

Penn State Collegian

Painted Faces On New Beaver Field

Prom, Poverty, Penitence.

VOL. XX, No. 53

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1925

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SUSQUEHANNA NINE TO INVADE NITTANY VALLEY TOMORROW

Blue and White Diamond Artists Work Hard in Preparation for Stiff Clash

MINOR LEAGUERS DOWN LION LAST WEDNESDAY

Williamsport Wins Out by 6 to 1 Score—McVicker Pulls Fielding Feature

Returning from a trip to Williamsport where they were handed a 6 to 1 defeat in the Williamsport Grays the Penn State batsmen will face the Susquehanna nine on New Beaver Field tomorrow afternoon at two-thirty o'clock.

Catch Glenn Killmer made a change in the lineup last Wednesday when he took Mahoff off the hot corner and substituted Thomas but it is likely that Mahoff will appear in the lineup when the Blue and White team takes the field tomorrow.

The Penn State sluggers were saved from a whitewash in last Wednesday's game when Lefty Page succeeded home in the sixth inning after the Williamsport moundmen made a wild pitch. It was the only run the Nittany team was able to make.

Coming to bat in the first inning the Nittany hitters were tossed out in short order. The last half of the final at bat proved disastrous for the visitors when the Williamsport nine loosened a barrage of hits and scored.

PLANS BEGUN FOR OLD MAIN BELL CAMPAIGN

L. S. Michael '25 Appointed Art Editor—Work on Make-up Nears Completion

With the work on the "dumms" begun and all of the material collected, the committee on the Old Main Bell has started to draw up plans for a subscription campaign to be launched soon. The magazine will be published about the third week of May.

The original price per copy was set at seventy-five cents, but if the subscription will probably be lowered to fifty cents. Details on campaign plans will be published later.

L. S. Michael '25 has been appointed art editor of the paper. A complete page of photographs of general campus interest will be printed. The cover of the magazine will be given with either blue or black lettering and a small cut of the Old Main tower is also being prepared for the front of the book.

A change has been made in the size of the paper which calls for ten and three-quarter by seven and three-quarter inches, a much smaller size than was originally planned.

Practically all the material that has been turned in will be used and according to present arrangements will be sent to the Gilt Publishing company at Williamsport at the end of next week. The contents will contain poems, short stories, essays on technical and popular subjects and a little humor.

There will probably be a literary criticism of the Thespian show included. The committee also plans to run a small amount of selected advertising.

If this issue of Penn State's literary magazine is a success another edition will be published during the early part of next semester. A new staff will be elected this spring.

In order to make the publication one that will be especially interesting to students the editors are making special effort to use as many articles written by undergraduates as possible.

Several prominent faculty members have contributed material, including short stories, sonnets, poems and essays. Miss Myrtle Gibbons, daughter of P. W. Gibbons of the English department has written an article telling of interesting phases of her recent trip around the world.

This magazine is being published with the view of placing the literary achievements of Penn State on a plane with those of other colleges and universities. It is the hope of the publication board, as well as the English department, that the students will back this movement and make the Old Main Bell a permanent institution at this college.

PROM-GOERS REVEL IN ARMORY TONIGHT

Jan Garber's Orchestra To Hold Forth From Nine Till Two—Black and White Rule in Colors

EX-GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK AT CHAPEL

Doctor Brumbaugh, One-time Head of State, To Address Next Sunday Service

AUTHOR AND EDUCATOR IS RENOWNED ORATOR

In securing Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh to address the chapel service Sunday morning the college authorities offer to Penn State students the opportunity to hear a man who is not only an unusually forceful speaker but one who has achieved noteworthy success in the fields of politics, education and literature.

Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh, one-time head of the state, to address next Sunday service.

Although it is one-time governor of the state that most Penn Stateans know of, Dr. Brumbaugh is much more than that. He has been a politician in limited to Pennsylvania while his reputation is in education and author is national.

Dr. Brumbaugh graduated from Juniata college in 1881 with the degree of B. A. He received his M. A. degree from the same institution in 1884, B. S. in 1885 and M. S. in 1887. He then attended the University of Pennsylvania where he earned his A. M. in 1888, and his Ph. D. was granted the next year.

Dr. Brumbaugh started on his career as an educator by discharging the duties of a prophet in without honor in his own county when he became superintendent of schools in his home town.

CUB SLUGGERS PRACTICE FOR INITIAL 1925 GAME

Bucknell Reserves Will Oppose Yearlings in Preliminary Tilt Next Wednesday

By means of daily practice games played between the two teams selected from among the candidates for the freshman baseball nine, Coach Houck is putting the yearling batsmen for the initial tilt of the season with the Bucknell reserves on New Beaver Field. While neither the date nor time of the game is definite, the two teams will likely cross bats early in the afternoon next Saturday before the Varsity game with Carnegie Tech.

As yet the Nittany Mentor has not selected a first team from the plebe candidates, but the men who have been playing regularly together with several others, will probably be the ones from whom the yearling nine will finally be selected. Still opposition may be expected from the Bucknell nine, especially from the pitching staff which has been doing efficient work with the varsity from the mound.

The practice games on New Beaver Field each evening have largely been responsible for the noticeable increase in the hitting ability of the yearling batsmen. Fielding has also been improving steadily and the actual playing has aided in securing better cooperation among the players.

On Tuesday evening the two yearling teams battled through six innings to a 1 to 1 score, while on Wednesday evening the final count was 2 to 1, in seven innings of play. In the latter game Jordin and Zoepke were on the mound for the winners, with Zimmerman on the receiving end. However, State and Dav's pitched for the losers, while Harrington took position behind the rubber. Eaton, Van Atta, Cavanaugh, Dell, Huffman and Berline have also been showing good form in the box during the practice games.

COMMENCEMENT HONOR MEN PICKED BY SENIORS

As a result of the election held at the meeting of the senior class last Wednesday night, the following men won places on the June Commencement program: Spion Man A. B. Hoff, Ch. Bartel, Men C. H. Gough, Came Man E. O. Gerhardt, Class Donor J. Gray. In a few days another election will take place to break the tie between L. W. Fritz and W. H. Seafrost for Pipe Orator.

W. C. Calhoun, W. G. W. and R. H. Seafrost, P. H. Hedges and W. P. Morgan were nominated for Valedictorian from whom a committee consisting of Dr. W. S. Day, R. J. Gray and R. F. Gowals will select one.

PLAYERS SELECT JUNE PRODUCTION

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," Mystery Farce by G. M. Cohan, To Be Commencement Play

MAY DATE SET FOR "THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING"

For their commencement presentation, the Penn State Players have selected G. M. Cohan's famous mystery farce "Seven Keys to Baldpate." This play was adapted from the novel of the same name by Earl Derr Biggers.

At present the cast for this presentation has not been entirely chosen. Several persons are being talked into the dozen or more parts and it is expected that the final selection will be made in the near future by the director, Prof. D. D. Mason.

The Players will present a second showing of "The Whole Town's Talking" on May fifteenth in the Auditorium. Tickets are being held out in the dozen or more parts and it is expected that the final selection will be made in the near future by the director, Prof. D. D. Mason.

At present the cast for this presentation has not been entirely chosen. Several persons are being talked into the dozen or more parts and it is expected that the final selection will be made in the near future by the director, Prof. D. D. Mason.

Students Will Take Senior Gown Orders

It is announced by the committee in charge of securing proper commencement regalia that measurements for seniors' caps and gowns will be taken next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from seven to eight o'clock.

All men whose names are included in the A to H list are requested to report, during the stated time to H. K. West at the Delta Upsilon house. Men whose names are listed in the H to P list should be measured by W. Z. Glick at the Sigma Phi Sigma house. Robert Menz will measure the Phi Zeta's at the Delta Upsilon house.

Measurements will be made only at the appointed places on the designated days and no orders will be taken after Thursday night. A fifty cent fee will be required of all seniors ordering the caps and gowns.

Four Sciurus Carolinensis Families Secure Homes on Penn State Campus

At last they're here! Last Wednesday marked the official moving day of four families of squirrels to the Penn State campus.

Years ago an attempt to bring several pairs of gray squirrels to the college met such strenuous opposition that the project had to be abandoned. Destruction of the birds and other interesting arguments were fruitfully made by the protagonists of the little animals, still the visiting grays were barred.

According to "Press" Thomas' recent suggestion, the Women's Student Government association appropriated the money for the purchase of four pairs of gray squirrels. They arrived three weeks ago but were kept in captivity at the Forestry building until their age-old enemy, the red squirrel, could be cleared from the campus.

Despite his size, the piney, as the red squirrel is often termed, is pungent to an extreme degree and most deleterious to the campus. The piney is a pest of the Forestry building and it might be said, superintendent Weber detailed a man at the beginning of Easter vacation to kill the destructive little animals and more than sixty have disappeared under the accurate fire of the sharpshooters.

THESPIANS SHOW "WOODEN SHOES" TOMORROW NIGHT

Stress on Western Tour Augurs Well for Second Staging in Auditorium

SPECIALTY NUMBERS AND GAGS PRECIPITATE ACTION

Comedy Scheduled to Begin at Seven-thirty—Full House Indicated by Sales

Taking the stage with practically the same well-balanced show which on its western road trip the Penn State Thespian club will give its second State College presentation of "Wooden Shoes" the 1925 production, in the Auditorium at seven-thirty o'clock tomorrow evening.

This year's musical comedy has had better success than any other "made-made" production ever staged by the organization. The Magazine Cover Girl of last year was rated high among the college plays but "Wooden Shoes" takes a place on a par with productions of the clubs of leading eastern and mid-western institutions.

Constant application on the part of both cast and chorus has resulted in the securing of an almost perfect musical comedy. The 1925 cast is "the best ever" the songs are tuneful and the lyrics irresistible, while the dance act is the newest in the New Washburn "step" vocabulary.

Breezy, humorous action. The plot of the play is so arranged that there is never a lull throughout the entire performance. Lively jokes are plentiful in each act and the song-and-dance numbers by both members of the cast and the whole company are executed in splendid fashion.

In the first act Hilda, a Dutch maiden is "loved" a lover, Sir Sidney Gilbert Somerset, an English nobleman. The English baronet is always with a party of American friends, including a girl named Susan, who is a present Lily Davis. Lily and her maid Nancy, together with Jack Wood of John, make up the rest of the party.

Lily is under orders from her family to marry a European blue-blood but being a man of course he has been in love with her thinking she is a peasant. Jimmy Donovan is doing Nancy, with whom he is infatuated comes upon the party. He explains to her he is looking for a lost letter. Then Lily's former lover and would-be Hilda's hand turns up. Lively complications follow and humorous situations interspersed with lively musical numbers provide thrills and laughter throughout the entire show.

Cast Well-chosen. R. W. Graham '25 is from H. H. Johnson '25 is Phil S. C. Runkle '25 is the role of Nancy and R. G. Kennedy '25 playing Martha. Her are excellent finishing impersonations. (Continued on last page)

WORLD FLIERS CLOSE TOUR AT PENN STATE

Army Birdmen Will Tell Story of Their Flight in Auditorium on April Thirtieth

When Lieutenant Leland Wade and P. Arnold come to Penn State on April thirtieth to tell their thrilling flight around the globe by airplane, they will have virtually finished the longest tour which they began at the close of their trip last September. Following their engagement at Penn State, Lieutenant Arnold will go on furlough after which he will join Lieutenant Wade for duty in California.

The two visitors will likely arrive at Penn State during the afternoon of the thirtieth and will be the guests of the department of military science and tactics. The ushering in the evening will be in charge of the Scaleboard and Blue Society, with members of the Blue Key society assisting.

Two reels of motion pictures, explained by Lieutenant Wade will be shown to illustrate many experiences during the flight. The actual account of the trip will be given by Lieutenant Arnold, whose ability at relating the story of the flight coupled with his pleasing personality, has marked him as an entertaining and interesting speaker. Each of the two fliers will speak approximately forty-five minutes. In case of an overflow audience Lieutenant Arnold will speak again in Old Chapel, while the picture will be shown twice in the Auditorium.

According to the present plans of the military department an attempt will be made to have the fliers stay for the Duke's Day program on Friday and Saturday.

NITTANY CINDERMEN STRIVE FOR PENN RELAY LAURELS AT ANNUAL TRACK CLASSIC

Coach Cartmell Places Entries in Nine Events—Expects 1928 Mile Team To Place

FURNITURE FOR PROM BOOTHS. Little things having, booths at the Junior Prom are asked to have all furniture in the Armory by noon today and to have such furniture removed by ten o'clock tomorrow morning. No floor lamps are to be used.

ONONDAGA ENGAGES NITTANY STICKMEN

Nittany Lacrosse Twelve Meets Empire State Opponents in Opener Tomorrow

PENN STATE LINEUP FOR CONTEST STILL IN DOUBT

Lineup of the Onondaga Indians on New Beaver Field tomorrow afternoon in the opening clash of the 1925 lacrosse season the Nittany stickmen will have their battle tested to the full extent. Coach Cartmell made a prediction but said that whatever advantage the team could have would be in condition however, he made no avowal as to the shape of the squad.

For almost a month the Nittany players have been putting the men through daily scrimmages in preparation for one of the hardest schedules that the Penn State twelve has faced in several years. Since it was impossible to date any other team for the game the Indians were looked for the encounter.

Know Game Well. They know the reservation men know the game is shown by the recent tilt with Johns Hopkins. The team who downed their competitor who downed their competitor by a 3 to 1 count. (Continued on last page)

NITTANY GOLFERS OPEN 1925 SEASON TOMORROW

Centre Hills Aggregation Will Be Faced on Club Course—Lion Team Chosen Today

Penn State's freshmen will play the first of the 1925 golf season when they meet the Centre Hills players tomorrow afternoon on the County club course. A squad of fifteen men will represent the Blue and White in this match.

The personnel of the team will not be final until this afternoon at which time all the scores from the preliminary matches will be recorded. The midweek have been in training and every day to perfect their form and to correct any defects in their play. Competition among the athletes has been keen and every one of the team is in the use of the club.

Each one of the fifteen Nittany golfers will be opposed by a veteran player and according to Coach Cartmell the match will be closely contested. Several among the Centre Hills linkers will be L. L. Ball, former Penn State golf captain and several other men of more than local prominence.

The Centre Hills County club has a good sports course with many interesting holes and fast greens. In spite of the outliness of the season the course is in fine condition. Through the midweek the men who make the Varsity team which is to be chosen Friday, will gain experience and some of the nervous effect produced by a strange course will be worn off.

The date for the Intercollegiate Golf tournament has been set for June twenty-third to twenty-seventh. The matches will be played at the Mount-Claib Golf club in New Jersey.

- CHALLENGER RELATIONS. Varsity: L. W. Ray '26, Assistant; L. A. Roberts '26, Junior Assistant; H. L. Schmitt '27; H. L. Freeman '27; H. S. Duck '27; H. S. Keller '27.

Lacking competition with the best under talent of the American colleges as well as the foremost foreign universities the Nittany track squad left State College yesterday afternoon for the Penn Relay. Coach Nate Cartmell will enter teams in the quarter-mile, half-mile, mile, four mile, and five and a half mile relays. He will also take several individual stars with the team.

While Coach Cartmell does not expect his prospects to make any better record in relays than the Varsity quartet-mile and four mile team and the freshman mile relay team, he expects a fair chance to be among the leaders. The team is not on a par with the championship squad of two years before according to the Nittany men but he above average ability.

Two men will be entered in the high jump. Wagner, a Varsity man and Lutes, a freshman jumper. Both men are capable of clearing the bar at the feet. Six inch mark and should reach that height in today's meet. The freshman Penn State field entry and all match his skill, and the weightmen in the hundred yard.

Crip in High Hurdles. Captain Crip Moore will be one of the men who takes to the hurdles in the 120-yard high hurdles today and judging by the first time he is making in the distance should be one of the leaders. One of the Nittany captain's leading trials will probably be Lord Purdy of the University of Cambridge. The British star who recently set several college records on the Continent.

The loss of Lushington in the mile relay is a loss of a pulled hamstring. A hard blow to Coach Cartmell's hopes in that event. The team that will wait for the starters now consists of Kisseloff in the three-quarter mile, the half-mile, Ted Moore in the three-quarter mile, and Johnson in the mile. Although handicapped by the loss of Lushington the four men are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Four Mile Promising. In the four mile event the Penn State runners will be Stewart, Fitzpatrick, Bailey and Lushington. Four men colleges are entered in this relay which promises to be one of the best of the Central. Harvard and Boston college are the favorites in this race but the other entries are all good. The team has been in excellent form in the trials and the Bucknell meet and have a fair chance on Saturday.

The three and four mile relays will be the college in the annual relay consists of Toronto, Michigan, Columbia and Pacific. Columbia last year's victory will be one of the strongest contenders in this race. Coach Cartmell's men are all capable of competing in the trials have a fair chance to win the time made in last year's relay. While the freshmen will rely on their skill in mixed combination the time (Continued on next page)

1928 "Dresses Up" for Poverty Day

Adorning themselves with tins in an attempt to win the distinction of being judged the most attractive freshmen and also to assist the upper-classmen and their visitors in the Penn State colleges are preparing for the annual observance of Poverty day tomorrow.

Numerous prizes of considerable value are offered for the costume made up of tins. All freshmen must be present on New Beaver football practice field at one forty-five Saturday afternoon, where prizes will be awarded to the most deserving.

The prizes and their donors are: Top-Graham's; Slicker's Fashion Shop; Truswell-Gloves-Albion Store; 20 Mova. Tickets—Nittany Theatre Company; Mountain Pen—Mittgers; Gold House—Frumm's; Tobacco Pouch—Nittany News and Shirt—State Shirt Shop; Pennant—Sauer's; Camera—Mills Drug Store; Stationery—Gilliland's.

The Fresh men will wear their costumes from eight o'clock in the morning till six o'clock in the evening.

Following Poverty Day the next week-end activities will be the team scrap which will be held May ninth, and the tug-of-war on the twenty-third of May.