The Inter-Fraternal Council will hold a dance this Saturday evening at the Lehigh Valley Junior and Sophomore members of the Council and the faculty advisors from each house are requested to attend. Music will be furnished by Strohbecker's orchestra.

There will be an exhibition of the work of freshmen girls in the applied art courses this afternoon in the Fine Arts Museum, 281 Main Building. The items are from three to five and seven to nine.

All those who did not receive letters at the Junior Prom may receive them any time this week from R. B. Voskamp at the Phi Gamma Delta House.

PENN STATE CLUB WILL HOLD MEMORIAL EYE HOP

The following day to spend a merry time. The tickets are priced at one dollar and fifty cents per couple and the money may rest assured that it is the beautiful expression goes "a good time will be had by all."

Although the affair is in charge of the non-Fraternal men, it is to be an all-around affair and everybody is welcome to attend.

The checking facilities will be taken care of by the same men who attended to the arrangements at the Junior Prom. The system used will probably be the same as at the upper class dance when the locker room of the Amory is pressed into service for the storage of wraps.

ART EXHIBIT WILL BE SHOWN HERE IN JUNE

An exhibition of oil paintings and original illustrations which promises to be one of the largest and best ever seen at Penn State will be shown in the Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of Old Main during Commencement Week.

Among the artists represented will be Charles H. Davis, Douchevitz, C. H. Hawthorne, C. W. Eaton, Olin K. Chalmers, Haskins and six or eight others equally famous. In conjunction with the oil paintings will be an exhibit of original illustrations furnished by the Curtis Publishing Company.

The exhibition is expected to surpass any other display of its kind ever put before the public at Penn State. Not only is the most prominent artist represented but their works are what can be classed as the best of modern American landscape painting. Fine examples of modern illustration will be furnished by the Curtis Publishing Company and sixteen oil paintings will constitute the work of the artists.

LA VIE BOARD BEGINS WORK ON 1926 ANNUAL

The 1926 La Vie bids fair to be a successful effort that used most care in having the Campus views taken this year instead of next fall as has been done in former years. The work on the La Vie will be distributed more evenly than heretofore and several items have already been considered for the staff, although no appointments will be made until the opening of school in the fall.

CONSERVATIONISTS CONCLUDE SESSION

Twenty-five Million Dollar Bond Issue Is Pushed for Purchase of Forests

DR. HENRY S. DRINKER IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

With the proposed twenty-five million dollar bond issue for the purchase of state forest land as the main topic of discussion, more than seventy-five leading conservationists, representing some forty state and county associations attended the second annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Conservation Council which began in a banquet at the Presbyterian Church last Friday night and continued with sessions Saturday morning.

Sharing interest with the bond issue was a movement started by Robert M. Carrison of Washington, Pa., president of the Farmers' Protective Alliance, definitely to link the farmer with other conservationists, by emphasizing the importance of conservation of soil resources in agriculture. The proposal was most favorably received by other speakers. Including Fred Brunkman, M. S. G. of the State Game and Fish Commission, deputy secretary of agriculture, Mrs. J. J. Black, of Grafton, president of the Society of Farm Women of Penn State, also addressed the meeting.

A. R. Heller, state commissioner of fisheries outlined future plans of the commission. Other speakers included R. L. Witts, president of the council, F. H. Newell, chairman of joint water-power survey and Dr. J. G. Reicht, state superintendent of public instruction.

The concluding sessions Saturday morning featured the authorization of the appointment of a special bond issue committee with power to employ a publicity director and such other personnel as they may deem necessary, the adoption of a resolution to make agriculture and the conservation of soil an integral part of the conservation movement and the election of officers and committees for the ensuing year.

New officers elected: President, Dr. Henry S. Drinker, Merion Station, president emeritus of Lehigh University, past president of the American Forestry Association and president of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association; first vice-president, William W. Evans, Pottsville; second vice-president, John M. Phillips, Pittsburgh; third vice-president, Fred Brunkman, Harrisburg; secretary of the State Game and Fish Commission, S. N. Kuttner, Philadelphia; and treasurer, Major M. J. McCullough, Dobbins.

The following were elected chairman of the following committees: Forestry, J. A. Ferguson, State College; Fish, J. G. Crovching, Wilkes-Barre; Birds, Mrs. B. I. Collin, Scranton; wild flowers, Dr. L. M. Gross, Harrisburg; education, Dr. J. G. Reicht, Harrisburg; and water, L. M. Otto, Williamsport.

Among the numerous resolutions adopted was the following: A recommendation by the fish committee, urging the repeal of the law authorizing the state fish commission to issue licenses for the use of special devices such as nets, cod pots and the like. A civic committee was created to consider particularly the billboard nuisance along the highways. The committee on forestry recommended that the council should promote legislation to curb the indiscriminate use of Christmas trees, and emphasizing the importance of planting and the protection of roadside trees.

The Sophomore Stunt, successfully revived last year, will consist this season of a two-act play, written and directed by J. Gordon Amend. The committee in charge of the production consists of C. A. The play is titled "The Plastered Apr." and the first scene takes place one night in most any room in Old Main. It concerns a bet that it is possible to take a coat to a house party dress her up accordingly, and pass her off as a regular girl. The plot then takes up the unraveling of the mystery.

The climax is reached in the second act at the "New Deli" house, where a "padding scene" is in progress. The telephone is "head-popped," and the play proceeds, ending happily for all concerned.
