EXERCISES THIS MORNING TO MARK SCHOLARSHIP DAY

Dr. George F. Zook, of the U. S. Bureau of Education Will Be the Main Speaker

STUDENT WINNERS WILL RECEIVE HONOR MEDALS

Elaborate Function Is Arranged for Honor Council Members This Evening

In keeping with a custom inaugurated two years ago in an effort to increase the general scholastic average of Penn State, more than three thousand students will observe this semi-annual Scholarship Day exercises to be held in the Auditorium this morning at ten-thirty o'clock.

The main speaker on the program will be Dr. George F. Zook, former head of the Department of History and Economics at Penn State, and now connected with the United States Bureau of Education at Washington, D. C.

Besides the announcement of the persons to receive the various scholarships, the President Sparks Medal and the Honor Society Council Medal will be presented to the student winners.

In addition to the presentation of the Pan-Hellenic and Intra-Mural scholarship cups, the "Alpha Zeta" fraternity will present a cup to the sophomore enrolled in the Agricultural School who has maintained the highest scholastic average during his freshman year.

An elaborate affair has been arranged for tonight for members of the Honor Council and newly elected members to the honor societies, the place to be announced at the exercises this morning.

Similar to the first period of the game, there was no special feature to mark the playing in the third quarter.

McCabe Does Fine Work

With perfect running weather to urge them on and with the course in excellent condition, twenty-eight out of thirty-four entries finished in the first trial meet to be staged by the Penn State cross country men.

The course, which was approximately three and half miles long, included two laps around the cinder track on New Beaver field, one lap around the golf course and a final two laps around the hard track.

R. R. Fouracre '27 was the leading man at the end of the run with H. K. Johnson '27 following by twenty seconds and D. L. Arm '27 coming in third at about the same interval.

Starting with Gotschall '26, who came in fifth, the following men finished in the order named: Wendler '24, Barclay '26, H. Stewart '27, Joyce '27, Smith '27, Lyon '27, Burd '27, H. A. Kittle '27, Guyer '28, Fitzpatrick '24, Palmer '27, Ten '27, Resse '27, Willard '27, McCurdy '27, Bushing '27, McClarnen '26, Rankin '27, Coll '27, Nicol '26, Verner '26 and Howell '27.

The men, starting out at eleven o'clock, made a good get-away and kept a practically even field throughout the entire run.

Having obtained the comparative abilities of the men of both the freshman and sophomore classes, the comparative abilities of the men of both the freshman and sophomore classes.

"Y" WILL CONTINUE DRIVE FOR FUNDS

House to House Campaign Will Be Conducted in Effort To Get Required $2300

RECEIPTS TOTAL FORTY EIGHT HUNDRED DOLLARS

Although the Y. M. C. A. drive for funds with which to carry on their welfare work fell short of its goal of seventy-one hundred and eighty dollars, officials of the campaign plan to carry on the house to house canvass in order to reach the maximum total.

Under the supervision of H. G. Hoehler '24, who had as his assistants E. B. Halm '24, W. H. Fortna '24, C. E. Finley '24 and J. B. Park '24, the town was thoroughly canvassed, although many students were missed in the rush prior to Alumni Day.

Statistics which were compiled recently by "Y" officials reveal the fact that five movies saved the campus six thousand dollars last year and that jobs worth approximately eighteen thousand dollars were placed by the Y. M. C. A. Employment Bureau.

Much of the success of the drive is due to the different student officials, including M. E. Steele '24 and D. D. Henry '26, in charge of advertising and publicity, H. R. McCulloch '24, finance officer, and Wilbur Selpt '24, aide de camp to H. G. Hoehler.

THESPIANS DESIRE TO STAGE ORIGINAL PLAY

Twelve Scripts Are Being Prepared for Contest--To Contract for Road Engagements

At a recent meeting of the Thespian Club it was decided to make every possible effort to secure a local production for this year's presentation.

This year it is planned by the organization to give a local show in the Auditorium on the Friday evening preceding Easter week and again on the Monday night of commencement festivities.

The Club is still holding on to the idea of building up a preview show from the submitted manuscripts of the play contest should none of them prove satisfactory in itself.

Plays to be submitted for the contest must be in the hands of Hummel Publishers not later than November fifteenth, unless special arrangement has been made.

ALUMNI DAY CROWD BIGGEST IN HISTORY

Twenty Thousand People Motor to Penn State for Annual Homecoming Festivities

NOTED COMMERCIAL AND POLITICAL MEN ATTEND

Taking a sudden boost over night, the population of State College suddenly increased to twenty thousand on Saturday when alumni, other college students and visitors, stormed the town for the fourth annual homecoming of Penn State's graduates.

From all over the state and even from New York and New Jersey, the motor trails were crowded to capacity during the influx of visitors.

Band together to make it the greatest gathering of former students that ever returned to the portals of their Alma Mater; the representative districts of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia sent their alumni en masse to the annual homecoming.

Four members of the first Penn State football team were present at the annual convocation.

The director of the Pennsylvania State vocational education bureau, L. J. Daniels, of Harrisburg, and Judge H. W. Mitchell and J. P. Trimble, were also seen on the Penn State grounds during the week-end.

Doctor John I. Robinson, of Scranton, T. A. Gillsey, of New Castle, Arthur G. McKee, Cleveland, Richard W. Williamson, a lawyer of Huntington; J. E. Decker, of Detroit, Joseph McKinley, of the Duquesne Light Company of Pittsburgh, Clarence E. Kessler, of Harrisburg, superintendent of the motive power of the Pennsylvania Railroad, W. H. Teas, president of the Marion Extract Company, of Teas, Virginia, A. N. Diehl, superintendent of the Duquesne plant of the Carnegie Steel Company and John Beaver White, one time assistant to Hubert Hoover on U. S. food administration, of Philadelphia, were numbered among the prominent alumni and visitors who were at Penn State.

Armory Alumni Smoker

Bustling about the Armory to the strains of Auchenbach's Serenaders, the alumni and their friends made merry at the smoker that was conducted under the direction of the Alumni Association on Saturday night.

As in past years, the Penn State Band took a prominent part in the Alumni Day activities, appearing at the mass meeting on Friday night, and at the football game on Saturday afternoon.

Adding variety to its entertainment course, the Y. M. C. A. will bring Eugene Laurant, magician, to Penn State on November seventeenth as the second number of the course.

With Mr. Laurant will be Greta James Laurant, pianist, and Fred Larson, stage manager. Mrs. Laurant assists in the magic work and also gives some piano selections.

Laurant has been in the magician's profession for twenty years and in that time has achieved a reputation of being a magician of the first water.

Third and fourth hour classes will be suspended this morning so that all students can be present at the Scholarship Day exercises to be held in the Auditorium at ten-thirty o'clock.

PLAYERS TO INTERPRET VICTORIAN PERIOD PLAY

Good Results Are Obtained in Rehearsals--Play To Be Given November Twenty-Second

The Penn State Players are holding daily rehearsals on the interpretation of the lines in "Caste", the heavy melodrama by T. W. Robertson which was selected as the first major production of the year.

The various roles in the melodrama are played by an almost entire Player cast.

Preparation for the coming rifle shooting season, Lieutenant L. D. Gruber, coach of the Penn State rifle team, announced that the range will be opened during school hours beginning this week.

With only a few of last year's varsity men back, Lieutenant Gruber will have to build an almost entirely new college rifle team.

Penn State has been invited to join the Northeastern Intercollegiate Rifle League which is being formed this year.

Undaunted, Fowells' team began a grim battle in the third quarter to snatch the tender morsel of victory from the jaws of the Nittany Lion.

Then Wilson awoke once more to life and again the Middles fell before the Lion whose feet they could not un-

Because Student Council designed to reject eight of the men selected for membership in the Blue Key society and gave its sanction to the pledging of only seven men, a special meeting was called for the purpose of nominating nine additional students who will be presented for the approval of the student governing body at its next meeting.

WILSON STARS WITH SENSATIONAL RUNS

Veteran Halfback Runs Through Middles For Three Touchdowns--Ballinger's Kick Scores For Navy

Twenty thousand people looked down upon New Beaver Field, Saturday, and marveled as they saw a new star flash across the firmament of the football heavens in a blaze of dazzling brilliance.

Almost single-handed the Nittany marvel brought victory to Penn State and enveloped the sea-faring Middles in the murky folds of stark defeat.

Thus it was that Wilson proved to be the inspiration that the Nittany gridiron coach had hoped for on the eve of the Alumni Homecoming game.
