

THESPIAN OPENER IS NOVEL REVIEW

Large Audience Attends Six-Act Vaudeville Program—Piano Quartet Applauded

MAGICIAN AND DAGGER—DANCER FEATURE SHOW

Entertaining a capacity audience with the variety and novelty of its performance the Thespians opened its 1925 season by staging an unusual vaudeville show in the Auditorium last Saturday evening.

The performance also marked the debut of a new freshman star. He had the soft throbbing music of the orchestra stilled the acclamation of the first act, when the purple curtains parting revealed a lithe, flaxen-haired youth.

Quartet Entertains

When the dance was completed "Ukelelelike and His Barber Shop Quartet" with W. E. Eschenbach as Mike and J. Rief as R. Ager, W. J. Ward as W. K. Uffler as the quartet harmonized some popular numbers.

As an additional feature "Charlie Schlosser" 23 performed an impromptu piano act and monologue. The appearance of the former Thespians created no little surprise, and the applause that greeted him attested to the quality of his entertainment.

Continuing the round of amusement E. E. Hewitt, 28 then appeared in the costume of an Italian vagabond whose house party anticipations had been ruined because of the impossibility of his girl's attendance.

These were also two clever sketches, "The Duncan Sinners" by "Jane" Graham and "Blanche" Vance, and "You Can't Beat the Dutch" with "Hans" Janovitz and "Gretchen" Pearson.

VARSITY ELEVEN ROUTS MICHIGAN STATE TEAM

Gray Renews Activities. Two Aggie line backs failed to gain and a forward pass, intended for McCosh, was snared by the ever-ready lions of Captain Gray, who advanced the intercepted oval nine yards toward the visitors' goal.

fumbled and Pritchard fell on the ball on his own thirty-nine yards. Shortly after the start of the second period, Michalske's fumble gave the ball to the Westeners inside the Blue and White's forty-five-yard line.

McCann's Recovery Shines. At this stage, Laman fumbled but recovered, losing several yards. The next play was also a fizzle and McCosh dropped back to punt. McCann broke through to block the boot, the ball bounding toward the opposing goal.

Second Backfield Inserted. After the kickoff, an exchange of punts gave the mid-smeared ball to the Lions on their thirty-four yards. Here the reserve backfield went into the fray, and on the first play, Roepke tore around right end for a gain of seven yards, carrying the ball to the Michigan State thirty-one-yard line.

After the final half had begun, Michigan aerials split the ramblings and a pass, Laman to Pouts, carried the ball to midfield. A punt to the Penn State twenty-five yard line was snagged by Pincusa, but two plays afterward, Laman picked up a Nitanny fumble on the thirty-four-yard line.

Two more passes were essayed, but both fell short. Smith, substituted for McCosh, punted high into the air and just over the line of scrimmage, where Gray caught the ball. He started back toward the visitors' territory, but fumbled when tackled by the Green. A line buck by the Green failed to gain and Van Buren dropped back to throw a pass but was ruled by McCann for a ten-yard loss.

Another pass was tried and Dangerfield, in an attempt to knock down the oncoming ball, bumped into Grim and the play was ruled as a penalty for interference with a receiver. The ball, after an offside offence on the part of the Aggies, was put in play on the Penn State twenty-nine-yard line. Smith heaved the ball into the waiting limbs of Pouts, who outdistanced two Nitanny tacklers and slid over the final line, bringing the score to 13-6. Smith's attempted dropkick for the seventh point fell short.

ounded short of receivers in Green jerseys and another was intercepted by Roepke. Neither team scored a point in the final quarter and between the two teams, eight punts were gotten off. With the Penn State reserve backfield again in position, Lungren fumbled, Laman recovering for the invaders. The Aggie quarterback dashed toward the Penn State goal, intent upon going but reckoning without B. S. Gray. The Nitanny captain thundering down the field, behind the Aggie electrified the crowd by his brilliant tackle, hitting Laman with so much force that the drabbing Westener allowed the wet pigskin to slip from his hands, Slamp recovering for the Lions. The remainder of the period was a seesaw affair, each team punting after one or two plays. The game ended with the ball in the Blue and White's possession, after Roepke had intercepted an Aggie aerial on his opponent's thirty-yard line.

Prof. J. B. Hill Reprints Results of Flower Study

The result of a study of species hybrids in Digitalis (foxglove) conducted by Dr. J. B. Hill, professor of Botany at Penn State, and published in the September number of the Botanical Gazette has now been reprinted for private circulation. Dr. Hill has the largest collection of Digitalis in America and he has in the world. He has obtained specimens from the Botanic Gardens of Kew, Dublin, Edinburgh, and Cambridge, from the Museum of Histoire Naturelle Paris, and from the Jardin Botanique, Madrid. The study of the Digitalis by Dr. Hill, which was completed last summer, has extended over a couple of years and represents one part of a considerable amount of work being done on this particular subject.

RIFLEMEN PROGRESS IN PREPARATION FOR FIRST MATCH NEXT SATURDAY

Firing regularly in preparation for the first match of the year with the University of Buffalo on October thirty-first, the Nitanny marksmen have made rapid progress. Several sharpshooters from last year's freshman team are living for places on the A six squad and will probably fire in the first match. Some excellent scores have been turned in during the last few weeks and according to Lieutenant Miller, coach of the team, the marksmen should make a strong bid for the championship of the Eastern League.
