

Penn State Collegian

Now When I Was a Freshman—

Clipping Parties Tomorrow

VOL. XX, No. 10

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1924

PRICE FIVE CENTS

PENN STATE OPENS PORTALS TO ALUMNI

Mass Meeting at Six-forty-five Tonight Will Open Entertainment—Many Events Carded for Week-end

Following the mass meeting... The student body of the week-end portals to start off with plenty of "fun" and "grip" with the mass meeting...

BIG MASS MEETING SET FOR TONIGHT

The mass meeting in the Auditorium tonight is scheduled for six-forty-five o'clock. Doors will not be open before six-thirty.

BOOTERS TO OPEN SEASON TOMORROW

Syracuse Tilt Among Hardest on Schedule—To Be Called at Ten on New Beaver

FINAL BLUE AND WHITE LINE-UP IS UNDECIDED

According to all indications, the opening tilt of the Blue and White footers with the strong Syracuse team tomorrow morning at ten o'clock on New Beaver Field will be the hardest on the schedule.

Tentative Line-up

Working with different combinations during the past practice games, Leonard will probably send the following team on the field to meet the Syracuse footers: goal—Helmlich.

PENN STATE GLEE CLUB SELECTS NEW MEMBERS

Group Holds Intensive Rehearsals With but Two Weeks Left Before First Concert

With but two weeks remaining prior to Pennsylvania Day, the Penn State Glee Club is rapidly perfecting its program for the annual concert to be held in the Auditorium on Saturday evening, November eighth.

On The Gridiron

Penn State vs. Syracuse Pitt vs. Carnegie Tech Penn vs. Virginia Navy vs. W. Va. Wesleyan Thiel vs. Marietta Princeton vs. Notre Dame Harvard vs. Dartmouth Yale vs. Brown Wash. & Jeff. vs. Lafayette Centre vs. West Virginia Army vs. Boston College Michigan vs. Wisconsin Ohio State vs. Chicago Iowa vs. Minnesota Idaho vs. Stanford Georgia Tech vs. Alabama

Eleven Men and Their Responsibility

(EDITORIAL)

Penn State will face Syracuse University tomorrow afternoon on New Beaver Field in the biggest home game of the season. Hosts of graduates are returning for the game in celebration of Alumni Home Coming Day.

Syracuse is coming to State College supremely confident of winning from Penn State. Critics all agree that the New Yorkers should easily do what Georgia Tech did a week ago.

The determination of whether or not tomorrow will witness a real Penn State fight, from whistle to whistle, rests squarely upon the shoulders of eleven men—the players who will be sent into the game as representatives of Penn State.

The student body is putting the responsibility right up to the members of the football squad. They want each and every player who enters that game tomorrow to realize that he is shouldering the responsibility of making good for Penn State.

Penn State gridiron warriors, it is up to you. The coaches have done their part and done it well. They can do no more. The students and alumni are solidly behind you and will carry on to their best ability during the sixty minutes of play.

When your opponent charges hard, you must charge harder. When he runs fast, you must run faster. And Penn State players must fight, fight, fight for every minute, every second, of that game.

SCORE OF YEARLINGS GIVEN HEARINGS BEFORE TRIBUNAL

A large number of cruel, teasing and taunting incidents, and for the first time in the history of the Student Tribunal last Wednesday evening in Room 311 of Old Main.

Twenty-eight men appeared before the body, and twenty-four sentences were pronounced, each as much as to the ears of the visitors than to the auditory organs of the victims.

New Men Ask Exemption

The first case to be called was that of R. Foxell '27, who had taken a semester of first-year regulations at both Pitt and Penn State.

Penalized For Not Cheering

Accused of not cheering at athletic contests, Samuel Yoffee will shame out of his shoulder for two weeks at a game reading "Ask me to give a College yell" Yoffee also was directed to write out each College cheer twenty-five times.

Dual Personality

The first dual personality of the year was viewed in the person of E. C. Dell.

BEZDEK UNCERTAIN OF NITTANY LINE-UP ON EVE OF SYRACUSE BATTLE—YEARLINGS CLASH WITH KISKI TOMORROW MORNING

Freshman Eleven Receives Acid Test in Black and White Grid Aggregation

"DUTCH" MAKES SHIFTS IN REGULAR LINE-UP

Lungren and McGrath Are Hurt in Game—McLinn Reports for Daily Scrimmage

One of the severest tests in store for the Penn State freshmen gridiron comes tomorrow morning when they meet the powerful Kiski eleven at ten o'clock on Old Beaver Field.

Line scrimmage took considerable time of the yearling mentor in efforts to improve the cooperation which was lacking in recent encounters.

Serubs Hold Regulars

Practice games on Tuesday and Wednesday nights between the first and second teams were hotly contested and the scrubs put up a strong defense.

Boopke broke through the line for fifty yards and placed the ball behind the goal posts. Time and time again the scrubs held the first stringers with a virtual "stone wall" defense.

Line-up Changes

According to a statement by "Dutch," several changes will be made in tomorrow's line-up. Krull, who has been holding down one of the terminal positions, is slow on the defense and Paulie will start in his place.

REGULAR CLASSES TO BE HELD TOMORROW

In a statement last night, President John M. Thomas verified his statement made in Senate Meeting last Thursday, that no modification would be made in the College Calendar and that classes will continue as usual tomorrow morning.

Lion Coach

HUGO BEZDEK

FRATERNITY MEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Economic Phases of House Party Discussed—Senior Week Report Presented

BAN ON VISITING WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

In its first regular meeting of the year, held last Tuesday night in the Sigma Nu House, the Penn State Inter-fraternity Conference discussed plans for the coming year and appointed executive committee.

President C. W. Taylor '25 spoke fondly on the matter of interfraternity visits at houses other than their own during classes and stressed the fact that this custom has been a rough almost during the present year.

SECOND STATE POULTRY SHOW GETS UNDER WAY

Entries of Six Hundred and Fifty Birds Received—Silver Cups Offered as Prizes

With over eight hundred and fifty entries, the second Penn State Standard Poultry Show is well under way in the Stock Building Pavilion on campus.

FOR THE ALUMNI'S APPROVAL

Table with columns for Penn State and Syracuse players, listing names and statistics.

Coach Meehan's Veteran Eleven Invades Penn State for Alumni Day Game

FILACK AND FLOCK WILL APPEAR ON FIRST TEAM

Visitors Boast Clean Slate This Season—One Thousand Orange Rooters To Make Trip

On the eve of Penn State's greatest Alumni Day grid battle, Hugo Bezdek, master mind of Blue and White football teams for years, is undecided on his line-up.

ENG. SCHOOL TO STAGE EXHIBIT TOMORROW

Penn State Technical Students Prepare Attractions for Annual Show

The Third Annual Exhibit of the School of Engineering will be held tomorrow morning during school hours, with each division of the school showing examples of its work.

Collegian Sponsors Presidential Straw Vote Next Tuesday

In keeping with the action taken by student publications in every part of the United States, the COLLEGIAN will conduct a presidential straw vote on the campus next week for the purpose of determining student reaction toward the three leading candidates.

1925 AND FACULTY INVITED TO SMOKER

All seniors and faculty members are invited to attend the Alumni smoker in the Armory tomorrow evening at eight-thirty o'clock.

APPLICATIONS FOR CARNEGIE TICKETS

Application blanks for Carnegie Tech game tickets will be given out at the Treasurer's Office today and tomorrow during school hours only.

Collegian Sponsors Presidential Straw Vote Next Tuesday

In keeping with the action taken by student publications in every part of the United States, the COLLEGIAN will conduct a presidential straw vote on the campus next week for the purpose of determining student reaction toward the three leading candidates.

1925 AND FACULTY INVITED TO SMOKER

All seniors and faculty members are invited to attend the Alumni smoker in the Armory tomorrow evening at eight-thirty o'clock.

APPLICATIONS FOR CARNEGIE TICKETS

Application blanks for Carnegie Tech game tickets will be given out at the Treasurer's Office today and tomorrow during school hours only.