

NUMEROUS CHANGES MADE IN FACULTY

Miss Margaret A. Knight Resigns After Serving Four Years As Dean of Women

ANNUAL READJUSTMENTS APPROACH COMPLETION

Readjustments in the faculty following the usual resignations and appointments incident to the opening of the sixty-ninth year of the Pennsylvania State College are about completed. President John M. Thomas recently announced twenty faculty resignations in addition to the group announced during the summer. They make up the usual faculty turnover experienced at this season of the year.

Included in the list is the name of Miss Margaret A. Knight, for the past four years dean of women, who goes to her home in Columbus, O. Another serious loss to the college is W. C. Felton, professor of vegetable gardening, who goes to the University of Delaware. T. B. Charles, assistant professor of poultry husbandry leaves to go into commercial poultry work in New York state. Two county agents have resigned, C. P. Fague, in Susquehanna county and H. H. Haverstick, in Venango county. Others who are leaving include:

R. H. Spahr, assistant professor of engineering extension, O. G. Schaeffer, dairy husbandry extension, Ruth Stanwood, girls' physical director, S. S. Decker, assistant in dairy husbandry, A. A. Farnum, instructor in civil engineering, G. H. Flannan, assistant professor of physics, F. R. Haug, instructor in chemical agriculture, D. L. Hammon, instructor in physics, W. K. Jones, assistant professor of Spanish, B. K. Paget, instructor in mechanical engineering, T. C. Pakenham, assistant professor of economics, John Pierson, assistant in dairy husbandry, Philip X. Rice, instructor in electrical engineering, E. D. Richter, instructor in economics, A. M. Rodgers, assistant professor of mining, and F. A. Saaker, assistant in chemistry.

About forty new faculty and extension appointments, including four assistant county agents, have been made. Prominent among the new appointees is Miss Madge T. Dornitt, formerly of Syracuse University, who comes as head of the home economics extension work, succeeding Miss Paul McDonald. The new county agents are B. F. Coleman, assigned to Cumberland county, W. E. Hunt, Clark county, J. F. Keim, now in Lehigh county, and H. O. Wilcox, Huntingdon county.

The new appointments also include: A. K. Anderson, associate professor of chemical agriculture; M. H. Brightman, assistant professor of poultry husbandry; P. T. Brown, animal husbandry extension; M. A. Chaffee, instructor in engineering extension; P. B. Eaton, assistant professor of mechanical engineering; R. M. Gearhardt, instructor in architectural engineering; P. T. Kistler, assistant in poultry husbandry; I. R. Knapp, instructor in dairy husbandry; Joseph Ruzek, instructor in mechanical engineering; J. B. Romano, assistant in soil technology; A. H. Sennor, instructor in mechanical engineering; D. S. Abel, C. M. Palmer, E. G. Rex and R. P. Whitney, graduate assistants; John Savoline and W. M. Shore, student assistants.

Having purchased the entire interest in the State University Shoe Co., in the Geitzell building on Pugh street I will try to serve the student trade satisfactorily.

THESPIANS OFFER PRIZE FOR BEST ORIGINAL PLAY

Contest Is Open to All Penn State Students—Show To Make Road Trip

The Thespian Club, inaugurating its twenty-seventh year with the opening of college this week, is offering a prize of one hundred and fifty dollars to any student, or anyone connected with the college, who submits a play which will meet the approval of the organization. For over a quarter of a century, the Thespians have produced musical comedies which have come to rank favorably with the productions of other collegiate societies and it is in an effort to further improve the work of the club that the contest has been arranged.

In order to secure the best of the local talent, the organization is eager to examine as many scripts as possible before making the final award. Rules for the contest may be secured from J. Gordon Amend of the Department of English.

CHAMPION GOLFER TO BE DECIDED BY TOURNAMENT

With the college links in a better condition than they have been before, the fall golf season and the annual championship tournament give promise of being the most popular since the opening of the course two years ago.

The first round of the tournament will be played during the week of September twenty-fourth. There have already been a number of entries and qualifying matches will be played off the preceding week to pick the final thirty-two contestants for the beginning of the tournament. A fee of fifty cents will be charged and a suitable trophy will be presented to the winner. Work on the additional nine holes which are to convert the present links into an eighteen-hole course has progressed rapidly throughout the summer. Approximately twenty-five men were employed daily and although the greens have not yet been prepared, the fairways are finished and will be seeded within a week.
