ENGINEERING EXTENSION DEPARTMENT ENLARGED
 Staff Is Increased by Six New Men—Four Are Members of Class of 1925

The growth of extension work among the industries of Pennsylvania has necessitated the addition of six new members to the staff of the College Engineering Extension department.

James E. Davis, formerly of the department of Mathematics at Penn State, and more recently at the University of Wisconsin, University of Arkansas and Diesel Institute, has been appointed associate professor of Engineering Extension and will be occupied largely with administrative duties. H. C. Pyle '25 has also been added to the staff for general office work.

Two Seniors
 E. N. Montague '25 and D. C. Diation '25, both graduates in the Civil Engineering course, will co-operate with M. A. Chaffee in the northeastern section of the state, especially in the Extension Schools at Allentown, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Reading. Both men have been engaged in engineering work and their practical experience adds to the strength of the staff.

O. D. Kenworthy, who for a number of years has been identified with the Extension School at Wilkes-Barre, has been added to the regular college faculty and will act as secretary to the Extension School. The same action was taken in the case of Harold A. Vicker, who will be occupied principally with administrative duties at the Scranton school.

All of the older members of the Extension department are still retained so that these appointments represent enlargements of activities and not replacements in the staff.

F. AND F. SUCCUMBS TO LATE LION RALLY

 line Helbig missed the try-four-point.
 Forty-yard March
 Stelman's kickoff was taken by Pincura to the 37-yard mark, and here a penalty for offside play was inflicted upon the Penn State aggregation. A few plays afterward, a scattered forward pass was blocked, and Pincura threw a loss, Lewis of F. and M. gathering up the ball or Penn State's 30-yards. Here the ball was taken from the visitors on downs and a march was begun by the Nittany Blue and White.
 Roepke knifed through left tackle for five yards, Pritchard picking up three more on the next try. Pincura went over for a first down. A fumble by Roepke squirted out into the ender track and Slamp recovered for the Lions on the 42-yards, knocking over one of the whitewashed yard-markers in his dash for the oval. The ball was advanced successfully to the F. and M. 23-yards, where Penn State again received a 15-yard penalty. The quarter ended following an exchange of punts.

Another Steady March
 Pritchard, Roepke and Pincura alternated in carrying the ball from their own 35-yards to the visitors' 29, where Dangerfield was substituted for Helbig. The new man squeezed through the opposing forwards for four yards on his first try and negotiated 10 more in a second attempt. Pm gathered three, placing the ball on the opposition's 13-yards. Roepke fumbled, Kreis recovering for the sons of Neovonia.
 Another exchange of kicks put the ball in F. and M.'s possession on its 40-yard mark. An aerial attack was launched but was stopped immediately. House intercepting the first pass in Lancaster territory. At this stage, Munn replaced McCann at tackle for the Lions.

Roepke ripped through the visitors' defense for 16 yards and Pritchard gained four. Greene replaced Pritchard and on his first attempt, reeled off 15 yards through the line, being stopped on the 8-yard line. Again taking the ball, he sailed through the opposition to the three-yard mark. Dangerfield was stopped six inches from the goal, but Pincura slid off tackle for the second score, Dangerfield succeeding in the try for the extra point. Numerous substitutions for Penn State followed, the rejuvenated team being in possession of the pigskin in opposing territory as the final whistle sounded.

Strong Substitutes
 Bezdek used eight backs during the encounter, two entire backfields, on paper each as strong as the other. Pincura, Roepke, Helbig and Pritchard, all capable line-crackers, gave way to a combination made up of Langren, Dangerfield, Greene and Light, sterling on both defense and offense. Michalske, Mahoney, House and Hastings played bang-up football against the Lancasterians and it lastly offense of wearing blue socks and a blue tie to match. To cap this off they brought in Bacon wearing a vivid blue shirt. This passion for blue may change, for the next two weeks will see him carrying the sign "my favorite color is blue."

 Another unfortunate freshman to interpret dark as anything but black will be adorned with a placard from which a pair of black socks will be artistically suspended. On the sign will be printed "Tell me if these are black."
 The most recurrent crime was the failure of the freshmen to carry bubbles. Plebes Pollock, Chalfant, Skimmell and Whitesell will be required to write the rule pertaining to freshmen bubbles two hundred times.
 Four customs on which there is some doubt must be strictly obeyed in the future on penalty of fine, imprisonment, or both.

The cast for "The First Year" has not yet been completed, but will probably appear in the COLLEGIAN next week. This will be the main road show for the present season and will also be staged here at Commencement time in June. This play is in the hands of Mr. A. C. Cloetingh.

 Horseshoe Curve, a distance of about twenty miles from Altoona. This is one of the oldest railroads of this kind in the United States and dates back as far as 1830. It is a very historic road, lying in the wildest part of the country and formerly being used as a connecting link between canals, carrying boats over the Allegheny Mountains.
 The College is planning to act as host to all mechanical engineers from the convention who wish to accept the invitation extended by Dean Sackett to visit here on Thursday. After inspecting the Engineering School Thursday morning, all the guests will be entertained at a luncheon at the University Club.

Christian Science services are held the first Wednesday Evening of every month, in 100 Hort, at 8:00 o'clock. All faculty members and students are invited to attend.
