

LION FINISHES 1923 WRESTLING SEASON

Four Out of Seven Matches Is Record of Penn State's Contests With Strong Eastern Teams

Winning four of seven dual intercollegiate wrestling meets and placing second in the Intercollegiate Championship struggle at Cornell for the second consecutive year constitutes the record of the Penn State mat squad for the 1923 season which closed on March thirtieth at Iowa State College.

In comparison with former years the last one is not as brilliant in the number of victories and in Intercollegiate ratings, but when the fact is considered that the Blue and White grapplers opposed some of the most formidable aggregations in the East and middle West and started the season with practically an entire inexperienced team, the showing made by the squad can be looked upon favorably in every respect, including the contest for the wrestling crown, the Nittany representatives put forth a splendid exhibition and the work of this year with only one veteran, makes the outlook for next season appear very favorable.

Virginia First Victim

The Nittany Lion opened the season by a decisive defeat handed to the University of Virginia grapplers, who took the small end of the score of 33 to 0. A total of six falls and one decision were made by Coach Detar's proteges without the services of Captain Evans in the 145 pound class.

The first scoring was done by R. S. Lehman '25 in the 115 pound class who threw his opponent in two minutes and twelve seconds. H. C. Hunter '24 secured the second fall in the 125 pound class by throwing Manning in three minutes and fifty seconds. K. Naito '24, the Japanese grappler, made his first appearance on the Nittany mats in this meet and threw Hanger, his opponent, in four minutes and fifty-nine seconds. Captain Evans' berth in the 145 pound class was filled by J. L. Bohn '24 who threw Graves in six minutes and twenty seconds. J. A. Parthomere '24 in the 155 pound class pinned Mullin's shoulders to the mat in two minutes and thirty seconds.

The only decision of the meet was gotten by T. E. Ellwood '24 in the 175 pound class. Ellwood was the more aggressive but was unable to take his opponent to the mat until eight minutes had elapsed. He then maintained an advantage of one minute and thirty-two seconds. F. N. Emory in the heavyweight division threw Weaver of Virginia in three minutes and thirty seconds.

Penn. Trounced

Following the first victory over Virginia, the Nittany matmen succeeded in shutting out the Penn visitors by a score of 25 to 0, taking four falls and two decisions. H. C. Hunter, Captain Evans, E. T. Ellwood and F. N. Emory each scored five points while L. A. Cary '25 and Naito were awarded decisions on time advantages. The 155 pound class was called a draw, J. A. Parthomere being unable to maintain an advantage over his opponent.

In action for the first time this season, Captain Evans wrestled nearly his entire bout with a dislocated knee cap but managed to throw his opponent in eight minutes and twenty seconds. Throwing Lutz of Penn, Ellwood secured the quickest fall of the meet, putting Lutz down in one minute and fifty-five seconds.

Lion Downs Before Middle

Fighting the hardest of any meet in the season, the Blue and White wrestlers lost to the Navy cadets by a score of 11 to 16. One fall and two decisions were awarded to the Nittany team while the Navy representatives were accredited with two falls and two decisions. Cary and Richards were given decisions while Ellwood was awarded five points for a fall. H. E. Park '23 wrestling in the 155 pound class was knocked unconscious by being thrown bodily to the mat by his opponent and was carried off in that condition. Navy was given five points for that bout.

Lehigh Defeated

Recovering from the reversals met at the hands of the Naval cadets the Penn State wrestling team came out on top of the encounter with the Brown and White by defeating them in a hard contest, 14 to 8. Lehigh this season had one of the strongest teams in the East and the Nittany victory over the visitors showed the real strength of the Blue and White team. Each contestant scored a solitary fall, Lehigh being awarded one on a decision while Penn State was credited with three decisions by the referee. Cary, Naito, and Emory secured the decisions while Captain Evans was the only member of the team to secure a fall. Ellwood's bout resulted in a draw, Richards losing on a decision after a whirlwind start and J. A. Davidson '24 who wrestled in the 158 pound class for the first time, being thrown.

Cornell Victorious

In one of the most exciting and hardest fought mat battles of the season, the Cornell wrestlers defeated Penn State by a score of 12 to 6, the Red and White team taking four decisions and the Nittany squad but two. Due to illness, Ellwood was forced to stay out of the meet with the result that Parthomere was moved up one berth to fill the 175 pound class. Parthomere lost this bout on a decision. Captain Evans then wrestled both the 145 pound class and the 158 pound class, securing a decision in the first bout but losing after a hard struggle in the 158 pound division.

Hanson of Cornell also wrestled two bouts in this meet, securing a decision on Parthomere in the 175 pound class and a second on Emory in the heavyweight division, because of a default by Emory who was knocked unconscious by falling to the mat. The 115 pound class resulted in a draw with Lehman representing Penn State, Richards in the 125 pound class lost on a decision to Roberts of Cornell and Naito was awarded a time decision over Ayco.

The Penn State Wrestling Team Staged a remarkable comeback after its reverse at Ithaca, decisively defeating the Syracuse outfit by a 24 to 0 score. Three falls and an equal number of decisions were accumulated by the Nittany grapplers whereas the best their opponents could do was to secure a draw in the 175 pound class. Naito secured the quickest fall of the meet by throwing the 'Orange' grappler in eight minutes and twenty-nine seconds. Emory and Cary scored the other two falls while Captain Evans, Richards, and Parthomere gained decisions over their men. Syracuse made its nearest approach to scoring in the 175 pound class when Ansley of the Orange team wrestled Burdan to a draw. The men were unusually evenly matched and neither could secure a decisive hold.

Retain Second Place At Intercollegiate

By the slim margin of one point the Penn State wrestlers failed to regain the Eastern Intercollegiate mat championship in the annual struggle for that honor at Ithaca when Cornell retained the title won last year by scoring a total of seventeen points, the Nittany squad being placed again in the second position with sixteen tallies. Every bout of the Blue and White grapplers was hard fought, the team fighting desperately until the finish to clinch the championship crown which all through the meet was within the reach of the Nittany squad.

Penn State was represented by three men in the final bouts, Lehman in the 115 pound class, Captain Evans in the 145 pound class and H. E. Park in the 175 pound class. Of these three, Evans was the only Nittany grappler to take a first place. Every member of the team except Park placed

DAIRY STUDENTS HEAR NOTED CATTLE BREEDER

E. M. Bailey of Reick-McJunkin Company Will Address Club Next Tuesday

The annual spring lecture schedule of the Dairy Husbandry Club of Penn State received a gratifying impetus last Tuesday evening when M. T. Phillips and R. H. Gilbert gave the initial talks of the season before one of the largest groups that ever attended a meeting of the organization. Mr. Phillips is acknowledged as the greatest breeder of Guernsey dairy cattle in the United States, and Mr. Gilbert is vice-president of the Central Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association.

The subject of Mr. Phillips' talk was the Dairy Industry To-Day. In the beginning the Pomeroy breeder spoke of the "slap in the face" that agriculture has received since the war, and he deplored the aspect of abandoned farms in some of the richest farming regions in the country, and the noticeable falling off of enrollment in the agricultural schools of the nation, although he pointed out that among others, Penn State has been fortunate in keeping the population of her school of agriculture near normal.

In order to remedy existing agricultural grievances, farmers must learn to apply business methods to their industry, and must turn more attention to the study of economics, declared Phillips. Cows are the dairyman's machines, he said, adding that it is far harder to duplicate the cow than it is to duplicate a factory machine, and the task of duplicating his best machines is the task to which the breeder must devote his energies.

The remainder of Mr. Phillips' discussion concerned breeding and selling of dairy cattle, and included a plea for a higher plane of production. As usual in his meetings with dairy students the cattleman left them with many things to think about, and delivered an address that was not only highly entertaining, but also inspiring and full of encouragement.

R. H. Gilbert, of Tyrone, vice-president of the Central Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association, also spoke. Mr. Gilbert is a graduate of Syracuse University, and is experienced both in law and agriculture, and was able to present many points of value to prospective dairymen, and to speak from the standpoint of the college graduate who is about to enter the School of Experience.

E. M. Bailey of the Reick-McJunkin Company, Pittsburgh will address the Dairy Husbandry Club next Tuesday, probably along lines of dairy manufacturing. He, like the other speakers, will come to Penn State entirely at his own expense.

Y. M. C. A. DEPUTATION VISITS BRADFORD CO.

Much Work Accomplished in All of the Territory Covered by the Student Members

The Deputation Team of the Penn State Y. M. C. A., which spent the Easter vacation in Bradford county, met with a hearty welcome in all of the territory covered and accomplished much work. The deputation visited Monroeton, Camptown, and New Albany, spending two days in each town, with the purpose of arousing community spirit and of bringing out new ideas in regard to the social and religious life of the community in relation to the college.

The first day in each town was spent in getting acquainted. The team visited the high schools, organizing recreation work and teaching the students new games, and in the evening held community meetings featured by talks on local responsibilities and religious subjects and by musical numbers by the members of the team. During the second day, the team continued the work among the school students and in the evening held a meeting along lines strictly religious. This service was followed by an informal discussion among the men and boys of everyday problems of rural life. Entering into the life of the community, the deputation was everywhere warmly entertained in the homes of the people. The team was composed of L. R. Male '23, the leader of the group, N. S. Elshman '24, F. W. Walp '23, in charge of playground activities, R. A. Miller '23, soloist, J. W. Aiken '24, and R. E. Good '24, violinist.

The series of trips, of which this is the longest, will culminate in the Second Annual Older Boys' Conference, to be held in State College April twentieth, twenty-first, and twenty-second, which will be attended by delegates from the various towns visited.

AGRONOMISTS EXPERIMENT ON CROPS FOR ACID SOILS

This spring the Agronomy Department will conduct a comparative test on forage crops that are grown in this section at present. They are trying to find a leguminous plant that will grow and thrive in an acid soil, where clover will not grow. Jerusalem White, Artichoke, Kutz, and Beggar Weed will be tried. These three legumes are grown in other sections of the country, especially in the South.

DR. WOODRUFF EXPLAINS INTRICACIES OF WIRELESS

In the final number of the Liberal Arts Lecture Course, Dr. E. C. Woodruff of the Electrical Engineering Department gave a very interesting and enlightening lecture on radio last Tuesday evening. Dr. Woodruff taking the attitude that the subject was unfamiliar to the greater part of the audience explained the theory and functioning of the most simple and also complex radio apparatus. During the lecture various experiments were performed to demonstrate how messages are sent and received, and by tuning in, the first message that has been sent from the new station here at the college was heard.

Dr. Woodruff first explained how the different wave lengths vary according to light and sound, and demonstrated how advantage is taken of this fact in the use of the radio instrument. The principle that the radio instrument is built on is that by adjusting the instrument, waves of certain lengths and oscillations can be transmitted, and a sound produced. If the instrument is tuned properly, waves of the length wanted, and only these will be picked up by the instrument. This is the reason why only one message, and not all the ones that are flying about, is heard.

BOSTON UNIV. DEBATERS HOLD CONTEST BY RADIO

Boston University Debating Society held a radio debate, said to be the first of its kind. The remarks of the debaters were broadcasted from a department store radio station, while members of the society listened in at a receiving station at the university and noted on the teams. It was announced that efforts would be made to arrange radio debates with other colleges.
