

MARIE SUNDELIUS PLEASES AUDIENCE

Swedish Soprano Impresses Large Gathering in Auditorium by Outstanding Ability

PRIMA DONNA RENDERS SONGS IN FIVE TONGUES

Drawing a large crowd to the Auditorium despite the athletic attractions last Saturday night, Marie Sundelius, the Swedish soprano, appeared in concert for her first Penn State performance with a program which fully justified her world-wide reputation.

Madame Sundelius opened the recital with a group of three Italian selections made up of "Aria-Creol nell'Alma" by Demati, "Aria di Apollo" from "Tosca" by Puccini, and "The Jewel Song" from Faust. The latter selection which was given by request is one by which she first gained widespread recognition as Marguerite in the operatic selections she displayed her great histrionic ability as well as her crystal-clear, carefully modulated voice, but she interpreted her roles with such subdued taste that the audience received no thought of artificial or artificial stage manner.

In the second group of compositions the soprano sang "Auf dem Wasser zu singen," "Gebet am Spinnrad" and "Die Felle" all by Schubert, and "Mondnacht" and "Schneegefächter" by Schumann. The German selections were well received by the audience and in answer to prolonged applause Madame Sundelius responded with "Hark, Hark the Lark."

The third group on the program consisted of the Norwegian songs "Vaien" and "God Morgen," by Grieg, "Melodi" by Tangstrom and "Duns Sang" by Svermann. The numbers were especially interesting as they were sung in the native tongue of the prima donna and in her own liquid, flexible voice were displayed to the best advantage. So impressed was the audience both by her outstanding vocal ability and her winning manner that she was called again and again to the stage, finally giving an English folk song as an encore.

The final division of the program Marie Sundelius sang entirely in English. It included "Swains" by Krainer, "The Piney Pines" by Draver, "Zuni Indians Wailing" by Trever and the "Will to the Wise" by Schubert. The audience demanded an encore and the singer responded with a selection from an Italian opera.

Throughout the concert the quality of the singer's voice was evident. Even in the highest and quietest passages there was no hint of a weak register. Her voice was clear and the brilliant interpretation which has won for Marie Sundelius permanent recognition as a highly gifted prima donna soprano Karl Hede was her accompanist.

The final concert of the Entertainment Course under the joint direction of the Department of Music and the Y. M. C. A. will be given on April eleventh by the Penn State Glee Club, assisted by Miss Marguerite Schuller, mezzo-soprano.

SPRING BRINGS MINIMUM OF COMPLAINTS TO INFIRMARY

With the coming of Spring, a smaller number of illnesses is brought to the attention of the College Health Service. Minor complaints are treated daily but the only serious cases are two cases of rheumatism. There are only four cases of mumps at the present time.

Lojalities is a play of mystery, love, humor, thrills and pathos.

"HONOR BRIGHT" IS WELL RECEIVED AT U. CLUB

R. S. Covert '25 Masters Difficult Role in Record Time—Entire Cast Does Good Work

Before an audience that filled every available space in the play room of the University Club, J. Gordon Amundson presented the three-act Denham show "Honor Bright" for the approval of the faculty members and their friends on Friday night. The production, which played the night before in Bellefonte, was well received in its initial Penn State showing.

One of the leading features of the play was the work of R. S. Covert '25 who, interpreted the part of the old "shop" Carion. Originally this role was given to G. A. Kraber '24 but three days before the Bellefonte showing he was taken sick and Covert was assigned to the part. Robert Livingston '25 to eight hours every day. Covert mastered his lines in a short period and had the part worked up to a point of perfection in the allotted time.

In the roles of Richard Harrington and Honor Bright, J. N. Stewart '25 and Miss Dorothy Musser '25 played excellent parts and the show was carried along in great fashion by their smooth setting. Playing Tom Marvel, the chorus girl, with a vivacity and charm that made her acting stand out. Miss Freda Casperman '27 interpreted a role that drew much favorable comment from the audience.

JUNIOR CLASS DISCUSSES PROM AT SHORT MEETING

The Junior class held a short meeting in the Bull Pen last Thursday evening at six-thirty. The most noticeable feature was the small attendance and the officers feel that class spirit is sadly lacking, as is the case in the other classes at present.

R. B. Vosecamp spoke on the Prom and assured the Juniors that the winter class will be bigger and more successful this year than heretofore. The favors have been chosen and other plans are rapidly taking shape.

"Lojalities," the English drama brought over by Charles Dillingham and running to capacity at the Gaiety, New York, has drawn the attention of the Jewish clergy. No less than three rabbis, have taken the play as a topic in their Sabbath discourses and advised their congregations to attend the Gaiety place. That has been something of a surprise to showmen, who were dubious as to how New York would accept the racial angle in "Lojalities." The play and con discussion resulted in one net of $2000 the show would not be a success here, but a manager who accepted the wages, and believed it would elicit, saw the piece in London, where it is still running. At Carnegie Hall last Sunday Dr. Kress used "Lojalities" for his address, and Dr. Wie selected it also for his lecture in the afternoon. Other rabbis have expressed a desire to witness the performance.

PENN STATE TO CONDUCT SUMMER SESSION IN ERIE

Two Hundred Teachers Expected To Matriculate in Course at New Branch

A branch of the Penn State Summer Session will be established at Erie this summer, according to a recent announcement by W. G. Chamberlain, Dean of the School of Education at Penn State.

Teachers and citizens of the county realizing the need for a branch school, urged the matter before the Penn State officials. More than one hundred and fifty public school teachers have stated that they would attend the Summer Session there, and an enrollment of over two hundred teachers is expected.

The same courses given at Penn State will be offered at the Erie branch, and a faculty of ten or twelve will be stationed there. All courses will be advanced collegiate grade and will not interfere with the normal school session.

Permission to use Erie Central High School building to conduct classes, was granted to the College by the school board of Erie. School will be in session from June thirtieth to August eighth, the same length as it is at Penn State.

The continuance of this branch school in the future will depend upon its success this summer. Inasmuch as it is considered as an experimental project by Dean Chamberlain.

METHODIST PASTOR TO LEAVE STATE COLLEGE

Students To Hold Farewell Meeting for the Rev. H. F. Babcock on Thursday

In appreciation of four years of his service as student pastor of the Methodist church, the Reverend H. F. Babcock will be given a final farewell by his students at the church next Thursday before he leaves for Bucknell, where he will enter on the work among the students.

Four years ago the Methodist church placed the Reverend Babcock in charge of the Wesley Foundation work in State College. The expert growth of the student body during past years greatly augmented the work of the churches and Mr. Babcock's appointment came as a response to the demand for a full time leader to look after the religious life of Penn State Methodist students, who form one of the largest groups of students of that denomination in the state. At the Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held recently in Williamsport, however, he was appointed to Methodist work at Bucknell University, where he will continue the work which he is keeping with his experience and of which he is most fond.

Mr. Babcock is a graduate of Dickinson Seminary and during his residence in State College he has taken a number of college courses and last summer took graduate work at Northwestern University. Through his stay at Penn State, he has been prominent in the religious work of the students and has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. Advisory Board in further cooperation with the religious activities on the campus. Mr. Babcock has supervised a large amount of the extension work of the Y. M. C. A. this year.

FIRST LACROSSE GAME CANCELLED BY BROOKLYN

Placed during the past week has brought satisfying results to Coach Jardine who is whipping his lacrosse team into shape for the coming season. The game scheduled with Brooklyn Poly Tech has been cancelled and Manager Wilkinson has been unable to secure a meet for that day.

The goals were put up last week and the candidates were put through a drill of training, the ball is in the gate. The Nittany coach is hoping several goal tenders to fill the position that will be open after this year's graduation. With the coming of the nice weather, practice and team work will take place for a few weeks. This year the team will be considerably strengthened and Coach Jardine urges more candidates to report for practice.

During vacation—what?

Conant made $15.00 a day!

Neil H. Conant was a student at Bates College. He decided that he would take up some selling proposition during his summer vacation. One of the Fuller Brush Companies at college representative, Mr. E. V. Smith, happened to call at Bates College, and Mr. Conant got in touch with him. Mr. Smith told him of the opportunities for a college man to sell Fuller Brushes during summer vacation, that he would be given the same thorough training in salesmanship that all Fuller men receive, that he would have a chance to earn all the while he is in college, and that the future was limitless, determined only by the man himself.

Mr. Conant saw that this was a real opportunity and accepted the proposition. He sums up his experience with the Fuller Organization as follows:—The Fuller Brush Company at this time is offering a new plan which will soon provide most other organizations in the future. It is upon such a foundation that every man is anxious to help his brother salesman and to see him succeed. A man succeeds by his own efforts. Every man who joins the Fuller Organization is absolutely assured of a square deal, and a chance to become a success in life.

I had various offers from many organizations. None of them offered me more than $10.00 a week. But, during my two months of vacation I earned, selling Fuller Brushes, an average of $15.00 a day. Conant's case is typical, as the average earnings of college men, last summer, were $1.75 an hour.

If you are looking for remunerative occupation during this coming July and August, you can get a complete outline of what the Fuller Brush Company offers in college man, from Mr. E. V. Smith, at Bates College, or Mr. W. S. Weaver, 222 W. College Ave.
