

LOCAL BATSMEN WIN TWO GAMES IN ROW

Down Millheim 6 to 3 and Bellefonte 11 to 7—Encounter Hecla Park Tonight.

With two victories in a row over Millheim Saturday and Bellefonte Tuesday the State College batsmen are ready for tonight's game with Hecla Park to be played at six o'clock on the Hecla Park diamond. The locals will meet Millheim next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock on New Haven field.

The locals got off to a bad start last week by dropping a close game to Bellefonte by a 2 to 1 score last Thursday. Bellefonte scored in both the first and second innings, and although they failed to count from them on the diamond had been done, as the best the town players could get was one run in the fourth. Hits by Duck and Spicer coupled with sacrifices, allowed local to score the lone counter for State College. The locals outthrew their opponents four to three, but errors gave the Bellefonte batsmen both their runs.

locals added another victory to their record when Claybaugh held the opportunity in seven innings while his teammates managed to bring in eleven tallies. The town players started off strong in the initial frame, scoring four times on hits by Piefer and Mueser, and bases on balls to Spicer and Cooper, aided by a Bellefonte error. The State College sluggers increased their lead by a counter in the second on a hit by Williams, a sacrifice and another error. The locals went scoreless in the third, while Bellefonte hit two runs, netted them three tallies. State College pushed two more runs across in the fourth on hits by Spicer and Piefer, aided by a Bellefonte error. Bellefonte scored once in their half of the fourth making the score 7 to 4 in favor of the State College team. The locals scored once more in the fifth, and in their half of the seventh scored three counters on hits by Hollibaugh and Cook, and another error. Bellefonte started a rally in their half of the seventh, which was the last inning, and managed to push three runs across the upper before the town players made the third out, the final score was 11 to 7 in favor of State College.

(Continued from first page) attempts and resort to my means. Usually these take the form of anti-social developments, such as drinking or immoral practices. It is the result of the desire of the individual to harmonize himself with his surroundings, in attempt to counteract his abnormal characteristics.

consider continued failures of any kind for they are defects at the level of adjustment between the individual and his fellows and it is because this is so that a large class of individuals are special problems. "The individual who suffers from disease of the mind thinks and feels in an abnormal manner and expresses in his conduct his faulty mental functioning, while the mentally defective individual, because of his lack of mental development, manifests in his conduct waves of adjustment that are, relatively speaking, infantile.

"The term insanity is the legal and sociological concept used to designate those members of the community who, from an inability to adjust themselves to the physical and social requirements that the community exacts from them and take away their rights as citizens. "So far as society is concerned, why a person thinks or feels matters not at all, it is only what one does that counts. The individual may think all he likes about murdering his neighbor and he will never be arrested, but the moment he attempts to put his thoughts into execution he will find himself in conflict with the law. "It should be understood that insanity is the outcome of mental disease, that the mental disorder frequently precedes insanity by months and even years and it is because the early manifestations have not been recognized and understandingly treated that a large percentage of persons mentally ill ultimately become insane and insanity today represents nothing more than the failure of the community to care for the mental health of its individual members, and the failure is indeed a costly one. "At the time of the taking of the last census in 1920 the number of patients suffering from mental disease in institutions in the United States exceeded the number of students in all the colleges and universities in the country and it exceeded the number of all civil and enlisted men in the same of people in the United States army, navy and marine and it exceeded the population of Columbus, Ohio. "About 50,000 new cases are admitted to hospitals in the United States every year and in New York alone the number of hospital beds for the insane exceeds the number of beds in all the general hospitals put together in that city. "If we consider the cost of maintenance and the economic loss to the community of the patients treated for mental disease in the United States, the amount exceeds the entire value of the wheat, corn, tobacco and dairy products that are exported from this country. "As to the cause of mental disease of course certain physical diseases and various injuries to the head may be responsible for a certain number of cases but not the most serious cases and the most important are heredity plus faulty environment. Infection by drugs or alcohol or syphilis. Any one of these factors alone may produce mental disease or render the individual almost an unstable that a variety of otherwise simple environmental experiences may assume the proportion of direct exciting causes. "Whatever man may be at any particular time in his life, he is always the product of the combination of his ancestors which he brings into the world with him and the effects upon him of the environment in which he finds himself and 99 per cent of the progress of mental health in the world show a definitely faulty heredity. "That the stress of environment may manifest itself upon unstable nervous organization quite early in life is very conclusively shown by the fact that 10,000 of our young people under 25 years of age enter hospitals for the insane every year, suffering from Dementia Praecox, a disease which fully established conditions in the hands of a sane and this type of patient today make up 75 per cent of the entire standing population of such hospitals all about the country. "It has been known for many years that syphilis was a prolific cause of mental disease both of the body and mind and yet it is questionable if there are many who fully realize that at the present time there are fully 10,000,000 people in the United States suffering from this disease and that one out of every six individuals afflicted with syphilis for the purpose of their health of syphilis and that from 25 to 50 per cent of all individuals suffering from this disease are deemed to be incurable and die in state hospitals. "Alcohol and narcotic drugs can be the underlying causes of mental disorder on the determining factor. While the 18th Amendment and a host of other probably having some effect upon the use of alcohol have been at the present time throughout the mining section of Pennsylvania there is probably more alcoholism than ever before and the number of cases admitted to the Danville State Hospital suffering from mental disease due to alcohol is greater than before this amendment. "Addition to morphine cocaine and heroin are quite important factors in the production of mental disease. A large percentage of the cases of mental disease in this country are said to be addicted to the use of narcotic drugs and the year the United States consumed 60 tons of opium at least the same tons that were necessary to supply the world for medical purposes. "If mental disease and its outcome be curable on an increasing camp insanity is to be prevented there must be public education. Principles of mental hygiene must be taught in our schools and university life. The public must be reached through Mental Health Bulletin and the mental hygiene reading material. We must give the public to understand that there is no stigma attached to mental disease, that the brain like the kidneys or the liver is subject to disease which simply manifests itself in a different way. There must be thorough cooperation with State Boards of Health in their effort for the prevention and cure of syphilis disease. At the present time we quarantine for syphilis for diphtheria and for measles and yet these diseases are never destroyed and one-fourth of the part of the number of individuals have their so-called social disease, in the end has come when straggle movement is necessary, based on the same lines as that now employed for tuberculosis and cancer and so the end sex hygiene should be taught in our public schools. As to the control of alcohol and drug addiction it makes very little difference what you and I may think personally of the Volstead Act or the Harrison Law the fact remains that alcohol and narcotics during the present crisis are the production of mental disease and it is no every member of the community to lend his influence to the enforcement of laws which will tend to stamp out these underlying factors of mental disorder. "One of the greatest agencies today for the dissemination of information and the only dissemination of mental disease and mental defects is the Mental Health Clinic. In view of the condition at the present time in our nation throughout the state of Pennsylvania under the direction of the Department of Welfare and somewhere close to the community in which you live you will find in all probability such a clinic. Application to the Department of Welfare will bring you a list of these clinics and the dates on which their sessions are held. "As accredited educators of your community you should remember that you have a definite individual responsibility in this matter for within the next twenty years a million of our people will die in mental hospitals in state hospitals in the United States and the cost of the care of these and still in the seats of our public schools. These boys and girls can be reached and helped and it is the duty and privilege of the teachers in the public school to find these children and seek expert advice concerning them."
