FENCING PRACTICE HELD REGULARLY FOR CO-EDS

Twenty-five Penn State girls are reporting twice a week to J. Gallardo, instructor in Spanish, for instruction in the ancient and difficult art of fencing.
According to Mr. Gallardo, the girls as a whole are making as much progress as are the men who are taking similar instruction for the first time. The ones who have been active in athletics in general, or who have had a fair amount of work in physical education seem to be making the most progress. Already a few display some of the grace and adroitness that characterize the first-class fencer.
It is mainly through the interest and support of Miss Habitt, instructor of physical education for women that instruction in fencing for the girls has been made possible.
During the remainder of the semester this sport will take the place of the regular gymnasium work for those who have stood up for it. Inter-class matches are being planned for next month.

CORNELL TWELVE MEETS NITTANY TEAM THURSDAY

retained work on the farce, which was staged successfully in the Auditorium last February. The cast for the play will remain the same, with A. A. McCurdy '27 and R. W. Tyson '27 playing the leading male roles. The remainder of the cast consists of Miss Frances Hayward '28, Miss Margaret Jones '25, F. H. Kratz '27, Miss Kathryn Hershey '28, Miss Josephine Cranmer '26, R. A. Wilson '28, N. H. Joseph '28, Miss Helen Doty '27, Miss Sara Malloy '28 and Miss Mildred Webb '28.

DEFENSE IMPENETRABLE
The Nittany sickleholders were on the point of scoring several times but the accurate eye of P. Johnson was an insurmountable obstacle. At each attempt the Indian goal tender caught the rubber and passed it out of danger. He was well supported by his teammates who left an opening only once but Wendell fell as he was running in with the ball and was unable to take advantage of it.
Following is the lineup:
Omoondaga Penn State
P. Johnson G Harkins
D. George P Wickland
J. Ballings CP House
A. Lazores ED Cook
H. Bockwell SD Seaman
H. Johnson TD Shanks
P. Johnson C Shaver (capt.)
Seaman (capt.) TA
J. Powless SS Ash
W. Powless FT Haddock
Williams OH Wendell
Lewis OH (alternate)
Goals 1, Powless 2, Lewis 2, P. Johnson, W. Powless.
Substitutions—Gibson for I. Powless, I. Powless for Gibson, Buckley for Seaman, Seaman for Buckley, Brady for Ash, Clouser for Brady, Welker for Haddock, Poesel for Grosivoto.
Referee: R. Craig, Swarthmore; Goal umpire: Hauswoff and Rutherford. Time of halves, 30 minutes.

LION TRACKMEN PLACE AMONG RELAY LEADERS

first finished with a margin of more than ten yards but the Boston second mile regained the distance only to have Barclay place the teams again on even terms. Welch, the Hub city anchor man in a burst of speed passed Pomare, winning the event in 15 minutes 5 1/5 seconds.
Yates' performance in taking fourth in the high jump was noteworthy as the scuffling jumper was arrayed against such athletes as Tom Poor of Kansas, Bradley of Cornell and Baxter of Delaware, the Kansas representative clearing the bar at 6 feet 4 inches to win the event. Tompkins, in placing second in the 220-yard dash also displayed promising form.
With one week of practice remaining before the dual meet with the Orange track squad at Syracuse Saturday Coach Cartmell is busy grooming his proteges for the competition. Syracuse will probably put a strong team on the field to face the Lion trackmen and a keen contest is anticipated.

JAN GARBER COMMENTS ON ANNUAL PROMENADE

which I think is best; Bargoy and Schiele of Isham Jones band. You see, in order to please everyone, a dance band must not only be a combination of expert musicians but also a troupe of good entertainers. To do justice to this band, I think the boys combine both qualities."

CALLS HIMSELF "PENNSYLVANIAN"

Jan Garber, who can be rightfully called the "Coolest Soloist of Jazz" was born in the state of Indiana, but lived most of his boyhood in Norristown, Pennsylvania. While in the latter place, he journeyed to the Conba Conservatory of Music in Philadelphia, where he received his musical training. "Even though I'm now located at Williams, North Carolina, I'll always look upon Pennsylvania as the "best little old state," smiles Jan. This effervescent, boyish leader has been toying with his violin since his teens and has been playing with dance orchestras for possibly twelve years.
Most of the men making up Jan Garber's band are college men. Garber himself being from the University of North Carolina and a member of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Wooden Shoes
Twas smart and artistic,
Twas sweet, quaint and mystic
And it swept one along
With dance and with song.
To the land of Crossword Blues,
Where Hans played with Gretchen,
And those Dutch Girlies fetchin',
Gave one's laugh-strings a stretchin',
Speakin' of Shoes
In their old Wooden Shoes,
Did you know that most of the boys and girls in Wooden Shoes wear Bostonians? Think it over.

PENN STATE SLUGGERS DEFEAT SUSQUEHANNA

catcher on the bag when Harrelson had out to center field.
Harrelson found himself in a tight place in the seventh when he walked three consecutive batters. It seemed certain that the visitors would score but the clever work of the infield in effecting a double play, Harrelson to Kerpeter to Harris, kept the Susquehanna tossers scoreless.
Visitors Score
It was not until two were down in the eighth that Harrelson allowed the first hit of the game. The Red and Grey took advantage of the start and earned a run. Two more were garnered in the last frame giving the visitors a total of five hits and three runs.
Clark, a veteran hurler, pitched good ball with the exception of the first inning but was unable to stop the onslaught of the poor showing of his teammates who were chalked up with seven errors.

"DADS" ARE GUESTS OF PENN STATE THIS WEEK

celebration at a tea in the Women's building.
If the present plans are carried out a smoker will be held on Saturday evening in the Armory as a conclusion to the Dads' Day program. "Prexy" Thomas will deliver the chapel sermon on Sunday morning.
Since the organization of the Fathers' association three years ago 1120 members have been enrolled and 335 of these became members last year. Under the direction of Prof. A. H. Espenshade the Parents' Bulletin was issued, and copies of two of the four numbers that have been printed were sent to all the parents of Penn State students for the last fifteen years.
Professor Espenshade has also been in charge of the Dads' Day program, assisted by "Prexy" Thomas, Dean Warrick, Dean Ray and Chaplain Metzger.

PLEBE DIAMOND SEASON WILL OPEN ON THURSDAY

situation on the receiving end has been small, in comparison with those for the other positions, and Lesko, Zimmerman and Pfeiffer show most promise.
Little is known of the team the yearling batsmen will face on Saturday, for from experience in the past, the Nittany freshmen will need to be on the alert. Dicknell has always produced a good plebe team, and their pitching staff is reported to be particularly good.
Several of the yearling twirlers have reported for workout with the varsity, and the entire team has had a long practice session.
