

GRAHAM & SONS

That Little Store on the Corner

We welcome the students of the Summer session and invite you to make our store your business home during the session.

Fine Confections, Smokers' Supplies, Post Cards, Periodicals and Novelties.

CORA B. SNIDER
LADIES' FURNISHINGS
ART GOODS
2nd Floor People's Nat. Bank Bldg.

A good place to eat
THE PENN STATE CAFE

Come in and get acquainted.

Cleaning and Pressing.
Best of Service

Gernerd Tailor Shop
S. Allen St.

Full line of Students Shoes for Men & Women

Patronage Solicited
The State University Shoe Co.
Pugh St.

Summer Students VISIT

The Purity Tea Room

Where everything is home cooked

Cakes, Pies and Sandwiches, Regular Lunches and Dinners served. Preparing Lunch Boxes our Specialty.

Telephone orders filled and delivered.

135 ALLEN ST.
The Red Brick Building

Eat Ice Cream Every Day

It's a Health Food

ASK FOR HARVEY'S "The Better Kind"

Bread Rolls and Cakes of Quality

220 E. College Ave.
Phone 211

Everything that you might expect to find in a first class Drug Store.

The Rexall Store
Between the Movies
ROBERT J. MILLER, P. D.

FOUND PRAIRIES "ART HUNGRY"

Summer Session Instructor Acts as Missionary of Beautiful in Northwest

From the "Art News" of April 16th, we clip the following in reference to Mr. Emilie Walters who is one of the art instructors for the present summer session at Penn State

Emilie Walters, of Philadelphia and New York, has just returned from a journey of about 5,000 miles into the prairie country of the Canadian Northwest, where he acted as a missionary of art. As a result of his visit several community art associations were formed for the purpose of art works, and the nucleus of more than one public collection was formed thereby.

Mr. Walters, who has the rare distinction of having sold a picture to one of the most northernmost museums in the world, that of Iceland, is represented in this year's International exhibition at Pittsburgh by a canvas entitled "Blossom Time in Canada." He has won prizes at the Chicago Art Institute and elsewhere and his works have been hung in some of the most important displays in the country. But he thinks that the remotest towns of the American continent, both of Canada and the United States, are more worthy of cultivation by artists than the larger cities. He says they are "art hungry."

Emilie Walters, of Philadelphia and New York, has just returned from a journey of about 5,000 miles into the prairie country of the Canadian Northwest.

He took nineteen printings with him, and he exhibited these in assembly halls, store rooms, universities and colleges, and he was greeted as an apostle of the beautiful, and welcomed with enthusiasm in places where few would have suspected that an interest in art could be aroused. He exhibited and made speeches in Winnipeg, where he was born, and in Regina, Calgary, Saskatoon and Edmonton, and the way in which the local papers wrote about him indicated that the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta should be happy hunting grounds for other artists as well. Incidentally, he sold several pictures by organizing community art associations where a 1,000 or more people gave 50 cents each toward the purchase of a painting.

The joining together of the people into clubs or associations for the buying of pictures is the best way to create genuine interest in art," said Mr. Walters upon his return. "The fact that they have helped buy a picture makes them feel a personal interest in the work, and causes them to talk about it and get others interested. Also, it proves to the public how easy it is to start an art collection when a large number of people think and act along the same lines. I advise the people in some cities to go to the baseball and hockey games and to more exhibits of art works—and they followed the advice."

TO TAKE DR. SPARKS' COURSE AT "STATE"

A course in American history which was to have been taught by the late Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks at the Pennsylvania State College summer session this year, had such a large advance enrollment of teachers that the college authorities felt compelled to offer it despite the sudden death of Dr. Sparks several weeks ago. As a result, Dean Will Grant Chambers secured Professor H. C. Hubbert, of Ohio Wesleyan University, to teach the course clever and amusing farce comedy by Victor Albee and William Collier. It was presented on Broadway on March 1, 1920 at the George M. Cohan Theatre starring William Collier. It was successful in New York and then it enjoyed a most successful road tour since that time. It has been very popular in amateur circles. It is a sure fire laugh and it is a show that no one in the summer session can afford to miss and get the fullest out of his summer here at Penn State.

PLAY PRODUCTION TO OFFER DRAMAS

(Continued from first page)

The work in play production will be under the direction of J. Gordon Arnold whose volume of original plays is about to come from the press. Mr. Arnold will also direct the all-college play.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

30 words for 25c.
FOR RENT—1-room furnished apartment and 2 other rooms for the summer months. Inquire at 626 W. College Ave.

FOR RENT—2 double rooms and a 1 room apartment

Inquire 228 W. College Ave.
SUMMER STUDENTS try the Nittany Lion Tea Room, 228 W. College Ave.

COLLEGE ICE CREAM

"THE COOLEST SPOT IN TOWN"

SERFAS '23 136 ALLEN ST.
Confectionery and Tobacco

Walk-Over's Fiftieth Anniversary

JUST the right compromise between gayety and formality that a patent pump should have, is in the Walk-Over Butterfly its snug fit; assured because it is a Walk-Over, is made doubly sure by the buckle-concealed gore.

BUTTERFLY
Lustrous black satin, snugly gore fitted, with a twinkling buckle

AL'S SHOP
Allen Street

Text Books Stationery and a full line of Student Supplies

The Athletic Store
On Co-Op. Corner

Western Meats

Home Dressed
Country Style Cured
HAM AND BACON

Discount to Fraternities and Boarding Houses

Winner's Meat Market
111 S. Pugh St.

Dry Goods Notions Hosiery

To the Summer Students at Penn State, we extend a hearty welcome.
May we invite your patronage.

J. G. NEIDIGH
120 1-2 E. College Ave.

I wish to announce the opening of my Chiropractic Offices
at 135 S. Allen St.
(Above the Purity Tea Room)
F. G. Clemson
Palmer Graduate, Chiropractor
Office Hours—10:30-12:30; 2:00-5:00; 6:00-7:30
Sundays and Holidays by appointment

Shoes of Worth
We can supply all your needs in up-to-date Footwear.
20TH CENTURY SHOE CO.
121 Allen St. State College

The Penn State Photo Shop
212 E. COLLEGE AVE.
Kodak Film Developing and Printing
DAILY SERVICE
Portraits Framing