CORNELL MATMEN WILL CLASH WITH LIONS TOMORROW

Nittany Grapplers Make Trip to Ithaca for One of Season's Hardest Contests

LINE-UP OF OPPOSING TEAMS IS ANNOUNCED

Penn State Seven Undergoes Minor Reverse in Condition—Practice Strenuous

The first foreign meet of its 1925 schedule, the Penn State wrestling team will journey to Ithaca, New York, where the Lion grapplers will clash with the Cornell mat team at eight o'clock tomorrow night. The Nittany team will leave State College this afternoon for the New York trip.

While it has met no telling opposition so far this year, Cornell promises one of the hardest meets on the Lion card. Coached by "Buck" Cornell, reputed to be one of the best in the game, the New Yorkers have presented stiff battles to Penn State mat teams in years past, and before the advent of the Blue and White into the Intercollegiate League, the Cornellians were acclaimed champs in seven out of twelve Intercollegiate contests.

As They Line Up
For Cornell it is probable that Loeb will wrestle in the 115 pound class, Child in 125, and Glor in 135. Penn is slated as the entry for the 115 pound bout. Partee for the 125 pound weight, Howard for the 135 pound class, and it is probable that Affelt will face Prevez in the unlimited division.

On the Penn State side, it is probable that Oester will wrestle in the 115 pound class, Linhart in 125, and Bill Black in 135. Penn State will wrestle at 128 pounds, Lumbraugh will be the choice at 175 pounds, and Prevez will complete the Nittany list in the unlimited class.

Cornell Dope
In their last week's meet with Springfield College, Massachusetts, the Cayugas appropriated three falls and three decisions to one tumble for the New England collegian. The opponents of the Blue and White thoroughly did their job in a knowledge of how to get the best of the Cornellians. Coach Leonard is one of the strongest supporting teams on the Penn State program.

Three years ago the Ithacans used a iron couch hold and it was won as an effective method of keeping in opponent down on the mat. Dislocated last season, Cornell has again put this hold into the Cornell game and it was used to good effect against Springfield last week. The match lasted 15 to 9 by Penn State. The New York team was at that time composed largely of sophomores, five of these latter men having returned this year. Cornell is said to be one of the strongest coaches in collegiate wrestling and it is expected that the Lion aggregation will face Cornell tomorrow.

TWO MILE MEDLEY TEAM RUNS IN NEW YORK MEET

Four Colleges Enter Teams for Special Event—Helfrich and Moore to Run

Competing against teams from Columbia and Georgetown universities and Boston College, a formidable Penn State two-mile medley relay team will take the boards for the first time in the current indoor track season tomorrow night at the annual New York Athletic Club meet in Madison Square Garden, New York City.

Coach Nate Cartmel has been supervising the training of the distance men for some time in preparation for this meet and according to his expectations, the Lion runners should give a creditable exhibition tomorrow evening. The race, which is composed of two quarters, a half, and one mile, will be run against collegiate competition, since it is the tendency of the N. Y. A. C. to bring the college entries to the fore.

Freshmen To Hold "Y" Social Tonight

Having secured two successful socials, the freshmen Y cabin will hold a third affair for the entertainment of all venturers whose names begin with either D, F, or G at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house, tonight at seven o'clock.

The first function staged by the cabin was attended by some thirty-five of the first year men in order to inaugurate the attendance, cards were sent to each Y-cabing who was to be present for that social. These action raised the number of Y's at the next affair. Games of various kinds have been used as a means of providing pleasant evening for those present and according to W. R. Vogelz 28, who has charge of the entertainment, they have met with approval from the venturers.

NEW CUB QUINTET FACES BUCKNELL

"Killy" Makes Radical Changes in Lineup—Roepke Will Start at Forward

INCOMING YEARLINGS TURN OUT FOR DAILY PRACTICE

Disatisfied with the performance of his freshman quintet and seeking a recombination of greater scoring ability, Coach Glenn Killinger will throw new and novel ideas on the floor tomorrow night when the cub faces the Bucknell yeomanries at eight o'clock on the Armory floor.

Following the loss of last Saturday's clash to the Pitt phibes "Killy" immediately sought to look for a stronger offensive five. In the second half of the game with the Panther under-studies, the Nittany freshmen were able to attack but two field goals. The Lion quintet played the cure for his team's reversed huggos on the lack of a scoring punch.

Lineup for Start
The lineup that will probably start against the Lehigh boys tomorrow night is DeWolfe and Boat at the forwards, either Greene or Lungen at center, and VonNiels and McInn at the guards. This combination was used for the first time in Wednesday night's practice and gave good results both then and last night.

McInn has been shifted from his position in the back (Continued on third page)

NOVEL DECORATIONS TO FEATURE MILITARY BALL

Committee Sets Date for Next Ticket Sale—Chaperones Are Announced

With the selection of a novel and artistic decorating scheme, the plans for the military ball which is to be held next Friday evening in the Armory, are rapidly being completed. The ticket sale that was held last Wednesday night indicates that there will be a large attendance at this all-college dance.

The plans which have been chosen for decorating the Armory are of very unique and dignified character. In recognition of the birth of George Washington, all the decorations will be in red, white and blue. The scheme consists of a huge canopy of blue, covering the entire hall with white stars in it. This will be set off around the edges with red and white colors. Around the walls of the Armory there will be American bannets and company guidons placed alternately. A number of guns are to be placed in various points in order to lend it still more military aspect to the decorations. These will include one-pounders, machine guns, trench mortars and others.

PLAYERS SELECT ANNIVERSARY SHOW

"Children of the Moon" by Martin Flavin To Be Staged First Week of April

TRY-OUTS SLATED FOR MONDAY AND TUESDAY

"Children of the Moon," a three-act play by Martin Flavin, has been chosen by the Penn State Players for their next presentation to mark the fifth anniversary of the founding of the organization. It will be given in the Auditorium on Friday evening, April third.

The Players have had this drama under consideration for some time, but only this week did they actually begin to produce it. Flavin is very particular about the presentation of his plays and will allow few amateurs to stage them. In fact, the Penn State Players is the first organization to secure the rights to "Children of the Moon" since its original production in New York.

The plot of the play is built around a family which is peculiarly afflicted by the light of the moon. Although perfectly normal under ordinary conditions they become insane when the moon is full. This leads to situations which keep the audience in suspense and hold their interest throughout. Dealing with the weird and fantastic, and containing elements of the mysterious although not essentially a mystery, the play offers for an outside setting and exceptional acting. It will be given under the direction of A. C. Clough.

Try-outs for the cast will be held in the Player's office next Monday and Tuesday, between two-thirty and five o'clock. All students interested in acting are urged to try out at those times.

BAND REHEARSES FOR FIRST SUNDAY CONCERT

Glee Club Prepares Program for Second Attraction of Mid-Winter Course

At the first number of the annual mid-winter concert series, the Penn State Band will present a program in the Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, February twenty-second. The concert will be under the direction of W. O. Thompson, Bandmaster, and Danny Dever, '25, student director.

On the following Sunday the attention will be the Penn State Glee Club. The club has developed slowly this year but Director Grant feels that it has reached the stage that will permit it to work. The club's direction, tone and quality are considered to have improved over the first of the year.

MITMEN TRAVEL SOUTH TO FACE VIRGINIA BOXERS

Meet Scheduled After Syracuse Cancels—Charlottesville Is Scene of Conflict

HOUCK TAKES SQUAD OF SEVEN FISTMEN ON TRIP

Washington and Gans Vie for 125-pound Berth—"Bud" Bergman Wins Position

The Blue and White pugmen, en route with this morning, left for the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, where the first meet of the season will be staged tomorrow night at seven o'clock. A total of nine men, including Coach Houck and Manager R. D. Kistler '25, composed the party that headed southwards at five o'clock this morning.

Immediately after Syracuse cancelled the meet scheduled for Saturday, Manager Kistler wired the University of Virginia to fill the vacancy, asking that the clash be held at State College. Word was received from the Southern Institution Wednesday morning, stating that an open date existed on the schedule but that the authorities desired the meet to be held at Charlottesville. Coach Houck took advantage of the offer at once and the agreement was signed. It was his wish to give his men the Intercollegiate action as soon as possible, since he feared they might lose scale before the first meet.

Light Weights
After a somewhat strenuous set of exhibition bouts held during the middle of the week, Coach Houck was able to make his selections for each weight. For the bantams, McElreath still reigns supreme and will enter the meet tomorrow, as Penn State's choice for 115-pound honors. "Mac" has been training faithfully all season and is a result in the play of condition for this opening match.

The choice for the twenty-five pound berth lies between "Freddy" Washington and "Al" Gans. "Freddy" has been over-weight all season and has had a difficult task in getting down to his outdoor weight. Gans has been putting in a strong bid for the post and looked good in his recent trials. However, if Washington is able to tip the scales at the correct weight he will probably be chosen.

Wrest and Zerbe
For the 125-pound division the outstanding performer is Captain Wert. The Pittsburgh mauler has been anxiously waiting to the opening meet and promises to repeat his feats of last year.

BASEBALL BATTERY MEN WORK DAILY IN ARMORY

Varsity and Yearling Candidates Loosen-up in Preparation for Coming Season

With "Old Time Phillies" holding sway outdoors, the battery candidates for the varsity and freshman baseball squads are working out daily in the Armory under the direction of Coach Glenn Killinger. Killy has had the men loosening up their flinging arms to several receivers for the last few days so that they may loosen the delivery of their pitching batteries.

The first of the work done up to this time has been done the line of conditioning. The pitchers are tossing the pellets early to strengthen their wrists and are also being coached to develop a quick, hidden fast ball move.

Freshmen Out
Among the young candidates, A. J. Tosko and F. E. Harrington are the outstanding receivers. Both men having had a few years' experience on prep school lines. Russ Vannatta, a south-paw with a tricky, troublesome delivery, and Bluff Clough, a six-footer from Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, are coming along in the shape, and Killy expects both men to rival the freshmen this year.

NITTANY GRADUATE AIDS RESCUE AT SAND CAVE

This Anderson '22, a graduate of Penn State in the curriculum of mining geology, is among the group of rescuers attempting the release of Lloyd Collins entrapped in the Sand Cave in the Kentucky hills.

Anderson is employed by a southern concern to trace subterranean streams and on several occasions he worked with Collins. He was one of the first to enter the passageway of the cave in order to lay a surveyor's line necessary before the shaft could be sunk. During his career at Penn State Anderson was manager of track and a member of the Delta Upsilon and Sigma Gamma Epsilon fraternities.

LION TOSSERS OPPOSE LEBANON VALLEY FIVE

Coach Hermann May Start Second Team Tomorrow—Tilt Scheduled To Begin at Seven

When Penn State takes the floor against the Lebanon Valley quintet in the Armory tomorrow evening it is likely that the Nittany reserves will open the contest against the Annville five. Coach Hermann states this is not unduly emphasizing the strength of the visiting aggregation but the Lion members feel that the varsity should rest before the strenuous program of the following week.

A final decision probably will not be made until game time but if possible the reserve quintet will be chosen to start against the Valley tossers. The following week being clashes with Notre Dame Syracuse and Penn University it is desirable to lift the load from the first team whenever possible this week.

G. R. GREEN IS SPEAKER FOR NEXT L. A. LECTURE

Professor G. R. Green of the Department of Nature Study is preparing a number of new slides to be used in illustrating his lecture "Animals in White," which he will give in Old Chapel on February twenty-fourth as the second number of the Liberal Arts Lecture Course.

Professor Green's talk will deal with such animals as the ground hog, which hibernates during the winter, and the elk, which migrates from the higher altitudes to the valleys for the cold season. He will also explain how birds live through the winter. There will be about one hundred slides, nearly all of which will be colored.

"Y" OFFERS NOTED PIANIST AS FIFTH FEATURE TONIGHT

Harold Bauer Will Give Recital in Auditorium at Eight-fifteen O'clock

PROGRAM IS COMPOSED OF CLASSICAL NUMBERS

With five of the greatest composers of classical music represented on his program, Harold Bauer conceded a position of the highest rank among contemporary pianists, will appear in recital tonight in the Auditorium at eight-fifteen o'clock.

Tonight's performance will mark Mr. Bauer's first appearance at Penn State in his career of twenty-five years on the concert stage a period during which he has visited almost every nation in the world, playing before many types of audiences and winning from each his present popularity in the field of classical music.

Program is Classical
 Partita in B-flat, the first number on the program is a composition from Bach which Mr. Bauer has transcribed from the original score for his harp. This first number consists of a Prelude, Minuet, Saraband, Minuet, and Gigue. The next selection is the "Sonata Appassionata" composed by Beethoven and divided into three parts, the Allegro Assai, the Andante con Movimento, and the Finale. Mr. Bauer is a great admirer of this music and in his honor organized the Beethoven Society of New York City.

"Pavane" by Schubert and "Scherzo in C Sharp Minor" by Chopin are followed by pieces from the eighteenth century "Pavane, Minuet," "Ye Sweet Rites," "Mozart," "Duke in Nineteenth," "Mozart," which will close with Liszt's "March of the King."

The Beethoven Society, founded by Mr. Bauer, is composed of the leading musicians of the country and was organized with the idea of popularizing Beethoven's work. It meets once a week for the purpose of putting on a recital for the enjoyment of the members and raising of funds for research in the music field.

PENN STATE DELEGATES TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Fifty Students Will Represent College at Bucknell on February Twentieth

Fifty Penn State delegates will represent the Nittany Institution at the twentieth annual student-midwinter conference which will be held at Bucknell University from Friday afternoon, February twentieth to the twenty-second.

This convention is under the auspices and is held wholly by the members of the Inter-Collegiate Midwinter and New Jersey Union of Student Volunteers for their own benefit and also to that of the students who are interested in midwinter work. All colleges of this section are included in the organization except those of Philadelphia which form a separate group. The first session of the conference will be held in the Auditorium at State College on Friday afternoon, February twentieth at seven o'clock.

President Hunt Speaks
 E. W. Hunt, president of Bucknell will deliver the opening address. Dr. Walter Todd, acting secretary of the Student Volunteers for the midwinter conference will sound the keynote of the convention by speaking on the subject "What's the Midwinter Conference About?" In addition he will treat the midwinterological side of the work in his talk.

Professor M. H. Schuchman, co-chairman, will present the educational phase of the conference, while the technicalities of the conference will be discussed by the address of H. E. Anderson of India who will deal with the religious duties of the midwinter worker. A speech will be given by P. G. Gromer of the Bucknell faculty on "Philosophy of Life Work Decisions." The host of charge of the organization of the discussion groups since they were inaugurated that winter '23.

Bellefonte Academy Six Secured To Play at Novel Affair in Women's Building

Members of the Penn State Club Will Meet with the party tomorrow night in the Women's Building to form a committee to complete the unexpired term of the Bellefonte Academy Six.

The enthusiasm displayed by a large group of the members present at a meeting of the club last Monday night when the announcement of the organization was made, has resulted in the formation of a committee to complete the unexpired term of the Bellefonte Academy Six. The committee was organized on Tuesday night at seven o'clock in the date set for the next meeting of the organization. At this meeting an attempt will be made to set a definite date for the Academy dance.
