FATHERS ARE WELCOMED AT WEEK-END MEETINGS

Judge Mitchell and Dr. Greer Are Among Speakers at Well-Attended Gatherings

Speaking to a well-attended Mass Meeting, the opening event of Father's Day last Friday evening, President John M. Thomas gave a spirited address of welcome to the Association of the Parents of Penn State. He congratulated the Association on its activity and response to the Building Campaign and told them about the high scholarship at Penn State. A selection by the College Band followed the opening speech and after this Miss M. Mildred McLean, president of the girls senior class, presided over the meeting. The address of the Board of Trustees in which he emphasized the need of the student for the help and encouragement of the folks at home. After another number by the band, Dr. Greer, father of one of the students, commended "Prexy" Thomas' stand for higher scholarship. A stirring talk was given by Judge William Mitchell, President of the Board of Trustees in which he emphasized the need of the student for the help and encouragement of the folks at home. After another number by the band, Dr. Greer, father of one of the students, commended "Prexy" Thomas' stand for higher scholarship.

The Third Annual meeting of the Association of the Parents of Penn State was held on Saturday morning. Previous to the opening of the discussion, J. G. Schoonmaker, of the Music Department, rendered several numbers on the organ and Director R. W. Grant led the meeting in a short "sing" of Penn State songs.

Owing to the illness of Mr. John S. Mueser, President of the Association, Mr. Boyd A. Mueser, of Stanton, presided over the session. "Prexy" Thomas spoke of the crowded conditions and the building problem of the college, and asked the support of the "Dads" in order that the college might secure a larger appropriation from the state. "Prexy" also suggested that the fathers ask their sons to limit their activities outside of school hours.

A short discussion of the dance and home-sports question followed. Dean Charlotte R. Ry speaking in regard to the conduct of the affairs in question and Dean A. R. Warnock taking up the issue in reference to the limiting of scholarship and the limiting of the number of social functions. The meeting voted that its approval be given in the idea that the students should be allotted another year in which to prove their worthiness in conducting home dances and parties.

Dean R. L. Sackett then spoke on the standard of scholarship of Penn State, and Dean R. L. Watts gave a short talk on the Lightenth Amendment and its enforcement on the campus.

Smoker Makes Hit
 At the Penn State Club Smoker held by the Army on Saturday night entertainment was furnished by several students among the numbers being a "Harmonica Recital" by "Buck" Taylor. "Prexy" Thomas spoke on "The Calamity of the Middle Man" and "Prexy" spoke on "A Short Talk on the 'Proudest Moments of My Life'."

A wrestling exhibition was staged by C. H. Belmont '26 and R. L. Lehman '26. Following this, F. A. Washington '25 and J. T. McClellan '26, gave a sparring demonstration, ending the formal program.

BROADCASTING STATION IS INSTALLED AT PITT
 An unusually complete broadcasting station was recently opened at the University of Pittsburgh. The technical end of the station was installed and will be maintained by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company as a sub-station to KDKA.

The programs will be supplied by the University largely from its own faculty and student body. This portion of the operation will be under the charge of Miss Helen J. Osterander who will be one of three women in the Pitt broadcasting station. It is intended to broadcast several extension courses, printed pamphlets for which can be obtained from the University.

NITTANY BATSMEN TAKE GAMES FROM SYRACUSE

In a single The scoring of the home nine did not start until the fifth inning, however when Kerstetter was hit by a pitched ball and advanced to third base on Longhurst's stinging double. Reed delivered a sacrifice fly to deep rightfield and Kerstetter then tallied the first run of the day.

Palm Scores Twice
 Mike Palm scored two of the other Penn State runs getting one of those in the eighth, after having reached third base on Palmisano's error and then brought in by McVicker's sacrifice fly. In the eighth the home bats got busy again. Mahoney and Palm crossing the home plate after a base on balls, a single, sacrifice fly and a clean-up two-bagger by "Norm" McVicker.

The visitors' scoring was confined to the seventh frame, when Captain Hamm punched out a one-bagger, advanced to third while Yeoman and Albright were being put out at first, and finally came home on Palmisano's only drive of the day. With the exception of this one inning, Longhurst was master of the situation. Aidid by sparkling fielding the Lunka slab until the Yellow Jackets down with but five hits.

Second Game
 With the vim and determination that predominated in the first game, the Nittany players entered into the second struggle and soon filled up a total of six runs which the Golden Tornado was never able to approach. Hamm was on the mound for the winners' turning in the first shutout contest of the season for the Blue and White batsmen.

The second number of the series was held up at the close of the third inning due to a heavy rainfall. After being held up for approximately one hour, both nines took to the field again but no further scoring than that done in the first three frames occurred. Both Harrison and Kahn proved invincible, being especially effective with men on bases.

Two Runs in First
 Allison started hurling for the visitors but was sent to the bench after the second stanza. Most of the damage had been done though, two runs having been scored in the initial inning and three more added to these in the second period. Mahoney's single free passes to Palm and Loeffler, followed up by McVicker's timely one-base bingle, accounted for the first pair of markers.

Mahoney opened the third by walking for a base on balls but was forced out at second by Kerstetter, who traveled to the halfway mark when Harrison drew the fourth pass from Allison. Reed failed to connect safely, but Mahoney's reached first on "sums" misplay, Kerstetter's tugging at the same time. Palm came through with a double which carried the other two runs across. The sixth of Nittany's counters came off Kahn's delivery when McVicker lured out a clean single to center field and then rapped home while Yeoman was fumbling with the ball.

It is difficult to pick out any special stars of the two games since teamwork was the keynote of both. Little Satterly, playing his first game, gave a good exhibition at the initial base-sock, while Mah showed improvement in his work at the hot corner. McVicker's hitting, coupled with Reed's and Palm's fielding were deciding factors in the two wins. Wyeoff, Stan fullback for the Atlantans, started at the hot while Captain Hamm and Palmisano also stood out, both in attack and defense.

Gettysburg Hero Thursday
 With a record of two games won out of four played thus far this spring the Gettysburg baseball team will come to Penn State Thursday for a single contest. Moudan, captain of the battlefield nine, is playing his third year at the hot corner. "Snake" Emanuel, noted quarter-back, has been converted into a pitcher and is showing up to good advantage in his new role. The team appears to be strong as only two of the regular men are playing their first year of collegiate baseball.

 not have been registered.

Syracuse Scores First
 The Syracuse stickmen were the first to score, tallying one point in the first period. However by the end of the period, Slinger tied the score for Penn State at 1-1. Before the end of the half the Orange men broke through the Lion defense for two more counts. Although Coach Jardine's men were not able to score in the remainder of the game, they gave stiff opposition to the New York team and it was not until three quarters of the game was over that Syracuse felt sure of victory.

Devide Slinger who scored Penn State's lone tally. Yost and Wentz starred for the home team, Morgan also made a creditable showing if not, despite the fact that eight times a Syracuse man shot the ball into the net behind him.

To Play Univ. of Maryland
 The Nittany stickmen will leave next Wednesday, and will play the University of Maryland Thursday and the Naval Academy next Saturday. By that time the new defense should be working smoothly, with some added pep in the offense, the team should make a much better showing in the south.

NITTANY MINING SCHOOL HEAD ATTENDS MEETING
 Dean E. A. Holbrook, with Professor N. D. Hubbell, W. H. Chesley, and P. B. Ducky, attended the annual meeting and dinner of the Johnstown Mining Institute at Johnstown on April twenty-fourth. Dean Holbrook spoke on "Mining School."

During the Easter vacation, Dean Holbrook attended an informal conference on mining at the University of Illinois. Penn State was also represented at the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society at Washington, D. C. by Dr. M. C. Farland representing the School of Mines.

SYRACUSE DEFEATED BY FRESHMAN NINE
 way to a lead in the first inning and retained it until the ninth frame when Harris crossed the plate with the tying run. From that time on both teams held an even score until the fourteenth inning when the second home run credited to Hansen with two on and an extra tally by McGrath gave the visitors a lead of four runs and the game.

Carl in right field spoiled the visiting's chances of winning when he threw himself after Stvboriski's fly and managed to hold it after doing a somersault. Another break against the freshman batsmen came in the eighth inning when Bitter in the hot corner made a mazy catch of Reed's sizzler. The work of Nittany mound artists was exceptional and retching the side with the bases loaded brought loud cheers from the grandstand.

The errors committed by the freshmen have given the Nittany coach an idea of the weak points and these will be corrected in the coming week before they leave for Salisbury where they meet Kink this week-end in a brace of games.
