

MITCHELL TALKS AT CONVOCATION

Co-operation Between Students and Faculty Stressed by Nittany Alumnus

ACTIVITIES EMPHASIZED IN TRUSTEE'S ADDRESS

That perfect co-operation between the students and faculty is the essential factor for a successful year, was the keynote of the address given by the Honorable Judge H. Walton Mitchell, chairman of the College Administrative Board when he spoke at the Convocation Exercises Friday morning. The ceremonies, which were witnessed by a large gathering of students in the Auditorium, marked the official opening of College.

In the absence of R. L. Watts of the School of Agriculture, and son-in-law of the College, the meeting was presided over by R. L. Sackett, head of the School of Engineering and second ranking dean in point of service at Penn State.

While Judge Mitchell's talk was brief owing to the limited time of the exercises many important phases relative to the welfare of the College were touched upon. Foremost among the issues introduced was that the reputation of Penn State rests entirely in the hands of the students as it is on the undergraduates that the care of the public is centered and it is through them that the purpose of the institution is reflected.

An optimistic note was struck by Judge Mitchell when he expressed opinion that the state would soon act on appropriations chiefly because the officials are fast coming to realize the importance and value of Penn State to the commonwealth.

Speaking of extra-curricular activities, Judge Mitchell urged that all Penn State's take part in some activity, lest valuable experience be lost. As a parting message Judge Mitchell expressed the hope that all students should feel it their duty to give serious attention to their work and make the most out of their opportunities. Mention was made of the splendid spirit that was manifest in the student body.

ding passes. Although both men are the lightest on the team, Delp tips the scale at one hundred and seventy pounds, and Marcus at five pounds less. Curry replaced Delp in the last few minutes of the scrimmage and will also bear watching.

Tackles Heavy

At the tackle positions, McAndrews, a husky lad weighing about one hundred and eighty pounds, and Sonderberg of approximately the same poundage were Dutch's choice for the first team. Both men offered good interference for the charging backs and played a good offensive game.

Mathew and Hillen, left and right guard respectively of the first eleven furnished a promising exhibition but showed a lack of experience. Prasse, in the role of center, was slightly weak in his passes, but this was probably due to his haste in taking out his opponent.

The practices during the coming week will be devoted to drills in handling the ball, familiarizing the players with the duties of their positions, and finally a short scrimmage. In the practice yesterday the third and fourth teams assumed the offensive against the first and second

TRYOUTS FOR NITTANY BAND LISTED TOMORROW

Organization May Visit Merchants' Progress Carnival in Williamsport

Preparing for the coming season which is expected to be a banner year for the Penn State band, W. O. Thompson, leader, will hold the first tryouts tomorrow night at seven o'clock in the new practice room. This year's Nittany band is expected to be one of the largest ever to be organized at Penn State as fewer members were lost by graduation last year than ever before. With the addition of freshman musicians, Mr. Thompson expects to have an organization of nearly one hundred and fifty members.

The band, as has been the custom, will probably make several of the trips with the football team with the possibility of visiting New York, Syracuse and Pittsburgh. In previous years the Blue and White musicians have made favorable impressions at football games in these three cities. Plans are also under way for the appearance of the band at the Merchants' Progress Carnival to be held at Williamsport some time during the middle of October. This event is one of the leading functions in the neighboring city and will benefit both the band and the school if favorable arrangements can be carried out.

Along with his duties as bandmaster, Mr. Thompson will again assume the leadership of the College Orchestra. Arrangements have been made to hold freshman tryouts this evening at seven o'clock in the bandroom. The orchestra will be practically re-organized this year and after that is done it will immediately begin preparations for an active season.

Professor, how could you?

Hear about "Old Brooksy" slipping Jimmy the double zero in Economics 31? Same snap course, and James made a good bluff at it, but "Brooksy's" got himself a new Eversharp. Well, you know how it is—the marks just seem to slip off that rifled tip. About the only antidote is to get an Eversharp for yourself.
