

Penn State Collegian

Published semi-weekly during the College year by students of the Pennsylvania State College, in the interest of Students, Faculty, Alumni and Friends of the College

EDITORIAL STAFF

W. L. Pratt '25	Editor-in-Chief
J. H. Linn '25	Assistant Editor
H. S. Morris '25	Managing Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

H. W. Cohen '26	H. L. Kellner '26	R. A. Shiner '26
W. J. Dublin '26	R. T. Kibbel '26	A. K. Smith '26
Women's Edition	Miss M. Farley '26

BUSINESS STAFF

I. H. McCulloch '25	P. A. S. Manager
T. M. Pyles '25	Advertising Manager
R. C. Rudy '25	Circulation Manager

ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS

G. B. Brumfield '26	T. C. H. '26	G. L. Gus '26
---------------------	--------------	---------------

REPORTERS

W. F. Adler '27	G. J. Fisher '27	W. P. Reed '27
H. N. Belling '27	S. H. Grossman '27	W. L. Wagner '27
H. H. Coleman '27	U. W. Howard '27	H. G. Womsey '27
	S. L. Kistulish '27

The Penn State COLLEGIAN invites communications on any subject of college interest. Letters must bear the signature of the writer. It assumes no responsibility, however, for sentiments expressed in the LETTER BOX and reserves the right to exclude any whose publication would be palpably inappropriate. Names of contributors will, however, be regarded as confidential upon request. All copy for Tuesday's issue must be in the office by ten o'clock Monday, and for Friday's issue, by ten o'clock Thursday.

Subscription price: $2.50, if paid before January 1st 1925. After January 1st, 1925, $2.75.

Entered at the Postoffice at State College, Pa., as second class matter, Office: Nitony Printing and Publishing Co. Building Telephone: 292-W, Bell.

Member of Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

News Editor this issue: R. A. SHANER

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1925

DON'T BE RASH—THINK!

President Thomas, in commenting upon the action of the College Senate in regard to its reaffirmation of the Senior Week program, has appealed for student support and asks "all friends of the college to get back of whatever program may be finally adopted, and to defer any further discussion of the points which have been at issue, until the College has tried out the new idea."

The Senior Week program which the undergraduate body attempted to have abolished is the new idea. According to President Thomas, "Plans will proceed rapidly for the formation of a Commencement program of the new sort." Just what will be embodied in any new proposals to take the place of the suggested Commencement Program, which has been defeated by Senate action, is hard to prophesy.

The President is right when he says that "iraterpity leaders have been quite active in trying to harmonize a house party program with the proposed Commencement program, keeping in mind the best interests of the College." Penn State men always have had the best interests of their Alma Mater in mind while attempting to solve this problem.

For their interest he says, they are to be congratulated, "and the fact that the College Senate has decided against them on an issue which has two well-supported sides, should not anger them unduly or dampen their loyalty."

Any argument which is well-supported and which has been dedicated cannot readily be forgotten. There has been no act of disloyalty to Penn State by the exceptions taken to the Senior Week program by the undergraduates. The student body has attempted to solve its own problem by employing an inherent quality of originality which ever has been characteristic of this, a democratic institution.

The COLLEGIAN has tried to present undergraduate sentiment on the problem, but an undercurrent of disapproval is running throughout the ranks of the student body which does not indicate that the support which has been asked will be forthcoming, or that if it is, it will not be with a truly Penn State spirit. This feeling should either be quieted or brought openly and plainly to the front so that all differences may be adjusted.

The best advice that can be given at this critical moment is: don't be rash, think!

HELP WANTED—MALE AND FEMALE

About two months ago the COLLEGIAN issued its first call for freshman reporters and at that time forty-six men and women signed up for the six-weeks course in elementary journalism which was arranged and conducted for their benefit. With the completion of the course it was found that twenty-two had survived the preliminary work. Yet not one of the missing twenty-four newspaper aspirants was discharged!

Here is evidence which substantiates the statement that a large percentage of college failures result from laziness and carelessness. Much hard work is required by this newspaper of its reporters. For those candidates who automatically quit their jobs because of laziness, we have no place.

Another opportunity is offered the freshmen to join the reporter ranks of the COLLEGIAN. To relate the benefits that can be derived from four years of journalism would require a book in itself. For those men and women who are anxious to enter some line of activity that will be both instructive and interesting, there is no better field than that offered by the COLLEGIAN.

If you, freshman, are willing to work and if you desire a field that will develop your facilities to the best advantage, report at the office tonight at seven o'clock.

THE WAY OF A SMILE

Penn State's "Hello" is heralded from coast to coast. It is a distinctive characteristic of this institution as well as a highly commendable custom. Years back, a proper-thinking student government inaugurated the plan of students greeting each other with "Hello" and the passing years have seen the firm establishment of this practice. However, Penn State's salutation is not perfect and a little formula is suggested for its improvement. The formula is short and is simply this: "Accompany each 'Hello' with a smile."

The student who, upon meeting one of his classmates, looks up with a frown, mutters an unrecognizable "Hello" and passes on, probably thinks he has done the other fellow a favor by his salutation. But it is the fellow who walks briskly, his face wreathed in a hearty smile, that gives one a feeling that the salutation was a hearty and personal greeting.

And so that man passes, but he is not easily forgotten for as you pass the next student, a big smile will unconsciously creep over your face and a real Penn State "Hello" will be forthcoming. It's contagious.

A smile requires no effort. Just an upward turn of the corners of the mouth and that's all there is to it. But it is surprising how much better it makes one feel, and how many additional friends one gains by it. To quote a well-known song writer, "A smile will go a long, long way."

Letter Box

To the Editor, Penn State COLLEGIAN, State College, Pa.

"For the Glory of Old State!" What poignant memories these words bring back to anyone who has been around the old school for three or four years! And what sadness in the realization of the fact that these days are gone—never to return—again! Yet these words originated back in the days when Penn State was old Penn State and when Penn State men were men capable of guiding the destiny of their Alma Mater.

This arouses your fighting spirit and I should, for we feel that we are capable of leadership of some good judgment, and of honesty of purpose.

And with this in mind the burning questions with every Penn State student at the present time are: "Why should the student be ignored in every request he makes?" Why does the Senate completely disregard the actions of the Student Council? Why do we have to have so many rules and regulations in a College which is supposed to be proud of her student government? Indeed, these are a thousand and one other questions which are being asked by many of us. We are not so much into our minds as we are into our hearts. We are not so much into our heads as we are into our hearts. We are not so much into our heads as we are into our hearts.

We talk of spirit, but is it the spirit of the old days? Is there the old spirit existing in Penn State today? It is a question which arises in the mind of every student who is a member of the Penn State community. We are not so much into our heads as we are into our hearts. We are not so much into our heads as we are into our hearts.

Yes, indeed, we sympathize with you deeply and suggest that you may be able to win the little lady if you send her this issue of the Collegian.

Since we have finished both of our papers, we wonder if the other will pick them up on a lead for the next victim.

All the letters which have developed among the Dear Brothers in Commencement have been published.

What is the world becoming with most my letter and continuing is many letters about the meaning something which has never been used to adorn the little bits of the campus of college men.

Gradually Penn State is becoming automatic and we the students like any other people who find themselves being subjected to more and more automatic jurisdiction are at the point of rebellion. Perhaps the undergraduate do not see this change and I am unlikely that they should but the fact is that they have been around here for four years and they are taking place and making us Penn State men and women who are not a part of the school here at Penn State and prep school in these regulations to college men everywhere.

In writing this letter I am merely obeying an urge which has been put upon me for several years and which sooner or later was bound to break forth in one form or another. It is intended to let the faculty in particular and the world in general know how a great many Penn State men feel about the continual usurpation of the student's privileges by the faculty.

Penn State is young and therefore cannot expect much support from her alumni, but the day is not far in the future when the graduates will become a large feature in the financial support of the college. Is it not essential therefore, that Penn State should instill into the hearts of each and every student on the campus that love and unselfish devotion which my alumnus of any college should have for his Alma Mater?

Frankly we are missing that at Penn State for who can show devotion to an institution which does nothing to instill within the hearts of its students that sense of devotion and loyalty so essential to such love?

Sincerely,
A SENIOR

PRIZE OFFERED WINNER OF CHEMISTRY CONTEST

One thousand dollars will be offered by the American Chemical Society to the winner of the second prize, essay contest, the essay to be written on topics as announced by them.

One of six subjects may be written upon: The Relation of Alchemy to Health and Disease, The Relation of Chemistry to the Enrichment of Life, The Relation of Chemistry to Agriculture and Industry, The Relation of Chemistry to National Defense, The Relation of Chemistry to the Home, The Relation of Chemistry to the Development of an Industry of Importance of the United States.

Essays should not exceed five thousand words, and must be in the hands of the Essay Committee on or before March first. Students of all colleges and universities are eligible.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

What a modern Dickens to seek a man who knows whether he is going to have the only one for Senior Week or for that little House of Commons will be fulfilled owing to the fact that he may disregard the individual opinion.

A sophomore told us a sad story the other day about finding himself in a hole in a pavement. Some time ago he had his job to attend June Houseparty and had found it necessary to cancel the invitation.

I think that's off of once—much as it hurts me. If you remember correctly I asked you to be my guest at this year's June Houseparty. Well, the College Senate met, and voted to have only a two-day party in June and to permit only the freshmen to attend. This means that I will be forced to leave Penn State in mid-July after my examinations. I am only a sophomore, you know.

June you cannot possibly imagine how badly I feel about this but you can't do except well I make up for it when I get home.

In due course of time this may trouble its answer. My dear Helpless, You needn't bother making up for it when you get home. My home will not be one to you. I am not making you pin.

In the first place, I never did care for you and was merely kidding you when I said that I would come. In the second place, I don't think you are telling me the truth and saying I like you and that little blonde have a VERY PLEASANT time at June Houseparty.

Received and etc. with disgust. JANE

Yes, indeed, we sympathize with you deeply and suggest that you may be able to win the little lady if you send her this issue of the Collegian.

Since we have finished both of our papers, we wonder if the other will pick them up on a lead for the next victim.

All the letters which have developed among the Dear Brothers in Commencement have been published.

What is the world becoming with most my letter and continuing is many letters about the meaning something which has never been used to adorn the little bits of the campus of college men.

Gradually Penn State is becoming automatic and we the students like any other people who find themselves being subjected to more and more automatic jurisdiction are at the point of rebellion. Perhaps the undergraduate do not see this change and I am unlikely that they should but the fact is that they have been around here for four years and they are taking place and making us Penn State men and women who are not a part of the school here at Penn State and prep school in these regulations to college men everywhere.

In writing this letter I am merely obeying an urge which has been put upon me for several years and which sooner or later was bound to break forth in one form or another. It is intended to let the faculty in particular and the world in general know how a great many Penn State men feel about the continual usurpation of the student's privileges by the faculty.

Penn State is young and therefore cannot expect much support from her alumni, but the day is not far in the future when the graduates will become a large feature in the financial support of the college. Is it not essential therefore, that Penn State should instill into the hearts of each and every student on the campus that love and unselfish devotion which my alumnus of any college should have for his Alma Mater?

Frankly we are missing that at Penn State for who can show devotion to an institution which does nothing to instill within the hearts of its students that sense of devotion and loyalty so essential to such love?

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Write Your Name with SANFORD'S INK. It Will Last Forever.

Did YOU Know—

That the first co-eds, six in number, were admitted to Penn State in 1871?

That the formal garden in front of the Botany Building was planned and laid out by students in 1862?

And that this design has never since been changed?

That a book of selected 1886 readings, coming from the pens of President Thomas and Professor Espenshade, was published as "Christmas Time"?

That Penn State was originally known as the Farmers' High School?

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

EXTRA SPECIAL 39^C LB

Candyland

See HANN & O'NEAL

For Pearl Set S Pins, Crests Seals and Jewelry in general

Opposite Front Campus

SKIS Ash, Maple and Pine

TOBOGGANS 5 to 12 foot lengths

SKI WAX

The Athletic Store

On Co-Op. Corner

FELLOWS

Here is your chance to buy

Society Brand, Braeburn and Statler Overcoats at Great Reductions.

$55. SOCIETY Brand Overcoats now $38.50

$47.50 BRAEBURN Overcoats now 36.50

$45. STATLER Overcoats now 32.50

Other makes as low as 24.00

$28.50 Knitted Top Coats 17.50

Sheep-lined Coats as low as 12.00

One lot $9. Crawford Oxfords 4.95

($6.50 Knitted Top Coats) 4.55

Knitted Sport Coats

$6.50 Corduroy Trousers 5.00

THE QUALITY SHOP M. FROMM

Always Reliable Opposite Front Campus since 1912

NEW APPLIANCES GIVEN TO DAIRY DEPARTMENT

A set of the latest improved type of instruments for measuring dairy cattle, has been received by the Dairy Husbandry Department for use in co-operation with the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

But is being collected in an attempt to place the judging of dairy cattle on a more scientific basis, but it will be several weeks before the results of these tests will be known.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.

The Dairy Husbandry Department is pleased to have received these instruments from the United States Bureau of Dairy Production.