

TEAMS CHANGED FOR TOMORROW'S CLASH

Nittany team. A telegram from the Naval Academy last night stated that Brown will replace Stoltz at left end and in the backfield, Shapley will start at quarterback instead of McKee and Devens will be used at right halfback instead of Fliggen.

Stoltz, the regular right end, broke his leg in practice this week and his absence from the line-up will be felt by the Navy eleven. Brown is a capable man, however, and will be well able to handle the position. He is of a tall rangy build and has been giving Stoltz a hard fight for the varsity berth.

Backfield Changed

The changes in the middy backfield come as a surprise for until last night it was general thought that Barchet, Fliggen and the two veterans, McKee and Cullen, would make up the Navy backfield. Both Devens and Shapley are of the heavy line-plunging type of back. Devens has also been starting with his defensive play.

Barchet will still remain one of the most formidable threats to Coach Bezel's men. The middy-fullback made a brilliant record last season and was generally regarded as one of the best fullbacks in the East. Weighing but a little more than one hundred and fifty pounds, Barchet has been a big ground gainer with his speed and shiftness in running. He will also hurl the forward passes for Polwell's team.

Cullen, the left halfback, will be remembered as one of the factors in Penn State's defeat last year at Washington. He is a veteran back and will do the punting for the Annapolis team.

Teams Alike in Weight

The changes in the line-up will bring the Navy backfield on a par with the Nittany backs as far as weight and between the two elevens there will hardly be more than a few pounds difference. The Penn State backs will average about one hundred and seventy pounds and the visitors will tip the scales at a few pounds less. The Navy line, on the other hand, will have a slight edge for it will average one hundred and eighty-six pounds as against the one hundred and eight-four pounds of the Blue and White line.

Captains Oppose Each Other

A feature of the line-up of the two teams is the fact that the two captains will face each other at guard. Carney, the Navy captain and left guard, is a giant lineman, weighing close to two hundred and fifteen pounds. Last year he played a fine defensive game against Penn State, breaking through and spoiling a number of plays.

Opposing him will be Penn State's captain, "Dutch" Bodenk. The Nittany leader will weigh thirty-five pounds less than his meaty opponent but his speed and strength should enable him to give the Navy captain the battle of his life.

Navy Center Strong

Boas Gray will have a busy afternoon handling Bob Mathews, the Navy center, who will be remembered as the heavyweight boxer of the middy team last winter. He played a fine defensive game against West Virginia Wesleyan last week, intercepting two forward passes and blocking a punt. There is but a few pounds difference in the weight of the two players.

Levensky will fill the right guard position on the middy team and Clyde and Walker, the two tackle positions. The tackles are both rugged men and should give the Nittany linemen a tough battle. Taylor, a new man this season, completes the line at left end.

ARCHITECTS CLUB TO STAGE NOVEL EXHIBIT

Class Rooms Will Be Converted into Museum To Show Collection of Treasures

In connection with Alumni Day program of the School of Engineering a novel exhibit will be staged by the Architects Club and will be of interest to the students and returning graduates.

The Architects Club has decided to change its class rooms into one large museum using the separate class rooms as individual galleries. One will be the "Hall of Mystery", giving the department an opportunity to exhibit great treasures which they have been collecting for year from every point of the globe. One of the other halls will contain portraits of famous artists and architects from ancient times, 4000 B. C., down through the ages. The last gallery will contain a great masterpiece of "Misguided Inspiration", work which may some day set the world afire. This exhibit carried is put with dash and thoroughness by the Architects and will be worth visiting.

In addition to the exhibition of color prints of Italian masters which will be held in the museum in Old Main, a group of pictures in water color and oil of two former faculty members of Penn State, H. Dickson and E. Waters will be shown. During the past year Mr. Dickson has attended Harvard and studied under Mower and Dodge MacKnight. The water colors of Mr. Dickson are full of color and interest and will appeal to the visitors. The works of Mr. Waters in oil are well known.

The museum will be open on Saturday morning and until two-thirty in the afternoon. On Sunday afternoon it will be open from two-thirty until five o'clock.

'Y' PLANS DEPUTATION WORK FOR PRESENT YEAR

Students Signify Desire To Aid in Work—Development of Sunday Schools Is Planned

At a meeting of the deputation committee of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet held in Old Chapel last Tuesday evening, plans for the year were outlined and different phases of the work were presented to a group of new men who had signified their desire to aid in the work.

Howard B. Steele '25, chairman of the committee, was in charge of the meeting. I. A. Parthemore '25 and J. R. Dunlap '26, explained the value of the deputation work. The Reverend H. P. Babcock, student pastor at the Methodist Church, upon whom the active work of the committee falls, spoke for a brief while on the personal reaction that comes from this phase of the Y. M. C. A. service.

As announced in a previous issue of the COLLEGIAN the deputation work this year will center around the development of the Sunday Schools of Centre county. J. E. Kradel '24 who is in charge of the local Sunday School work announced that three such schools had been already started in the vicinity of State College. A fourth is being organized.

J. R. Dunlap '26 is in full charge of the Sunday work at Rockview Penitentiary. In addition to the Bible class which meets every Sunday afternoon, special meetings will be held every two weeks. At these meetings prominent men about the campus, both undergraduates and faculty, will be the speakers. In addition one of the college musical organizations will present an entertainment.

D. L. Kegrels '25 is in charge of arranging trips into the various communities. Plans are already being made to visit Huntington the week-end of November third.

REGULATIONS FOR USE OF AUDITORIUM

Persons will not be allowed to stand or sit in the aisles of the galleries, except that one row of persons may stand along the outside walls.

Stamping with the feet during cheers or applause is forbidden. The above requirements are in accordance with law and are necessary for the sake of safety. All chairmen of meetings are required to see that the above regulations are enforced.

MONSTER MASS MEETING WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

Football Team and College Band Will Be Present—Prominent Alumni To Speak

A mass meeting will be held tonight at seven o'clock in the Auditorium to give the football team a rousing cheer before the game with Navy tomorrow. Appearing on the platform, besides "Prexy" Thomas and Coach Besdek, will be Judge H. W. Mitchell, President of the Board of Trustees of the college. Several prominent alumni will also be present. "Bob" Higgins '20, captain of the undefeated football team of 1919 and J. A. Leyden '14, author of "Victory" will tell about the "good old days." Other alumni are expected to be on hand and they will be called upon to give short addresses. Due to an out of town engagement, "Prexy" Sparks will be absent, but he will be present to see the Lion meet the Goat tomorrow afternoon.

The football team will be present and each member will be called upon to give a word or two. As no mass meeting is complete without this college band it will occupy its usual place on the platform.

Committees Appointed By Student Council To Probe Campus Problems

A number of varied questions were brought up and considered by Student Council at a meeting on Tuesday night. No important action was taken by the body but a number of committees were appointed to investigate questions of interest to the student body.

First and most important was the question of the use of the Armory for the Junior Prom next spring. C. H. Gough, president of the Junior Class, read a letter from R. L. Webber, Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, stating that only three hundred and fifty couples would be allowed on the floor at the next Junior Prom. This decision was made in accordance with fire-prevention measures adopted by the college authorities. During the progress of the debate that followed it was suggested that instead of the annual Junior class, Junior Week be observed with appropriate entertainments. Incorporated in this plan was a suggestion that house-party week be celebrated at this time. A committee consisting of C. H. Gough '25, M. E. Mitchell '24, C. A. Kiesinger '24 and J. H. Gould '25 was appointed to interview Mr. Webber in order to affect a modification in the ruling concerning the Armory.

The matter of a flag pole on New Beaver Field was brought up and a committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Webber concerning the project. The committee is as follows: W. D. Price '24, H. R. Fulton '24 and C. W. Borgardine '24.

A discussion was raised relative to permanent class records. Heretofore class records have been lost as soon as a class was graduated. The following committee was appointed to work with E. N. Sullivan, secretary of the Alumni Association, to devise a system of making these records permanent. W. F. Minihall '24, J. W. Kinat '24 and E. M. Bell '24.

The emergency building fund campaign next occupied the attention of the body. A committee consisting of D. V. Bauer '24, M. E. Mitchell '24, E. D. Helm '24, W. G. Wiant '25, W. S. Foreman '25, and J. Gray '25 was appointed to cooperate with Professor A. H. Espenshade in directing the work of the campaign among the freshmen. S. C. Enck '24, W. G. Wiant '25 and all the sophomore members of Student Council were appointed as a committee to investigate the matter of class scrapes.

MISS EMILY C. HARTZEL DIES AT CHALFONT, PA.

Students and friends of Miss Emily Coulter Hartzel '25 learned last week that their classmate and companion had died at her home in Chalfont, Pennsylvania, last Saturday morning, following an attack of heart trouble.

Throughout her two years at Penn State Miss Hartzel was actively engaged in girls' athletics, but was forced to discontinue any strenuous engagement in class contests during the basketball season of last year. Her condition grew worse as the summer neared completion, and she was unable to return to college in the fall.

Miss Hartzel was of an amiable disposition and was held in high regard by her associates.
