U. OF P. TWELVE OVERCOMES LIONS IN EXTRA PERIODS

Pennsylvania Lacrosse Men Score 7 to 6 Win Over Nittany Team in Close Contest

BLUE AND WHITE KNOTS COUNT IN SECOND CANTO

Coach Pleased With Showing of Players in Final Contest of 1925 Season

Buttling through two extra periods the Pennsylvania lacrosse men finally scored the winning tally that defeated the Lion twelve by a 7 to 6 score in the last game of the season played on New Beaver Field Saturday afternoon. The Blue and White team showed its superiority by keeping the ball in the enemy's territory for the greater part of the time but it failed to win because of inaccurate shooting.

Time and again the Penn State stick-wielders broke loose for free passes but the attackers seemed unable to place the rubber net the net. Harkins at goal was the outstanding figure in the contest.

Quakers Score First

Good defensive work by both teams kept the scoring low and during the first few minutes of the clash neither side was able to locate the net for a tally. Breakdowns into an attack "field" is sent the rubber net Harkins for the first Pennsylvania counter. Retaliation, the Penn State aggregation tied the score on a clever pass.

The Quaker side lads crashed through the Nittany defensive combination for three more tallies during the half and another for the Lion passes placed the Red and Blue on the long end of a 4 to 2 count. Civic stickwork on the part of the Philadelphia balanced the superior attack of the Penn State squad.

Game Tied

Singing a tally in the second canto, the Blue and White lads worked their opponent for four goals, while two from the Pennsylvania aggregation equalled the count. Both teams tightened up for the last few minutes of play with the result that when the final whistle blew the score was tied.

After a brief rest the twelve took the field for the first extra period. The minutes passed and still the count was 6 to 6. A second extra period was ordered and during this time Harkins, captain of the Red and Blue, eluded his guard to shoot a fast one to the net which Harkins was unable to stop. Although the Nittany stickmen fought hard to register a point they failed to penetrate the Pennsylvania defense, leaving the Philadelphia victors by a 7 to 6 score.

Team Shows Spirit

Coach Leonard stated that he was well pleased with the showing of the squad and that throughout the entire game there was evidence that the men were getting the spirit of the lacrosse.

FRENCH CLUB TO STAGE TWO ONE-ACT COMEDIES

College Orchestra Will Furnish Music for Final Meeting of Organization

Two one-act comedies will be the main attraction on the program arranged for the final meeting of the Salon de Maitresse which will be held tomorrow evening at seven-thirty o'clock in Old Chapel. The college orchestra, under the direction of A. R. Fink '25, will play several selections during the evening. Preceding the showing of the dramatic production, Dr. I. L. Foster head of the department of romance languages will give an introductory talk explaining the nature of the humorous plays.

The initial showing of "L'Anglais tel qu'on le Parle" a farce by Tristan Bernard, will be given as the first of the comedies and will be spoken entirely in French. The cast for this play includes Miss M. L. Toppell '25, Miss L. C. McLean '25, H. W. Tyson '27, R. H. Fletcher '28, J. Coy '28, A. S. Brown '28, and E. J. Fisher '28.

Following this performance, "French as It is Spoken," an English version of the same comedy will be given to help clarify the meaning of the first play to the audience. Miss L. H. Lark '25, Miss Freda Coppelman '27, P. P. Hald '26, S. L. Giese '26, W. Smith '27, D. E. Thomas '28, and R. H. Fletcher '28 comprise the cast that will stage the final show.

Mr. Albert Roblin has been working industriously for the past two weeks in an effort to make the plays as nearly perfect as possible. The meeting will end Professor Roblin's connection with the French club, as he is planning to sail for France after the closing of college.

Episcopal Bishop Speaks in Chapel

Bishop Herbert T. Tibot of the diocese of Bethlehem and presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States spoke in the Sunday Chapel service using as his theme, "The heavens are the Lord's, but the earth is given to the children of men."

"This law may be applied to the spiritual world," said Bishop Tibot. "Man should not be concerned with the thought of getting to heaven, he should instead express the principles of the eternal world in grappling with the problems of earth."

Education, music, travel, companionship—these increase man's ability to make life richer for himself and his fellow men, but he must also have a personal relationship with the spiritual world," said the Bishop. "If a man lives nobly on earth he need not worry about heaven for that is in the hands of the Creator."

RACKETEERS HAND BUCKNELL SETBACK

Captain Geuther Leads Team To Decisive 5-1 Victory Over Bison Aggregation

RETURN CLASH SHOWS IMPROVEMENT IN LIONS

Trouncing the Bucknell return and incidentally giving them their first defeat of the current season the Penn State racketeers stroked their way to a brilliant 5 to 1 victory Saturday afternoon.

According to Captain Geuther the Nittany squad had attained the crest of a winning way and the team should have no trouble in administering a setback to Pitt hopes when the two rivals test strength on Saturday. Coach Hun is pleased with the showing made against both Bucknell and Syracuse and unless the Smoky City team brings in extra men the Lion team will stand a good chance of combination against the Blue and Gold.

Missus was the only Blue and White player to fall before the foe, Captain McFarland of Bucknell taking over Don in three sets, 6-1, 2-6 and 7-5.

Geuther Comes From Rear

Probably the most outstanding match of the afternoon was that between Geuther and McCaskey. The Bison number two man McCaskey played a hard ball and of tennis and mixed the first set by a 6-1 count. In the second set he was leading by a 1-0.

JUNE THIRTEENTH SET FOR THESPIAN FINALE

Tickets for "Wooden Shoes" Now on Sale—Song and Dance Number Added

Planning for the third and final showing of Wooden Shoes at Penn State, the Thespians have started actively rehearsals in preparation for the commencement performance to be given Saturday night June thirteenth at seven-thirty o'clock in the Auditorium. This showing will mark the seventh performance of the play for the school and at each presentation it has been well received.

Requests for tickets are already coming in from alumni, and early indications predict a capacity house. Tickets may be secured now from R. L. Wick '27 at the Delta Tau Delta house, or at Co-op Wednesday night preceding the entertainment.

The last that will take the stage at the commencement showing will be the same as the one that played on the successful western tour. J. L. Kennedy '26, who appears in the role of "Father Hen," has perfected a new chore dance that will be given for the first time in the final showing of "Wooden Shoes." S. C. Runkle '27 and J. D. McLean '25, who take the comedy leads of the show as "Crazy" and "Dinny," will feature a new song and dance number written especially for this showing. This new selection promises to be one of the leading hits of the show.

"Paveant of Progress"

Several requests have been made to have the Thespians stage a "pageant of progress" after the performance, having one or two members of the cast in each show given since 1888, outlined in the costumes in which they then played under some short sketch of their respective show. Should the directors decide to carry out this project, an additional attraction can be promised the audience. As yet this novel plan has not been fully decided upon as there are a few members of some of the shows who have not been heard from. However, every possible attempt will be made in order to make the pageant a success.

VARSITY DOWNED BY BUCKNELLIAN IN RETURN GAME

Herb Harrelson Lasts Only Three Innings in Memorial Day Diamond Contest

MURPHY FANS ELEVEN PENN STATE BATTERS

Inconsistent Fielding on Part of Nittany Baseball Team Aids Lewisburg Sluggers

Supported by efficient fielding and effective hitting, Tom Murphy, Bucknell's star pitcher, won his second game against Penn State this season by an 8 to 3 score in the Memorial Day clash on New Beaver Field. Herb Harrelson opened the contest but was forced to the showers in the third inning after a heavy bombardment by the Lion sluggers.

The Bucknellians began their attack in the first inning when they connected with three safeties that were responsible for two runs. Harrelson was nipped for nine hits in the first three frames and was relieved by Sixsmith, who checked the free hitting until the seventh when the visitors put over three tallies, aided by several bad plays.

Murphy pitched a creditable game for the Orange and Blue striking out eleven men and allowing only one free pass. Several times the Lewisburg hurler found himself in tight places but backed by the snappy fielding of his teammates he was able to keep the Lion sluggers in check.

Having covered the plate in the second frame after he walked to (Continued on last page)

Froth Announces Vacation Number

Making his farewell appearance on the campus for the 1924-25 season the Froth magazine will be on a special Thursday morning at the Lion shop. This issue has been labeled the vacation number and is one of the best, if not the best, ever published this year.

An attractive cover has been given by "Walt" Eschenbach '26, portraying a new angle on the conventional bathing-trip cover design. One of the big features of this issue is a clever parody on "The Thief of Bagdad" written by "Froth" '25. In the line of cartoons published the outstanding one is a sketch clipped from the "Messengers." The Coeds in particular should appreciate this sketch as it gives an idea as to how the Coeds of other colleges are viewed.

The vacation number has more material in it than any other issue that has been published this year. It is abundant in "wise cracks" and cartoons.

Hair Cut and Four Signs Meted Out to Yearlings at Weekly Tribunal Session

Placing the supreme penalty for a breach of the college code, the tribunal met in the court of law today. The first offender was D. Johnson '28 who was sentenced to the "haircut" for "clipping" consideration at a meeting of the Tribunal held Thursday evening, at which time the ten additional copies on the docket resulted in five sentences: four acquittals, and one postponement of action due to the non-appearance of the offender.

Johnson's case had been one of long standing, and his sentence was due to non-compliance with the more dangerous sex and racial "evolution and contempt of court."

Matteson acquitted. The first offender to face the august body of Justice was H. S. Matteson, '28 charged with being on the grass behind the Armory, at the time of the Junior Prom. Considerable difficulty was experienced in arriving at a decision but the yealling was finally dismissed because of the prevailing belief that his identity was mistaken. This was the first time Matteson had been held for Tribunal action.

Following the chalk line next in order was F. Moser '28, who was reported to have removed his costume at five-thirty o'clock on Poverty Day to dress in "divine" clothes. The freshman offered the excuse that he was leaving town. His word was accepted as bona fide and he was granted a release from judgment.

The third offender brought up for consideration was H. W. Marsh '28 who was charged with walking up to a group of upperclassmen who were playing tennis and demanding the court, saying that it was his physical education hour and that he had to play. Investigation showed that Marsh was not signed up for the sport, as a result the scolding will not be (Continued on last page)

SENIORS SELECT FIVE AS CANDIDATES FOR AWARDS

The seniors were selected as candidates for the John White medal at the final 1925 class meeting held Wednesday evening. Of this number one will be chosen for the award by the scholarship committee of Penn State. The four-year men chosen by their classmates as eligible for the honor are R. H. Sudds of the school of Agriculture, J. H. Schmidt, P. H. Hughes, and J. W. Anne of the school of Engineering and W. H. Morgan from the Liberal Arts school.

In addition to the elections, final arrangements were outlined for commencement class day.

DEPARTMENTS PLAN ALUMNI CONCLAVES

Baseball Game Between Seniors and "Grads" Replaces Usual Saturday Carnival

BUSINESS MEETING SET FOR FRIDAY AFTERNOON

With the purpose of seeing more "old grads" back for a visit to Penn State, elaborate arrangements have been made in preparation for the annual Alumni Day celebration scheduled for Saturday, June thirteenth. Although the program officially begins on that date, it will actually start at two-thirty o'clock Friday afternoon when departmental conferences between the graduates and faculty heads of the various schools will be held. While this year will mark the first time conferences of this nature have been attempted it is expected that they will become an annual custom as an excellent opportunity is afforded both professors and former students to re-learn acquaintances and possibly offer each other valuable suggestions for the carrying on of their work. Departments planning these get-togethers are the mechanical and industrial branches of the school of Engineering, the animal and poultry husbandry division and forestry department of the Agricultural school, and the school of Liberal Arts.

The annual business meeting of the association will be held at five o'clock Friday afternoon in the Auditorium at which time H. W. Montz '97 of Wilkes-Barre president of the organization will make his annual report. Mr. Allister Hall will be the scene of the banquet scheduled for Friday evening after which "Seven Keys to Baldpate" staged by the Penn State Players will provide entertainment. A dance to be given in the Alumni club will conclude the success of activities on Friday.

Saturday Events

Repeating the carnival of the past two years a baseball game at ten-thirty will be the Saturday morning attraction with the seniors and alumni as opponents. According to Nell Fleming (Continued on third page)

PLAYERS REHEARSE FOR FINAL SHOWING OF YEAR

George M. Cohan's Mystery Farce "Seven Keys to Baldpate" Is Last Production

In an endeavor to stage a play that will surpass any other produced this year, the Penn State Players are holding daily rehearsals on their production "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which is to be presented in the Auditorium Friday evening June twelfth. This famous mystery farce was written by G. M. Cohan, who combined laughs and thrills to provide the best of entertainment. The plot centers around a deserted summer resort at the top of Baldpate mountain. The owner gives keys to seven different persons, giving each that he has the only key to the house. With the appearance of the successive keys the situations become more humorous and the thrills become more exciting until the seventh key caps the climax.

The setting for the play requires a great deal of work as it must give the impression of a winter night outside the hotel. G. L. McElhenny '26, A. C. Blaine '27 and I. E. Nolan '27 are working hard to produce this effect.

Of the four ten-parters appearing in "Seven Keys to Baldpate" only four will graduate this June. The two of these who belong to the Players society, are R. J. Beamish and Milton Roy. The other two are O. L. Luce and Emma Kelley, who have but recently taken on the role of actors. All are expected to add materially to the success of the play.

LIONS TIE FOR EIGHTH AT INTERCOLLEGIATES

Southern Californians Take Supremacy Over Eastern Rivals--Penn State Garners Twelve Points

With twelve points to their credit the Nittany clubmen finished in a tie with Texas for eighth place in the intercollegiate track and field championships on Franklin Field Friday and Saturday. The Penn State total was the result of five points in the two-mile race in the hurdles and two points each in the mile and 100 yard jump.

PLEBE NINE DROPS CLOSING CONTEST

Yearlings Fail To Produce Usual Form Against Shippensburg in 5-2 Trouncing

SMITH OPPOSES SLATE FROM MOUND POSITION

Failing to show their usual good form on the diamond that has marked the previous contests played this year, the plebe basemen dropped the closing tally on their schedule to the Shippensburg Normal school nine on Saturday afternoon by a 5 to 2 count on the opponents' field.

The team that faced the visiting sluggers was one of the strongest combinations encountered this year and the victory over the first-year men was simply a repetition of what has been done all season. The Shippensburg players were only defeated once but they were able to down their victims in a return contest. The game was not originally on the plebe card but was only added last week.

Practically all of the strength of the opposing basemen rested on their ability to hit and the fact that this outstanding stateside nine in extra inning for at least one safety was evidence of their hitting strength. Thirteen hits were recorded for the normal school nine but they were well scattered throughout the game. The yearlings were able to either in a total of eight innings, the greatest attack being in the seventh canto when they bunched a quartet of safe drives that were responsible for the only run.

Shippensburg Scores

Neither team could secure an advantage until the fifth canto when Baker normal school Euston struck swinging the yellow into a drive but put him on the bases through a fumble.

Hurdles a Surprise

Captain Moore, picked by many as the probable winner of the hurdles events must the day considerably when in the semi-finals he was downed by a 20 to 25 yard handicap. The surprise was a 20 to 25 yard handicap however, and the 20 to 25 yard hurdles, the first to be placed in the hands of Southern Californians and G. M. Sudds of Princeton in 21 seconds.

Two more markers were captured by Penn State in the plebe stakes. The first in the 500 yard race was the Nittany runner, Ed Track and Stewart in the middle of the pack. In the final lap both runners made a bid for the lead and for a few moments they were able to down their victims in a return contest. The game was not originally on the plebe card but was only added last week.

Practically all of the strength of the opposing basemen rested on their ability to hit and the fact that this outstanding stateside nine in extra inning for at least one safety was evidence of their hitting strength. Thirteen hits were recorded for the normal school nine but they were well scattered throughout the game. The yearlings were able to either in a total of eight innings, the greatest attack being in the seventh canto when they bunched a quartet of safe drives that were responsible for the only run.

Barnes Stars

The masses that Penn State came to having an intercollegiate champion was in the two-mile run with Lewis and Louie with the Plebe and White in that order. Laces of Yale took the lead of the stateside run to be passed by McLean of Pennsylvania. The final lap the Red and Blue club runner set the pace with a 21 second mile.

As the leaders rounded the curve into the final stretch McLean was ahead and allowed Lewis to come about on him, with Louie's steady pace a close third. It was at this time that the backs of Lewis' back of the plebe runner which gave him a 21 second mile and Lewis' time was 21 seconds.

Although no records were broken in the quarter-mile race, the runner was only 7-10 seconds slower than the world record made by Ted Meredith (Continued on third page)

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS PREPARE JOINT PROGRAM

Glee and Mandolin Clubs Combine for June Recital--Ticket Sale Set Tonight

Making its first appearance of the season the Penn State Glee Club is offering a joint program with the Orchestra and Mandolin Club on Monday evening June fifth in the Auditorium.

Under the leadership of Director of the concert will be prepared to present a varied group of selections consisting of old favorites and several new numbers which they have been rehearsing during the last few weeks. This entertainment has been arranged to entertain the school and guests who will visit Penn State during commencement week. This will be a very important opportunity to hear a musical organization that is typical of Penn State.

The glee club has established a reputation both at home and away from Penn State this year and Director of the concert is already planning to bring back this year. During the past season the Nittany songsters have appeared eleven times in concert on the four road trips and were at Penn State. The album also showed up well at the intercollegiate Glee Club contest.

An advance ticket sale for the performance will be held at Co-op on Tuesday and Thursday nights, from ninth and eleventh, at seven o'clock. The price of the tickets will vary from fifty cents to one dollar.
