The men show up well in practice but do not get results on the gridfron The material is the best this year that has ever been available for a Penn State freshman football team, but for some reason the men selected for the first team do not give satisfactory results. The men individually are good but teamwork is incking, no amount of practice seems to whip the men into shape for a winning team. To say that Coach Hermann is pessimistic concerning temorrows game is putting it mildly. In his own words, it is about the poorest team he has ever coached with but one exception. The defensive work is line but attacking ability seems to be lacking.
