Notices

All members of the University Club are especially invited to attend the smoken and card party on Saturday night, Nov. 3rd, to meet the thirty-five new members who were admitted by the directors at their last meeting. The year begins unusually successful in the club. A musical program has been arranged for the night of Friday, Nov. 16th, by Director R. W. Grant.

CHANGES MARK PROGRAM FOR PENNSYLVANIA DAY

State's November holiday
Although these affairs, which are strictly of a college nature, will not be held this year, the holiday will by no means be entirely devoid of entertainment functions that have been planned. Most prominent among these, of course, is the football game with Georgia Tech. At least one other athletic contest has been carded for this time, a soccer game with Navy being scheduled. There will also be a Glee Club recital, the first of the year.

DEBATING SQUAD TO START ON REAL WORK

If none of the western colleges desire to meet the local debaters under the conditions mentioned before, Professor Gites has furthered offered to debate any question with each side having but twenty-four hours preparation on the subject for debate.

Varsity Football Team Will Meet Syracuse

Meehan was graduated from Syracuse in 1916 after starting for four years at quarterback.

Last Saturday the Orange eleven displayed a strong attack against Springfield and topped away with a 44 to 0 victory. The week before against Pitt, Coach Meehan's proteges played a fine game and managed to win out by the narrow margin of three points, when McBride, varsity fullback, booted a drop-kick in the closing minutes of the fray.

The Nittany team will be evenly matched by the Syracuse team. If there is any advantage it rests with the Orange eleven by a slight margin.

The scorching struggle with Pitt two weeks ago afforded ample proof of the strength of the Orange line. "Pop" Warner's proteges were held scoreless and never penetrated deep into Syracuse territory. Against West Virginia the Nittany team showed that it could put up a stone-wall defense so that the clash between the two lines will be a feature of the struggle.

Veteran Ends
Syracuse has two capable wingmen in MacRae and Jappe. The former is the captain of the team and has given a splendid account of himself in previous games. Jappe has had two years of varsity experience and is a finished player.

Stuolin and Waldorf, the tackles, have done commendable work this year. They will have plenty of opposition, however, from Prevost and McCann who have been playing a bang-up game for Berdek's team.

"Ribs" Baysinger, the scrappiest lineman on the squad, will face Mitchell in tomorrow's encounter and is expected to give the Nittany player a hard battle. Biggs, the left guard, is the heaviest man on the Orange squad, tipping the scales at 215 pounds, the gigantic guard will out-weight Bill House, who opposes him, by thirty-five pounds.

Center Is Strong
Flax has been developed by Coach Meehan to fill the place left vacant at center by Captain Culver of last year's team. He has been playing a fine game and the Syracuse coach is confident that he will develop into one of the best centers in Syracuse football history. Gray will have a tough proposition in Flax but the Nittany center has been handling himself very well this season and should hold the Orange center in check tomorrow.

Syracuse mustered a fine brace of backs at the beginning of the season with Simmons at quarter, McBride at full, and Bowman and Zimmerman at the halfback positions. The terrific battle with Pitt two weeks ago took a heavy toll in the Syracuse backfield and bruises and sprains have kept some of the Syracuse backs on the bench for the last two weeks. All of the varsity backs will start against Penn State, however with the exception of Bowman, who has a sprained ankle. His place will be filled by Foley.

McBride completes the line-up of the Orange team at fullback and is the star of the team. His work against Pitt was one of the most important factors in Syracuse's victory and his accurate placement kicks have accounted for several tallies this season.

Simmons Calls Signals
Simmons will call the signals for the Orange team. He has shown a thorough knowledge of gridiron strategy this season and is a capable leader. He succeeded in fooling the Panthers several times by calling for unexpected plays.

The loss of "Cheer" Bowman who is considered by many of the Syracuse supporters to be one of the fastest men in a football uniform, is a severe blow to the Orange machine. Foley, who takes his place at left halfback, showing flashes of brilliant open field running against Springfield last week.

Zimmerman Points Well
Zimmerman, the right halfback, is rated as one of the best punters in intercollegiate circles. He will have a job, however, outdistancing the mighty Alumni Headquarters.

The Hotel Onondaga will be the headquarters of Nittany supporters this week-end at Syracuse. A Penn State alumni smoker will be held there tomorrow evening following the game and will be similar to the gathering held last week at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York.

DEATH CLAIMS DR. FREEMAN STECKER

His time in research work, applying his study purely to mathematics. His efforts won him special ranking in the list of American men of science. His name is to be found among those of a half dozen mathematicians whose names are followed by an asterisk, which indicates that at the time of his death he was counted as one of the five leading mathematicians of the world. Dr. Stecker was one of the few American scientists who understood Einstein's theory of relativity.

He was an active life member of the American Mathematical Society and it was in this organization that he first obtained an enviable reputation. During the time spent in research work he represented twenty-two scientific papers entered around five principal projects, non-Euclidean geometry, geodesic lines, conditions of geometry, the geometry and integral equations. He was a member of the German Mathematical Society, and also held membership in the London Mathematical Society, of England, as well as the leading mathematical societies of France and Italy.

Dr. Stecker will be remembered by every Penn State student of the last decade through his traditional services as official timekeeper for all intercollegiate wrestling and boxing meets held at the college. He was athletically inclined and in his undergraduate days was an expert matman.

He was one of the most popular members of the faculty and his death is a keen loss to the college. He was always interested in student life and was ever ready to give help when it was needed. The position left vacant by Dr. Stecker's death will be difficult to fill and his loss is felt beyond measure, both by his colleagues and the undergraduate student body of Penn State.

LAND GRANT COLLEGES ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The Thirty-seventh Annual Convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges will open in the La Salle Hotel, Chicago, on Wednesday, November fourteenth.

Included among the delegates from Penn State will be President John M. Thomas, Dean R. L. Sackett of the Engineering School, Dean R. L. Watts of the School of Agriculture, Miss Edith P. Chace, head of the Home Economics Department, M. S. McDowell, Director of Agriculture Extension, and R. H. Woods of Charley Light which were a prominent feature of the West Virginia game.

J. D. PRICE WINS PENN STATE NET TOURNAMENT

Defeats C. E. Geuther '25 in Final Sets—Freshman Matches Hampered by Wet Courts

After being unable to wrest a single game from his opponent in the first set, J. D. Price '25 staged a great comeback in the last two sets of his match with C. E. Geuther '25, winning them handily 6-4 and 6-3, and obtaining with his victory the tennis championship of Penn State. The match was the clearest exhibition of net generalship ever displayed on the Armory courts and the handful of spectators who braved the inclement weather to witness the contest were treated to a rare brand of tennis.

Geuther won the right to meet Price by thumping "Tommy" Laws '24, captain of the varsity tennis team, in straight sets 6-0 and 6-3. Price entered the finals by virtue of his brilliant victory over G. L. Setman '27, 7-6, 6-1 and 6-3. The present champion was practically unheard of as a tennis player until this fall when he sailed through his opponents with a vim and dash that practically insures him of a varsity berth this spring. The position of first baseman on the freshman baseball team last spring prevented him from playing with the yearling net team.

Progress in the freshman tournament has been hampered to a great extent by the rainy weather, although several matches have been played. G. L. Setman, who made a strong bid for honors in the all-college competition, entered the third round when he vanquished M. R. Huffman 6-3 and 6-2. Other men who entered the third round were W. W. Kepner, J. H. Hill and L. R. Plotts, who won a hard fought match from C. Dye, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-4.

CAMPAIGN IS PUSHED BY HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS

Liles Ho addressed the Penn State smokers last Friday night, telling of the campaign results and the necessity of bringing it to an early close. With Professor P. M. Torrence, he spent some time in canvassing alumni in the New York district and they added over three thousand dollars to the campaign total which has now reached the mark of $1,350,000.

Many younger alumni were found in the New York district, and some of the pledges were not overly large as a result. However, practically every alumnus who was approached gave a pledge and the results of the work were very encouraging.

A special effort is to be made within the next month to push the Orange Memorial campaign for a two hundred and fifty thousands residence hall for women students. The State Grange convention is to be held at Pittsburgh this month and renewed activity is expected to result following a presentation of the plan at that time.

CANDIDATES FOR COLLEGIAN STAFF

The regular weekly meeting of editorial staff of the Penn State Collegian will be held next Tuesday evening in Room 314 Old Main. It is important that all candidates be there.

PENN STATE ENGINEERS FOUND NEW SOCIETY

All of the officers of the Engineering Society will be held just before the close of the spring semester. Officers will be elected from the junior class and will hold office during the senior year. Only members of the Engineering Society will be eligible to vote in an election of officers.

The representatives of the departments will be elected in the spring of their sophomore year by their classmates in their own department, and will hold office during their junior and senior years. This will provide for a part of the Council's having had at least one year's experience at the time of reorganization in the fall.

Both the faculty representatives and the public manager are elected by the Council at its first regular meeting each fall, and hold office for one year.

Work of Engineer
The Penn State Engineer is to be the official publication of the Engineering Society, and the two ranking members of its staff will be ex-officio members of the Engineering Council. Through the management of the Engineering Society, it remains as heretofore the publicity organ of the society, the Engineer will receive the support of the engineers through the subscriptions which are included as a part of the annual dues to the Engineering Society.

An election committee was appointed at the meeting Tuesday night to supervise the immediate election to the Engineering Council of the junior and senior representatives from each department. It is expected that each group will hold elections next week in order that the Council may be organized without further delay.

The successful conclusion of the Engineers' Exhibit which was held on Alumni Day places the Engineers' Ball as the next event on the engineers' program. This dance will probably be the last of the year unless the committee which is working on the affair has not announced definite plans. The success of the dance is already assured since it has already been financed from the dues of the members of the Engineering Society.

Tentative plans have also been made covering the Engineers' Carnival to be held late in the spring. This is to be the climax of the year's functions for the engineers, and will probably take the form of a huge outdoor picnic and entertainment.

year but the increase was decided upon in view both of the skill exhibited, and the fact that reserve material will be needed to replace those members who will not be able to make the trips this fall.

New Men
The following men were received into the club: H. D. Ash '25, J. B. Campbell '27, R. W. Graham '27, M. C. Harrison '26, M. E. Nicklin '25, and F. H. Vance '26, all of whom are first tenors. Three second tenors were accepted, W. K. Biele '27, L. L. Lynders '27, and F. E. Ulf '27. The new men for the baritone section are H. W. Brown '25, J. E. Dickson '27, D. H. Murray '24, H. D. Narbeth '27, J. C. Shumberger '26, H. D. Uplinger '26, H. A. Wahl '25, and N. R. Witt '26. W. L. Ammerman '26, J. W. Etter '25, W. J. Sutton '27 and R. D. Plink '26 make up the addition to the bass section. Plink is also a violinist and will probably be the only instrumentalist to appear in the concert.

Several selections which will be included in the Pennsylvania Day concert have already been decided upon and in the almost nightly rehearsals are being rapidly whipped into shape. While the final program will not be definitely announced until next week it will include Henschel's "Lamp in the East," a light composition which is to be used at the intercollegiate Glee Club Contest in New York on March first. An impressive feature of the program will be the "Bedouin Love Song," by Foote. It will be one of the most advanced selections ever executed by the club and with its strong piano accompaniment, handled by J. S. Schoonmaker, represents a type of music never before presented by the organization. The concert will also be the occasion for the first public presentation of "Our Own Penn State," the words of which are the work of Dr. W. S. Dye. It is the most recent addition to the list of Penn State songs. Director Grant has arranged the program in such a manner that every type of musical taste will be pleased, his selections being representative of each of the important divisions of vocal music.

An advance ticket sale for concert will be held during the latter part of next week, the exact date appearing in the next issue of the COLLEGIAN.

SOCCER TEAM WILL FACE TORONTO AND SYRACUSE

The Blues it has played but one game this year, winning by a 6-2 score from the Royal Military College of Canada. Major Tremaine, R. C. A., coach of the Royal Military College soccer team, stated in regard to the game: "The Toronto men gave a very finished exhibition of the way soccer should be played. Their team work is excellent, but they are not as strong on shooting as they might be."

Making a tour of colleges in the eastern states last year, the Canadian team defeated the Crescent Athletic Club, Brooklyn, 7-0, Princeton 4-0, Lehigh 3-0 and tied with the University of Pennsylvania 1-1.

Four men in the probable line-up for the Penn State-Toronto meet played on the varsity team three years ago when the Nittany booters won from the Canadian team by the score of 3-0. All but two of the men were members of last year's first team.

The probable line-up for the Penn State-Syracuse contest tomorrow is as follows:

Syracuse Penn State
Gardner left fullback Johnson
Fike goal McVaugh
Walton right fullback Grupp
Foley left halfback Hagenbach
Horley center halfback Warner
Patridge right halfback Gill
Jagger outside left Crooks
Condit inside left Hibbs
Ross center Russell
Klein inside right Kelley
Mahon outside right Kelley

The probable line-up for the Penn State-Toronto meet is:

Toronto Penn State
Wilson goal Johnson
Nelson left fullback McVaugh
Johnson right fullback Grupp
Campbell left halfback Hagenbach
Dreyer center halfback Warner
D'Assum right halfback Gill
Rowland outside left Crooks
Johnstone inside left Hibbs
Grant center Russell
Green inside right Kelley
Spalding outside right Kelley
