

Penn State Collegian

Published semi-weekly during the College year by students of the Pennsylvania State College, in the interest of Students, Faculty, Alumni, and Friends of the College.

EDITORIAL STAFF

W. L. Pratt '25 Editor-in-Chief
J. H. Lum '25 Assistant Editor
H. S. Morris '25 Managing Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. W. Cohen '26 H. L. Kellner '26 R. A. Shaner '26
W. J. Durbin '26 R. T. Kriebel '26 A. K. Smith '26
Women's Editor Miss M. Farley '26

BUSINESS STAFF

J. H. McCulloch '25 Business Manager
J. M. Fisher '25 Advertising Manager
H. C. Body '25 Circulation Manager

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

G. E. Drummond '26 T. Cain, Jr. '26 G. L. Guy '26

The Penn State COLLEGIAN invites communications on any subject of college interest. Letters must bear the signatures of the writers. It assumes no responsibility, however, for sentiments expressed under this head and reserves the right to exclude any whose publication would be palpably inappropriate. All copy for Tuesday's issue must be in the office by ten a. m. on Monday, and for Friday's issue, by ten a. m. Thursday.

Subscription price: $2.50, if paid before January 1st, 1925. After January 1st, 1925, $2.75.

Entered at the Postoffice, State College, Pa. as second class matter.
Office: Nittany Printing and Publishing Co. Building.
Telephone: 292W, Bell.

Member of Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

News Editor this issue H. L. KELLNER

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1924

SCHOLARSHIP AND ACTIVITIES

"Spirit, Mind and Body," is the slogan of the Young Men's Christian Association, and in these words are contained a message to college students who are seeking scholastic attainment and at the same time are engaged in extra-curriculum activities.

Nothing in this world can be successfully conducted without a happy coordination of the big three essential qualifications embodied in man: spirit, mind and body. Worked in unison these three fundamentals can be made to accomplish wonders, singly they count for little. These are the qualities that the business man looks for in an applicant for a position. These are the things that the coach looks for in the football candidate; they are the things that the college professor looks for in the student, and unhappy to say, are often found wanting.

Not that the student lacks either spirit, mind or body but it is so often the case that the three have not been trained in to a whole. That is to say that there is an over-development of one, while the other is neglected. It is often the case with the athlete that the body is trained to perfection while the mind, with reference to scholarship, is forced to take a secondary place. On the other hand some men are prone to neglect their physical attainment and hence become book worms. One extreme is as bad as the other.

College students are wont to run to extremes in matters of this nature. They either indulge too extensively in outside activities or else they disregard them entirely and devote their entire attention to their studies. While "all work and no play will make Jack a dull boy," it is also true that all play and no work will flunk him out at college.

After all the arguments have been heard pro and con on the subject of what constitutes a well bred man, the main point that can not be refuted is scholastic attainment. The colleges of the country endeavor to give a man the broadest and most practical scholastic equipment with which to attain success in business. For the most part it is left up to the individual to secure development along physical and other lines as best he will.

The institutions of higher learning have all been promulgated with the idea of educating men and women. It is to be supposed, therefore, that men go to college to secure first an education, and secondly to develop along other lines to the best of their ability. There is a happy medium consisting of scholastic attainment and non-curriculum activities, that can be worked out to a perfect balance. The best time to start such a system, for it requires much planning and work, is the first year of collegiate life. Freshman, your opportunity is at hand.

Whatever is attempted along this line it is well to remember this: Being the most versatile athlete or "activities man" in college will help you to future success, but it alone will not enable you to obtain a diploma—that takes scholastic attainment.

A SPIRIT WEEK

Cognizance has been made that Penn State Spirit needs awakening, and needs it now. A general attitude of indifference, coupled with individualistic desires for campus power and recognition, has been observed and various attempts have been made to curtail and combat this feeling.

This deplorable state of mind has been occasioned by a lack of cooperation among the undergraduates. With the curtailment and revision of class scraps, Poster Night, and mass meetings there seems to have been born a disregard for unified action on the part of the student body. The revisions have been made with good intention and undoubtedly are for the best, but the change in behavior has been in the opposite direction.

The revival of Penn State Spirit must come from the undergraduates. No amount of harranguing will bring the spirit back on the campus. What is needed is a marshalling of forces with the idea of working toward one definite goal. It can be accomplished by having a Penn State Spirit Week now instead of in the Spring. It is needed now. Let's revive the dormant issue; let's have a Spirit Week.

THE PENN GAME

Notice is directed to the news contained in this issue of the COLLEGIAN regarding a special train to accommodate Penn State students to the Penn State-University of Pennsylvania football game at Philadelphia on November fifteenth.

The COLLEGIAN offers its office for the use of those students, faculty and townspeople who wish to register for these special accommodations offered by the railroad company. All applications for transportation must be turned in not later than Monday, November third.

Gridiron Gossip

The jungle clash between the Lion and the Gaur tomorrow promises to even surpass "Tarzan of the Apes."

Fulwell lost four regulars this week on account of deficiency in their studies. Which proves nothing about examinations.

In practice the other night, Prevoost kicked six out of nine placement goals from the thirty-five-yard mark.

Football will have to take a back seat after while if this cross-word puzzle craze keeps up.

Since Pitt has been losing pretty regularly, the Pittsburgh sport pages are still devoting their columns to the baseball scandal.

Georgia Tech has a stiff assignment for tomorrow. The Golden Tornado clashes with the great Notre Dame team.

Which reminds us that Penn is anxious to meet Knute Rockne's aggregation next season. No doubt that such an attraction would prove a popular one.

This "Red" Grange, famous University of Illinois halfback, is getting more publicity nowadays than Gloria Swanson.

The football world will probably have one more defeated team after tomorrow's battle between Lafayette and Penn.

Neutral critics the country over favor Lafayette to win.

An optimist, the fourth-string halfback, breaking into his first big game, who receives the kick-off twenty yards behind his own goal line and starts tumbling with the ball.

But a bigger optimist is the coach who would still keep him in the game.

There's sort of a hidden feeling down at Pittsburgh that Pitt will take Syracuse's measure tomorrow.

"Eas" Gray will probably do some punting in the Navy game tomorrow if "Charley" Licht doesn't break into the line-up.

Out of tribute to "Percy" Haughton, whose sudden death was a shock to the entire football world, Columbia will continue its grid schedule.

Harry Wilson gets his first chance against one of the Big Three since 1921 when Yale and Army meet tomorrow.

Is there anything in a name? There's a fellow named Booz playing center for Lafayette.

Notice. One Penn State pennant on back entitled bearer to free passage to Annapolis.

DUAL CAST REHEARSES PLAYERS' PRODUCTION

First Performance of "Kempy" To Be Given at Penn State Late Next Month

Under the direction of A. C. Cloetgh, the Penn State Players are rapidly rounding into shape their first production of the year, "Kempy," a three-act comedy by J. C. and Elliot Nugent. "Kempy" will be staged at Penn State for the first time November twenty-first in the Auditorium, and will also be presented here sometime in January.

Mr. Cloetgh has selected a double cast for the production and both groups have been making good progress. Just which cast will present the initial showing has not been determined as yet and likely will not be announced until the week of the performance. "Kempy" will also be the road show for the year and arranged

TODAY—
THOMAS MEIGHAN
In "The Alaskan"
BEN TURPIN
In "Reel Vergilina"

SATURDAY—
VIOLA DANA
In "Revolution"
News Weekly

EASTIME THEATRE—
FRIDAY and SATURDAY
BETTY COMPTON
In "The Enemy Sex"
Will Rogers in "Geo. Whiz Genevieve"

MONDAY and TUESDAY—
The Mammoth Spectacle
"THE SEA HAWK"
Continuous showing daily 1:30-11 p. m.
Adults, 50c; Children, 25c.

JUST ARRIVED
A new line of suitings made to your measure
Suits and Overcoats
Price $35.00
GERNERD, The Tailor

ments are being made for presentation in several cities.
The story of the play centers about "Kempy" James, a young plumber who has aspirations of becoming a famous architect. "Kempy" has previously read a book which has impressed him very much and he vows that if he ever meets the authoress he will marry her. On a plumbing job one day, he meets the authoress and on the strength of the similarities of thought between them, they marry at once. Difficulties arise after the marriage, and "Kempy" discovers that he does not love his wife as much as he thought he did. The plot leads on through many complications and humorous scenes and finally reaches a very unusual finish, but one that is highly satisfactory.

FOUND—Men's coats, vests and trousers. Owner may have them by identifying and paying for ad. Call at 245 Allen Street.

FOR RENT—Corner room with three windows in new house. Two girls preferred. Call 288-M. 10-31-24.

SENIOR GEOLOGISTS TO VISIT OLD NICKEL MINE ON TOUR
The senior Geologists' inspection trip began Wednesday with a visit to the old Gap Nickel Mine at Lancaster, Pennsylvania. This is an old mine of little commercial value but of much geological importance. The students will also study the geological formations around Lancaster as part of their work. C. A. Hoime, professor of Geology, will meet the seniors at Lancaster, and accompany them on their trip. As now arranged, the students will return to State College Sunday, November second.

POSITION WANTED—Lady desires position as cook or assistant cook at a fraternity house. Can furnish best references. Call 194-R.

OUR PIANO TUNER Mr. Green, who has been in town until Nov. 7. Leave orders here by Nov. 5. Music Room, Phone 65.

LOST—Will person who held my watch on Thursday noon of Stunt Night on Co-op Corner leave same at Hut.—John N. Chattaway, 306P street.

Visit the Purity Tea Room

For your
Luncheon or Dinner

Tables reserved for dance parties
from 10:00 until 12:00 P. M.

Records out today

(Rose-Marie) } Paul Whiteman's Orchestra
(My Road) }
(Sweet Little You) } Henry Halstead's Orch.
(If I Stay Away Too Long from Carolina) } Art Hickman's Orch.
(Go Your Way and I'll Go Mine) } Glen Oswald's Sorenaders
(Oh! Peter) }

THE MUSIC ROOM

After Six

There's Styleage and Mileage In Montgomerys' Dinner Jacket

There is one store in every city, which by the high and unchanging character of its merchandise comes to be regarded as a custodian of quality and whose word is law on the niceties of correct apparel. Men who want Clothes with the custom cost will like these Adler-Rochester Tuxedos at

$ 45

Others at $25.00 to $75.00

Seal-Peak or shawl collar styles—material is fine worsted, loomed for dress wear; luxurious silk linings used literally throughout—the trousers silk braided. You couldn't ask for finer detail.

Accessories That Provide the Proper Finishing Touch

Waistcoats of Brocaded Silk - 6-15 White Pearl Studs and Cuff Links 2.00
Pleated Soft Bosom Shirts - - 3-4 Bow Ties Made Up or Bat Wings 1.00-1.50
Fine Gauge Black Silk Hose 75c-2.50

MONTGOMERY & CO.

STATE COLLEGE, PA.