EXCURSION TRAIN WILL NOT BE RUN

Committee Finds That Four Hundred Students Can Not Be Secured To Make Trip

Following the instructions of Student Council to make investigation regarding the advisability of chartering a special train to convey Penn State students en masse to the Penn-Penn State football game next Saturday at Philadelphia, the committee conducted its investigations and now reports that it is impossible to charter a train.

Although four hundred student-passengers would have made this plan practicable, less than one-half that number intimated that they would make use of a special train if one was chartered for Friday night.

ALUMNI TO HOLD PENN GAME SMOKER-DANCE

Smoker Will Be Held Friday Night at Bellevue-Stratford--Dance Will Be After Game

Continuing the practice which has long been in vogue, the Philadelphia branch of the Penn State Alumni Association will conduct both a smoker and dance at the hotel Bellevue-Stratford on Friday and Saturday evenings, November sixteenth and seventeenth.

On Friday night the members of the Philadelphia Alumni Association and the visiting Nittany students will participate in a smoker and dancing practice. This will afford the local alumni a chance to again renew their spirit and get back into the swing of the Blue and White songs and cheers before they attend the game on Saturday.

C. C. Hildebrandt '22, President of the Penn State Club in the Quaker City, and Frank Whitman '17, secretary, are expected to be present at the smoker, and in all probability, will be called upon for short addresses.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING NOTICE There will be an important meeting of the Junior Class on Wednesday night, November 14, in the Bull Barn at 7:00 o'clock sharp.

FRESHMEN GRID TEAM LOSES TO PITT YEARLINGS

Baker, Gier and Hays Are Given Good Support by Teammates in All Quarters

Playing the best game of football that they have shown this season, the Penn State freshmen lost a close game last Saturday to Pitt yearlings by the score of 7 to 5. The game was hard fought throughout but the breaks went to the Pittsburgh aggregation.

In the first five minutes of play the Nittany men marched down the field for a touchdown. A short pass over the line from Baker to Hays was successful and Hays was able to make thirty yards before he was tackled on the fifteen yard line.

By consistent rushes in the second quarter, the Pitt freshmen reached the Blue and White five-yard line in short order. It was then that the defense of the Nittany team stiffened but the yearlings were unable to prevent a touchdown by their opponent.

The Nittany freshmen carried the ball from mid-field steadily toward the goal line and it was only a little work for Gier to make a touchdown. Penn State, however, was penalized for an off-side play and the ball was taken back five yards.

The new defense was effective in holding the attack of Coach Herrmann's men for they were not able to gain much on straight plays. Baker attempted a pass to Hays but it was grounded and as a last resort Gier made a long end run which looked good for a touchdown, still the ball lacked a few inches of being over the line.

The Panther terrors will journey to the Nittany Valley on February twenty-second after which the Lion will be to Syracuse on the first of March.

RIFLE TEAM FACES PROMISING SEASON

Penn State Enters Northeastern Intercollegiate League of Eleven Colleges

CHALLENGES COME FROM MANY NON-LEAGUE TEAMS

Entering upon its second year as a minor sport of the college the Penn State rifle team shows promise of having another brilliant year. Penn State has entered the Northeastern Intercollegiate Rifle League which has been formed this year...

Although rifle shooting has been admitted as a minor sport at Penn State, it is not generally known as to the manner of conducting rifle matches. When challenges are made they specify the day or week that the match is to be fired and specifications are also made as to the eligibility of the men, type of rifle, sights, weight of trigger pull, position, and other matters.

With fifteen games on its schedule the Penn State basketball team will open its season within a month with Juniata on the Army floor December thirteenth. The first six games are to be played at home after which the University of Pennsylvania terrors will be met at Philadelphia.

FIFTEEN GAMES ARE ON SCHEDULE OF TOSSERS

Penn State Basketball Team Will Open Season With Home Game December Thirteenth

The second game is with Susquehanna and comes on January fifth. Carnegie Tech., Dartmouth, Gettysburg and Bucknell follow in succession. February second is the date scheduled for the Penn-Penn State game in the Quaker City.

The Blue and White tossers will then return to State College to face the Duquesne University team on the home floor on February ninth. The following two games are also scheduled to be played out-of-town: Pittsburgh comes next on the card and will be played at Pittsburgh on February fifteenth. The second game with Carnegie Tech. will also be staged at Pittsburgh and comes on the night following the Pitt clash.

An illustrated lecture on Paris will be given by Arthur Robin on Wednesday evening, November fourteen, at eight o'clock in Old Chapel. The program is an interesting one and will be supported by members of the Glee Club and the Band. Another feature will be the reading of a poem written by Mr. Robin.

LECTURE WILL FEATURE FRENCH CLUB'S PROGRAM

Illustrated Talk on Paris To Be Given--Members of Glee Club and Band Will Perform

The lecturer being a native of France, is especially capable of portraying his subject in the true and characteristic style of the French school. Mr. Robin has expressed his desire to aid in the constructive work which is being carried on by 'Le Circle Francais,' the recently reorganized French Club which has been making such rapid progress this semester.

All students taking French are invited to join the circle, which has as its object an incentive to greater interest in the study of the language among students. The membership fee is but twenty-five cents a semester, and this is but to insure a formal registration in the Club. Membership blanks may be secured at the office of the Romance Language Department.

PENN STATE STOPS GOLDEN TORNADO BY CLOSE SCORE

NITTANY GRIDDERS OUTCLASS OPPONENTS BUT ARE HELD TO ONE TOUCHDOWN

The power of the Golden Tornado faded on New Beaver field on Saturday. Before a holiday crowd of twelve thousand students and visitors the two teams battled their way through a game that was devoid of sensational plays or misplays.

The old saying that figures don't lie was conclusively disproven in this contest for the score, 7-0, showed little of the strength of the two teams. Bezdek's men plowed through the opposition for a total of sixteen first downs.

The greater part of the game was made up of a series of Penn State marches that started from deep in Nittany territory and carried the ball to within striking distance of the Tech goal. But only once could the Blue and White attack carry the ball across for a tally and that was in the first few minutes of play when Harry Wilson eluded an eager Tech tackle and galloped across the line for the first and last touchdown of the game. Penn State was all set on several occasions to score but each time some break of the game stopped the Nittany advance.

LAURANT IS NEXT 'Y' COURSE ARTIST

Noted Magician and Company Will Appear in Auditorium on Saturday Evening

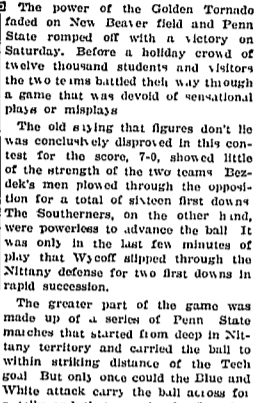

After a recent engagement at Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, where he received a great ovation, the Great Laurant, magician and wonder-worker, will appear in the Auditorium on Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the second feature of the combined department of Music and 'Y' entertainment course. Laurant is touring the country this fall and has given performances in some of the leading colleges and universities in the United States.

PLAYERS WILL PRESENT FIRST MAJOR PRODUCTION

The curtain will also on 'Caste,' the first of the Penn State Players' major productions of the season. It closes this evening on the evening of November twenty-second in the Auditorium.

This play is a melodrama by T. W. Robertson, which was so popular in this country in the early sixties, and has maintained since that great favor. It is a very intense show and the action follows in rapid fire. The play looks deep into an English home of caste and shows the outcome of pitying one caste against another. It is a study in results and the problem of adaptation is well worked out. A young wife finds herself suddenly elevated into a higher caste and the play shows her adaptation to it. It is full of pitfalls and disappointments, but finally she wins out and a happy ending terminates the entanglement.

The mail order sale of tickets is being carried on now and tickets can be engaged in the usual manner from Mr. D. M. Dawson of the French Department.

Judged by critics as even greater than Herrmann and Keller, two stellar performers in the world of magic, Laurant's ingenuity of both ancient and modern conjurers, Hindu magic, the craft of the Chinese and American illusion and fun, follow each other with startling rapidity. The Society of American Magicians, recognizing the astonishing skill of Laurant, recently presented him with a gold medal as a tribute to the high plane to which he is elevating the art of magic.
