

NEW NAME IS ADOPTED BY FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Changed to Interfraternity Conference—Revise Constitution and Rule on Initiations

At a recent meeting of the Interfraternity Council, a new constitution was adopted and the name of the body was changed from the Interfraternity Council to the Interfraternity Conference. Twenty-seven fraternities were represented.

Under the new constitution a ruling was passed that no student can be pledged to a fraternity until he has received his matriculation card. It was also approved that a student can not be initiated who, at the end of eight weeks, is below in eight credit hours. If he is still below in eight credit hours at the end of the semester he cannot be initiated until the conditions are removed.

In order to stop underclassmen from visiting during dances, a committee of five with D. W. Price '24 as chairman, was elected. All the fraternities were urged to report to this committee any underclassmen who visit. A fine of five dollars will be imposed upon the fraternity reported, and it will be left to the fraternity to collect from the offender.

All chapters who permit members to join either Theta Xi Epsilon or Kappa Phi will be expelled from the Interfraternity Conference, according to the ruling passed.

A committee, of which A. R. Yost '24 is chairman, is working on a new plan for the betterment of interfraternity athletics. The committee announced that an interfraternity bowling league may be organized.

The Interfraternity Conference is a member of the National Undergraduate Interfraternity Council, of which there are twenty-eight members, meeting once a year in New York, under the auspices of the National Interfraternity Conference.

POTTERY IS ON DISPLAY IN FINE ARTS MUSEUM

The exhibit of pottery from the Pottery Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, is being shown under the direction of the art section of the women's department. The exhibit contains a fine showing of vases, candlesticks, book-ends and flower-holders. With this exhibit a collection of Arabian tile is being displayed. Pennsylvania, one of the foremost clay producing states, has developed the making of tiles to an art. The work of M. Meier of Doylestown in the making of tile is of great interest since he has studied the tile in various regions and particularly in Pennsylvania. The tile-making of the Pennsylvania Dutch is of a high standard, the patterns of which have suggested the treatment of tile for walls and floors. The tile used beneath the dome of the Pennsylvania State Capitol was made under the direction of Mr. Meier. The exhibit of Arabian tile is to show the students, as well as the townspeople, the beauty of tile for home decorations when used in hearths, floors, walls and vestibules. A few specimens of these designed tiles may be purchased at cost, at the museum. This exhibit will continue until February first.

DR. SPARKS DELIVERS SECOND L. A. LECTURE

Former Prexy Traces Advance of American Transportation on Land and Water

Before a large audience, Dr. Edwin D. Sparks, former president of Penn State, gave the second feature of the Liberal Arts lecture course on Tuesday evening. The address, whose topic was "The Development of American Transportation," was well illustrated by lantern slides, including some of a humorous nature.

Dr. Sparks took as his first subject the adoption of water-ways as a means of transportation, and explained their development as such. He brought out the many obstacles that were met and overcome in this work.

After the water-ways came the development of one of the most popular forms of transportation today, namely, the highway. Dr. Sparks explained how the adversity met in river travel helped in an indirect way to develop the roads and turnpikes. A fourth feature, the airway, was also discussed. The slides shown on the screen at this time consisted chiefly of composite drawings drawn at the time of the introduction of the "meat" inventions.

STUDENT COUNCIL HOLDS SMOKER AT O. E. HOUSE

Short Business Session Precedes Social Hour—Campaign Plans Are Discussed

In an effort to promote better cooperation and good-fellowship among its members and at the same time to transact necessary business, Student Council held a combined smoker and business meeting at the Omega Psi Phi house on Tuesday night.

During the course of the regular session, with which the evening was begun, D. W. Price, chairman of the committee placed in charge of the proposed flag poles for New Beaver field, reported that several quotations had been received. After discussion final action regarding their purchase was postponed until further proposals were submitted. President Buder then read a letter from Governor Pinchot highly commending Student Council for its action taken in pledging support for the enforcement of the Thirtieth Amendment. The Governor touched on the binding nature of the pledge and urged that the body do its utmost to prevent violations of the amendment by suitable punishments as outlined at the conference held recently in Philadelphia.

After a brief discussion of the plans for the conclusion of the freshman campaign drive, the meeting was adjourned and the rest of the evening was devoted to the smoker. Dr. Metzger was the speaker of the evening giving an interesting talk, full of personal experiences, of the differences between college management as it was twenty-five years ago and as it is today. In those days, he said, an organization like Student Council was unknown, the entire authority resting in the hands of the faculty. He recommended the situation at Penn State where he said, the entire college benefited from the progressive energy of Student Council, tempered as it is by the long experience of the faculty.

RECORDS SHOW INCREASE IN ACTIVITY OF TRIBUNAL

The minutes of the Student Tribunal for this semester show that 118 cases have been tried at seven meetings of the law-enforcing body. Seven hall-cases were administered to eating freshmen and two molasses feeds are awaiting warmer weather. The majority of the trials of this semester have dealt with disputes on college standing and violation of the rules governing the hand worn on the cadet hat.

A comparison with the records of last year show an increase in the number of cases brought before the Tribunal. For both semesters of last year there were but seventy-six cases brought before thirteen meetings of the Tribunal.

PLAYERS ARE SELECTING CAST FOR 'LOYALTIES'

Final selections are now being made by Arthur C. Cloetmich, director of the Penn State Players, for the cast of "Loyalties." He has carried the try-outs over a period of a month in order to assemble the best cast that is available for this production, which will be the feature production of the year.

"Loyalties," by John Galsworthy, is a strong play, ably written, and a problem masterfully handled. Critics have adjudged it the best of Galsworthy's productions and it has taken its place as one of the leading shows of the modern period. The Players consider themselves fortunate in securing this play, and Mr. Cloetmich will make every effort to have the production excel his past efforts.

The play will be produced late in March for a two night stand and will be one of the features of the early spring campus activities.

HEAT DEMONSTRATION IS GIVEN BY W. R. YOUNG

An interesting demonstration of a heat regulating apparatus was conducted by W. R. Young of the Engineering Extension Department at a recent meeting of the Student Board of the S. M. E. Mr. Young showed the best of a building at a steadily constant temperature. The speaker was well qualified to demonstrate such apparatus, since he has worked four years on its installation prior to his becoming an instructor in the Extension department at Penn State.

Selection of officers for the student body of the society was held at the regular meeting in Engineering 'D' last Thursday evening. The following officers were elected: President C. C. Mosier '24, Vice President M. E. Nieklin '25, Treasurer R. Fisher '21, Corresponding Secretary J. G. Crumley '24, and Recording Secretary T. S. Barberio '25.

POLITICAL PRODIGY ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR LEGISLATURE

But he was defeated by a scant six votes. This time, however, he expects to win easily.

In 1925 Fernald is intending to run for Congress from the same district of Maine which elected James C. Blaine to his last term at Washington.

ANTIQUE SAFETY LAMP IS ADDED TO COLLECTION

The School of Mines has recently received from H. F. Smith, a graduate of the class of 1908 and now superintendent of government coal leases in the West, a piece of ancient Aztec pottery and an antique miner's safety lamp. The piece of Aztec pottery is in the form of a water jar holding about a gallon. It is beautifully molded and shows signs of having been used as a vessel in which to boil water. It was discovered in one of the old ruins of the Southwest and is in perfect state of preservation.

The safety lamp, which had evidently been manufactured by hand, was received from the Bunters mine in England many years after an explosion which occurred in 1855. The lamp is well preserved. Knowing that Penn State has the most complete collection of safety lamps in the world, Mr. Smith states that there was no question in his mind but that the lamp should be added to the collection at this institution.
