players Engleton Webster, Setman and Gorman comprise the Sitany team. Engleton has been recovering rapidly from a knee injury received while playing against Carnegie Tech several weeks ago and it is Coach Him's hope that Engle will be able to produce in the singles.

Geather and Webster will play first doubles for the Blue and White and Malphes and Setman are paired in the second combination. Both two-man teams won against the Orange and should go well against both Princeton and Navy.

Both opposing teams are reckoned among the strongest college aggregations of the East and are made up almost entirely of veterans.

It is the request of the Athletic Association officers that all students use the voting privilege accorded them so that the election may be considered representative of the entire student body. PROFESSOR DE VISME TO LECTURE TUESDAY countess of some of the French traditions.

Professor de Visme was awarded the Legion of Honor in 1920 for his work in furthering the French cause in the United States. The Minister of Public Instruction in France sent an official delegate over to inspect the work of de Visme. The delegate considered the work worthy of the reward and as a result of his report, the Legion of Honor was granted him.

The French Institute at Penn State has received favorable consideration throughout the state and this section of the country. One of the interests in the course of this school is the pedagogy which all applicants are required to learn. In it they promise to speak no English while here and are liable to expulsion if they break this rule. The majority of the students live in Varsity hall, and a small number of them in Varsity hall. They are supposed to stay apart from the other students and to speak only with each other.

This Institute enables the people who are unable to go to France to obtain a knowledge of the language from an efficient corps of native French instructors.
