FALSE FRONTS

Perhaps one of the most outstanding characteristics of the American student received a telling blow from Dr. S. W. Fletcher...

Although Dr. Fletcher referred to the attitude of Penn State men toward the co-eds in this comment, it is not only in this instance that nitrate students...

For popularity among his classmates the formula of the American college student seems to be: Condemn everything under the wide heavens except your chosen few...

It is a truism, however, that without criticism progress in anything is impossible. Keen, clear-headed questioning, the query of youth dissatisfied with its surroundings...

If "razzing" is to be more than a false front, if it is to be worthy of the title of criticism, it must be the product of real facts and sound reason.

ROUGH SIDEWALKS

"These sidewalks are too rough, I'm going over on the other side where it's smoother," remarked a young boy of ten after his mother had presented him with a pair of roller skates...

So it is with the average college student of today. Rather than be humiliated in the eyes of society when he receives the opportunity to obtain an education...

The young lad on roller skates was not expected to become an expert on the rough sidewalks within a few days. He was supposed to remain at his task doggedly and become, not only an expert on the smooth, but on the uneven side as well.

"Your young men shall have visions," said the prophet, for he knew that to take away from youth the power of seeing visions and dreaming dreams was to destroy the future.

Abraham Lincoln had a vision. The Great Commoner, whose name shall ever be on the tongues of the American people, saw the rough sidewalks ahead and determined that he would overcome them.

Letter Box

To the Editor Penn State COLLEGIAN: Now that the flaming house-party season has begun to smoulder into ashes for want of more substantial fuel...

There is a sector of this front line from somewhere that each individual student can do more to take for Penn State than any other one person. Let each find that one place...

California Professor Writes College Novel: Many books have been written within recent years on college life and they have been widely read.

LETTERS OF A TOPICAN CELLAR-DIGGER

Why did you go away? I can't understand why you should do such a thing when I have successfully proved to you how much I am in demand by the prettiest girls and all the co-eds.

I am not asking this merely to satisfy my curiosity and desire, but to do a good turn to you without in doing so. Do you not realize that some beautiful girl is practically certain of being killed when the modern Venuses start fighting for me?

Thoughts of Others

APPRECIATION (The Variety)

One of the most helpful things in this world and perhaps one of the modest for us, thoughtless creatures that we are is the appreciation of a little bit of good in others especially in the people whom we see every day...

Did YOU Know— That sixteen Penn State faculty members had their names printed in the recent 1924-1925 issue of 'Who's Who'?
