YEARLING GRIDMEN CLASH WITH KISKI IN MORNING GAME

Penn State Freshmen Will Play Second Game of Season—To Be Held on Old Beaver

GOOD DEFENSIVE WORK IS SHOWN IN PRACTICE

Kiski Academy Team Has Strong Combination—Will Give Nittany Men Hard Fight

Meeting the strong Kiski team tomorrow morning at ten o'clock on Old Beaver Field, the Penn State freshmen will play their second football game of the season. Dissatisfied with practice during the week, coach Hermann has made several changes in the line-up in preparation for tomorrow's game and expects nothing but strong opposition from the strong aggregation from Saltsburg.

Since the showing made by the freshmen last Saturday against Carnegie Tech, "Dutch" has been greatly dissatisfied with the work of his men in practice. Several changes in the line-up of the first team have been the result and if no improvement is shown in to-day's practice, there will be further changes of a more radical nature in the backfield as well as on the line. Many of the men who have shown the greatest promise up to the present time have failed to come up to form.

Team work seems to be lacking and while some of the men show good defensive work, they are lacking in the offensive. The main fault with the backfield is that the players fail to make use of openings made by the line. Three men on the line are doing satisfactory work. Plain at left end, O'Day at center and McPhae at left end. Pugh and Munz have been moved to the second team. Wilson has been changed from left guard to right tackle and Glecki will take up the left guard position. Weston will start at right end. (Continued on last page)

TRIAL MEET TO BE HELD FOR CROSS COUNTRY MEN

Contest Will Serve As Guide for Selection of Teams—Much Material Available

The members of the varsity and freshman cross country squads will compete in a trial meet to be held tomorrow morning, starting at ten-thirty o'clock. The purpose of the meet is to give the coach, "Nate" Cartmell, a chance to see the relative ability of the men who are out for both the varsity and the freshman cross country teams.

The route for tomorrow's meet will include two laps around the track on New Beaver field, one lap around the golf course, and a final two laps around the track. Both of the squads have been confining their practice runs to the golf course so the route laid out for the trial meet is not an extremely difficult one.

The varsity squad contains much good material from which to build up a team. Prominent among the stronger contenders for the varsity combination are Captain Enck, Decker, Yeager, Wendler, Arm, and Chumder, the latter two having been members of last year's freshman team. Coach Cartmell hopes to whip a fast team into shape so as to make a creditable showing at the annual intercollegiate meet to be held in New York the week of Thanksgiving.

Much promising material is also available in the freshman squad to form a fairly good team. Stewart, Knitko, Harris and Hilt are all men who have had experience in running prior to coming to Penn State, and are showing up well in the daily work-outs. With coaching and continued practice a winning yearling team may be whipped into shape.

The freshman cross country team will accompany the varsity combination to New York and will also participate in the intercollegiate meet.

PENN STATE READY TO GREET ALUMNI

Big Program of Activities Arranged To Keep Five Thousand Visitors Busy Over Week-End

PRESIDENT THOMAS WELCOMES ALUMNI

I would like to add my welcome to that of Nittany and Old Main and all the old familiar scenes and long-tried friends. Welcome back to old Penn State on her gala day! The best part of the day will be to see your faces bright with enthusiasm and loyalty for Penn State.

You will see some changes and perhaps some improvements, but we do not believe you will see anything that is not true to the ideals and hopes of the Penn State of the past. Get around to see the men who were here in your time, for it will do them and you a world of good. Please also do not forget us who have come more recently, because we also wish to be your friends, and it will be good for you to keep in touch with the steady succession of men who are working to realize your greatest hopes for your Alma Mater.

JOHN M. THOMAS.

If the steady influx of Penn State Alumni continues as is expected from the replies received at the Association headquarters, tomorrow will see the biggest gathering of former Nittany students ever assembled at the institution.

Total receipts indicate that the attendance will be far greater than in former years. Almost five thousand have signified their intention of returning for the gala weekend.

Upon their arrival, all alumni are requested to report to the Armory to register and receive their room assignments. The Homecoming Committee with P. B. Breneman '94 as head chairman, are composed of a housing committee with F. M. Torrence '05, chairman; W. R. Mason '17, H. L. Stewart '21 and A. S. Snyder '20 and an entertainment committee consisting of H. R. Smith '05, chairman, Miss Mary Willard '21, Charles Goyer '10; P. D. Beyer '15, J. D. Davis '24 and E. Keller '25. These two committees have worked hard to make this the biggest Penn State Alumni Homecoming ever staged.

NAVY CHEERS MAY BE SENT BY RADIO

Midshipmen Will Attempt Novel Stunt—Penn State To Broadcast Game in Detail

WILL MARK REOPENING OF COLLEGE STATION

An unusual radio stunt will be attempted during the game with Navy on Saturday afternoon. In addition to the college radio station staging a broadcasting program of the game play by play, the cheers of the Midshipmen who are left at Annapolis may be transmitted by radio right to the playing field here to urge on their team and to compete with the Penn State cheering section.

Early in the week word reached the local radio officials from the Naval Academy that the attempt would be made to broadcast the Navy cheers which would be received on New Beaver Field with a powerful apparatus and distributed through special amplifiers for the team and the crowds to hear.

On Tuesday afternoon a special test was conducted between the radio stations of the two institutions which evidently proved satisfactory to the Navy officials. The following day President Thomas received a telegram from Admiral Wilson at Annapolis asking permission for the special stunt. There was no objection to be raised here, inasmuch as there would be no interference with the local broadcasting stunt.

With the local station in operation, however, extra good receiving apparatus will be needed at the field by the Navy to make the reception a success. This condition may dampen the success of the attempt, but it may be arranged to have the college station quiet until two-fifteen and between the halves of the game.

So far as known, no similar project has been attempted in the radio world in connection with a football game, and the outcome of the trial here will be watched with interest.

After working diligently since the first of September, the operating staff of the Penn State radio station, WPAB, will have the plant in better working condition than ever by Saturday. The football broadcast feature at that time will be the first program attempted since the station was closed down for the summer last Commencement Week. (Continued on next page)

SOUVENIRS MADE FROM OLD WILLOW FOR ALUMNI

Souvenirs of the "Old Willow" which are blown over in a storm just before school opened, will be placed on sale at the alumni headquarters in the Armory this afternoon and Saturday. Many of the Alumni have expressed a desire to obtain a piece of the tree as a remembrance of one of the oldest landmarks on the campus.

When the tree was destroyed, the branches and the trunk were saved and turned over to the shops of the Industrial Engineering department, where the souvenirs were made. About one hundred cuttings from the old tree were made for distribution among the alumni. Orders for the cuttings will be taken at the alumni headquarters.

The remembrances that have been made are in the form of ash trays, candle sticks, pipe racks and other similar articles. It is expected that the proceeds of the sale will be turned in to the Campaign Fund.

WEST VA. TICKETS CAN BE APPLIED FOR TODAY

Applications for tickets for the West Virginia game will be distributed at the Treasurer's Office today. These applications, properly filled out, must be returned to the Treasurer's Office on Monday, October twenty-second. Tickets will be given out on Tuesday, October twenty-third.

This is probably the only sale of tickets which will be held for this game, so it is necessary to get all applications in on Monday. A. A. coupons will not be exchanged for seat tickets at the out-of-town games, but seats can be purchased at the Treasurer's Office in a manner similar to that employed for the Navy game. The Athletic Office wishes to emphasize the fact that the identification cards must be retained by the student when the application blank is returned.

KINDT IS WINNER OF GOLF HONORS

Downs Stevenson Three and Two in Final Thirty-six Hole Match for College Championship

BOTH MEN PLAY GOOD GOLF IN CLOSE MATCH

J. W. Kindt clinched the college golf championship on Tuesday by defeating R. Stevenson '25 three and two to play on the college links. The morning round was marked by a good brand of golf, Kindt finishing the eighteen holes in seventy-eight, Stevenson taking two more strokes, giving "Benny" a lead of two up. The afternoon round lacked the consistent work that featured the play in the first eighteen holes.

For the first nine holes Captain Kindt played par golf, taking the first on a birdie three and the fifth on a birdie two. Stevenson played good golf and made the sixth on a birdie four. On the seventh "Steve" made it in par and "Benny" took one more due to erratic putting on the wet green. Stevenson sank the eighth hole on a twenty-five foot putt for a birdie three. They halved the ninth scoring thirty-three for Kindt and one more for Stevenson.

The eleventh hole was marked by bad putting and was halved when Kindt failed to take advantage of Stevenson's bad approach. Again at the fourteenth the putts of both men lacked force and each took four. "Benny" was forced to play a styria on a long putt at the fifteenth hole and Stevenson finished in par. Kindt taking one more Kindt's drive on the seventeenth took him ten feet from the pin and he lost an eagle two when his putt stopped on the edge of the cup. Both sank the hole for a birdie three. They halved the eighteenth hole, leaving the score two up in "Benny's" favor.

In the afternoon round Captain Kindt started off in the form and was leading "Steve" five up at the twenty-third hole when Stevenson staged a rally and brought the tally to one up at the twenty-seventh hole. Long successful putts were a sensational part of this round.

Both men teed off in fine form and halved the nineteenth hole. Stevenson drove off beautifully on the twenty-first hole while Kindt's second went over the green. Stevenson laid a styria which Kindt was successful in evading making the score five up. Both drives on the twenty-third hole landed on the green. Kindt laid a styria and Stevenson played around it to the edge of the cup making it in three, "Benny" taking one more. Brilliant golf was played on the twenty-sixth hole when both men sank ten foot putts each for a birdie three. Again on the twenty-ninth hole Kindt made a fifteen foot putt and won in five. On the next hole Stevenson made a twelve foot putt for a birdie three and brought Kindt's lead to one up. The last three holes were hotly contested and both sank the thirty-fourth in five.

PLAYERS TO PRESENT FIRST SHOWS TONIGHT

Program of Three One Act Plays To Be Given to University Club Members

In their first appearance of the season, the Penn State Players will present three plays tonight at the University Club as a part of the Alumni Day program. This entertainment will be a sing affair for the members and alumni of the club and not for the members and their partners as was announced previously.

Headling the program is a brilliant skit from the ever-witty pen of Booth Tarkington entitled "The Trysting Place". The scene is laid in a quiet nook of a fashionable hotel where four pairs of lovers plan to meet in comparative seclusion. Their plans go awry, however, and an amusing predicament arises which presents serious difficulties to the conspirators.

The second of the Players' production is "The Confession" by Farwell Wilder, an intense moment taken from a dramatic crisis in the life of the Baldwin. (Continued on last page)

BLUE KEY TO PLEDGE SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

Ceremonies Will Be Held Between Halves of Football Game—To Function At Armory

Student Council failed to act upon all fifteen men who were elected to the Blue Key Society last week and, as a result, only seven men will be pledged tomorrow afternoon between the halves of the Navy game. The pledging ceremonies have been arranged by a committee appointed by president E. L. Keller '25, and will consist of several features.

The members of the society will be attired in their official hats tomorrow and at the conclusion of the football game the Navy team will assemble in front of the Armory where the players will be presented with blue keys. The bearer of a blue key will be afforded the hospitality of the college and fraternities and clubs are asked to cooperate with the Blue Key Society in entertaining the visitors.

Parade Will Be Formed

Prior to the mass meeting tonight, the Blue Key will place on sale large packages on which is written "Welcome Navy." After the mass meeting the organization will assist the cheerleaders in forming a large body of the crowd, and will parade around the town in a monster celebration and song fest. The band will lead the procession.

The elder and pretzel feed in the Armory tomorrow night, which is being conducted by the Blue Key, will end the functioning of the society for the day. Extensive preparations have been made for this affair and at least two thousand Alumni are expected to attend. The program for the evening has been outlined by E. H. Keller and will consist of wrestling, boxing, music by Auchenbach's Serenades and a five minute vaudeville sketch by Myers and Schlosser. There will be no speeches.

FIFTEEN MEN INCLUDED IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

A round robin tournament was inaugurated among the college netmen Wednesday afternoon, October seventeenth for the purpose of selecting the men for the varsity squad.

The entries in the round robin tournament include fifteen men, two of whom played off their first sets last Wednesday afternoon, October 17. This tournament differs from the all-college tournament in that every player will play every other player. Each contestant in this tournament must play at least three sets. A set won counts one point and those having the largest number of points at the end of the tournament will make up the varsity squad.

The all college tournament which has a wealth of good tennis material will probably reach the semi-finals this afternoon, Friday, October seventeenth.

CROWD OF TWENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE WILL FILL STANDS ON NEW BEAVER FIELD

Coch Hugo Bezdek will pit an untried eleven against the veteran Navy team before the greatest football crowd in Penn State's history. The cheers of twenty thousand gridiron fans will echo across New Beaver Field when the two opposing teams line up tomorrow afternoon.

On the eve of one of the most important games of the season, there is no undue optimism in the Nittany grid camp. The past week has seen several radical changes in the Penn State team and the line-up will not be definitely known until the team appears tomorrow.

Last night a COLLEGIAN reporter braved the cordon of guards that surrounds the practice sessions on New Beaver Field and gained several interesting comments from "Bez" when asked for his opinion of the probable outcome of tomorrow's game, the Nittany coach said, "While there's life there's hope. Last season I made the statement that it would be two years before Penn State had a winning team and this is 1923". When asked if this meant that Penn State's chances were slim, "Bez" gave the terse reply, "Very slim". Before a big game the Nittany mentor has always refused to make any optimistic predictions and tomorrow's game is no exception.

Three changes in the line-up of the team that met Gettysburg, may be made for the Navy encounter. Bezdek has yet to make his selection for fullback, right halfback and left tackle. The rest of the team will be unchanged.

MANY EXHIBITS WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Every Shop and Laboratory in Engineering Buildings To Run Full Force

AGRICULTURAL SHOWS TO BE OPEN TO VISITORS

Numerous exhibits and shows will be featured among the activities of Alumni Day. The various Engineering units, including the Civil, Industrial, Electrical and Mechanical Departments will each furnish an exhibition while an Apple Show and a Poultry Show are to be held by the school of Agriculture.

The second annual exhibit of the Engineering Departments will be held from nine to twelve o'clock tomorrow morning and every shop and laboratory is to be running full force in order to show the alumni and other visitors the work that is carried on at the Engineers. Preparations are being made to handle a much larger number of visitors than was present at the exhibit a year ago and it is possible that many have been arranged in order to cut down crowding to a minimum. The main entrance to the series of exhibits will be at the Allen Street entrance of Engineering "A".

The small scale models of Civil Engineering construction work which are located in Engineering "A" promise to be one of the most interesting features of the Engineers' exhibit. An exhibit similar to these models was prepared last year and drew a large number of visitors. The exhibit of the Industrial Arts is to be held in units "B" and "C" of the Engineering Buildings. The shops will be in operation turning out the regular work of the students in these courses, but in addition, numbers of the students will be engaged in making souvenirs to be given away.

All of the wood shops will be fully manned, as will the forge shop and the (Continued on last page)

SCHOLARSHIP DAY WILL BE OBSERVED TUESDAY

Students and Societies Will Receive Awards for Highest Scholastic Records

Professors from the various departments of the college will don their caps and gowns next Tuesday morning when the annual Scholarship Day exercises will be held in the Auditorium. Classes will probably be excused at that time and a large crowd is expected for the exercises will be of interest to every student.

Besides the scholarships that will be given out, there will be announced at the same time the elections to the honor societies that are represented on Penn State's campus. These societies are Phi Kappa Phi fraternity, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau, Gamma Sigma, Delta, Eta Kappa Nu, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Alpha Xi Sigma and Kappa Delta Pi. The presidents of these honor fraternities will announce the election results.

Alpha Zeta fraternity, a national professional fraternity will add a new feature to scholarship day program when it presents a cup to the sophomore who has maintained the highest scholastic standing in his freshman year. It is expected that this award will be presented every year in the future, upon the same basis of competition.

The Pan-Hellenic and the Intra-Mural cups will be given to the national fraternity and the local fraternity, that have the highest scholarship marks for the semester ending last June. In addition a third cup will be presented to the girl's club that has obtained the highest scholastic mark of the six girls' clubs on the campus. It was voted at the last meeting of the Girls' Campus Club Council that this cup should be awarded at this time.

REV. C. A. BARBOUR TO OCCUPY CHAPEL PULPIT

The Reverend Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary, will address both chapel services on Sunday. Dr. Barbour, who is an alumnus of Brown University, is one of the most noted theologians in the country. He holds honorary degrees from the University of Rochester, Syracuse University, Williams College, as well as from his alma mater. His attainments as a scholar are universally recognized.

He was ordained to the Baptist ministry in 1891 after graduating from the seminary of which he is now the head. His success and popularity as a preacher, his clear thinking and forceful personality won him rapid promotion. From 1899 to 1915 he was Association Secretary of the International Committee of Y. M. C. A. Associations of North America. In 1915 Dr. Barbour was appointed president of Rochester Seminary. In addition to his executive duties he holds the professorship of Homiletics in that institution. He was president of the Northern Baptist Convention 1916 to 1917.

Dr. Barbour is one of the most popular college preachers that has visited Penn State in recent years. He is always in demand and has preached at the leading educational institutions. He is always greeted by large audiences, and was especially selected for the Sunday following Alumni Homecoming in view of the attendance anticipated on that day.
