardless of the fact that they are without a director the Penn State Theatrians continue to rehearse "His Little Widows" with full expectations of producing the show to Penn State students on April fourteenth.
Albert Lang, who was so successful with last year's production, was forced to return to New York City. A severe cold, growing to such proportions that it resulted in a general break-down, was the cause of his action.

BOTANY DEPARTMENT HAS NOVEL FLORAL CALENDAR

For the past ten years there has been kept in the Botany Department of Penn State a floral calendar, in which are noted the reports of the blooming of spring flowers and trees, especially those of native origin.
The main reports are received from students in the various Botany classes, from students specializing in botany, and from the teaching staff. Anyone finding flowers in bloom at an early season is requested to report them to the Botany Department. Professor F. D. Kern, head of the Department, is anxious to have the first reports so as to compare them with the time of first bloom of previous years. This calendar has never failed to prove interesting and serves to satisfy many inquiries as to the bloom of different flowers.

COLORADO CO-EDS SAY LONG DRESSES PREVENT SPEED

University of Colorado co-eds maintain that the long apparel interferes with the wild dash to eight o'clock classes. So strong are they against the ankle length dress, that a general movement has been started to go against the dictates of fashion. Even the men are in favor of the new stand taken by the girls.
