PROFESSOR KELLER CHOSEN EXTENSION ENGINEERING HEAD

Vacated I. E. Department Post Given to C. W. Beese by Board of Trustees

EXECUTIVES TO ASSUME DUTIES FEBRUARY FIRST

J. O. Keller Is Member of 1914 Class at Penn State—To Tour Pennsylvania

Prof. J. O. Keller, former head of the department of industrial engineering, has been appointed head of the department of engineering extension.

Accepting the post made vacant by Professor Keller's resignation, Prof. C. W. Beese will become the new head of the industrial engineering department.

Both appointments were approved last week by the Board of Trustees and will take effect immediately although the men will not take over their new positions actively until February first.

It is expected that the development of engineering extension instruction will be strongly influenced by Professor Keller's well known standards of instruction in management.

Professor Keller graduated from Penn State in 1914 with the degree of bachelor of science in industrial engineering.

After the Armistice he became an instructor and then assistant professor in industrial engineering.

Wide Experience In 1919 Professor Keller accepted the position of associate professor of mechanical engineering at the Iowa State college.

Professor Keller is an active member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, the American Society for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Association of University Professors and the National Geographic Society.

Central Pennsylvania Section Will Inspect Engineering School Saturday

Opening wide all shops, laboratories and experiment stations to members of the Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the School of Engineering is preparing to welcome a large delegation which is coming here Saturday to attend the first meeting of its kind in the society has ever conducted at Penn State.

Following the luncheon, at one-thirty o'clock the session will resume, convening in Room 200 Engineering D for several addresses and a short business meeting.

After these readings a short business meeting will be held at which time the selection of the place for the spring session of the A. S. M. E. management will be decided upon.

Compulsory Daily Chapel

Once again, the question of compulsory daily chapel has been brought before the attention of the student body.

Following the sounding of opinion, the COLLEGIAN will conduct a student referendum on compulsory daily chapel, to be followed, if results warrant, by a petition to the proper authorities from the undergraduates concerned.

YEARLING GRIDMEN THE BISON PLEBES

Nittany Cubs Trail Bucknell Eleven for Two Periods—Final Score Is 7-7

PLEBES EVEN COUNT BY STEAM-ROLLER TACTICS

Unleashing an attack in the last quarter that resulted in a touchdown the Nittany plebes demoralized the contest with the Bucknell yearling gridmen at a 7-0 score after trailing the Lehighburgians for two periods.

A ninety-yard dash by the blond-haired Bucknell halfback, August, early in the second quarter furnished the surprise of the game and for a long time the Nittany freshmen fought to overcome the Bison's lead.

Four consecutive first downs were recorded for the Penn State freshmen in the fourth quarter in their drive for a touchdown.

Although the Penn State freshmen started the first quarter with a terrific drive which threatened to result in a score, an offside penalty on the opponent's ten-yard line ruined their chances.

On the next down the ball reverted to the visitors and was safely punted out of danger.

NITTANY STUDENTS TRY FOR BEAUX ARTS AWARD

Prominent New York Architects Judge Drawings Sent by Various Colleges

Submitting forty-two drawings to the Beaux Arts Institute of Design at New York city where they will be judged by prominent artists, Penn State architectural students have just completed their work.

All the drawings presented will be judged on excellence of design. The sophomores and juniors rendered commemorative tablets of famous architects while the advanced juniors and seniors delineated entrances to a cemetery at the end of a boulevard.

For the last ten days the future architects have consistently worked ten hours daily on their compositions.

Dean Rules on Vacation Cuts

The student request for a Thanksgiving vacation was granted with the understanding that no vacation extensions would be granted.

DR. VAIL TO SPEAK AT MEETING OF CHEMISTS

Addressing the State College Section of the American Chemical Society on Thursday, Dr. James G. Vail will be the principal speaker of the evening's session which will be held in the Physics Lecture room of the Physics Building at seven-thirty o'clock.

Dr. Vail is chemical director of the Philadelphia Quartz company, manufacturer of silicate of soda in its various forms.

LIONS DOWN PITT HILL AND DALERS

Captain Corbett Takes First but Nittany Aggregation Wins by Score of 23-32

RUNNERS TURN IN FAST TIMES ON HEAVY TRACK

Running in better form than in any previous meet this season, the Penn State hurriers took the measure of the University of Pittsburgh runners Saturday morning by a 23 to 32 count.

Despite the heavy track, the hill-and-daleis swung around the two preliminary laps of the New Beaver race at a fast clip, with Corbett of the Panthers, and Captain Bayley and Fontaine of Penn State in the van.

During the three years of research and study since Mr. Sarg first decided to adopt "Treasure Island" to marionette drama, he has found much of interest as to musical instrument, and songs preferred by the old Irish.

"The Cotter's Saturday Night" Is Drama of Philosophy, Wit and Sentiment

Professor Boucke Writes Text Book on Economic Life

From an out-growth of about fifteen years of teaching and study on economic problems, Dr. O. Fred Boucke, professor of economics, has molded into two volumes a new book on the principles of economics.

The book was designed chiefly for the purpose of introducing to students the principles underlying economic life, rather than prepare them directly for a business profession.

In paragraphs that are emphasized the reader finds importance of government and law for a study of economic activities, basic laws of efficiency and personal equations.

The author devotes several paragraphs to capital and credit as an aid for production. Following this he defines the meaning of high costs of living, shows in a clear manner the productive services of the merchant and gives the causes or reasons for the unequalled distribution of incomes.

TONY SARG WILL STAGE PUPPETS IN "TREASURE ISLAND"

Marionettes Interpret Famous Adventure Story from Stevenson's Pen

MANY ARTISTS USED IN NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT

Play Begins at Eight Thursday Night in Auditorium—Sale of Tickets Opens

Although there will be no run when Tony Sarg's Marionettes appear in "Treasure Island" under the auspices of the Penn State Players Thursday night at eight o'clock in the Auditorium there will be many "Yo, Ho, Ho" and several "Dead Men's Chests".

Mr. Sarg, artist, humorist, lecturer and "marionette master", is bringing to Penn State his original puppet, similar to the marionettes which made such a tremendous hit here three years ago in "Don Quixote".

"Treasure Island" is not a picture show of shadowgraph play but is a presentation of the miniature people themselves.

From the piratical scene, where the pirate cutthroats gather at the inn, sing their pirate chorus, and depart for the ship, the cave scene and the final curtain, there is no moment when action lags.

The Hornpipe Dance is so difficult that four puppets are required to execute the contortions, grimaeces and steps.

In addition to the mechanical manipulation of the strings each puppeteer must be an artist to belong to Mr. Sarg's troupe.

Realistic Storm During the three years of research and study since Mr. Sarg first decided to adopt "Treasure Island" to marionette drama, he has found much of interest as to musical instrument, and songs preferred by the old Irish.

Carrying away the first six places, the freshmen cross-country team defeated the strong University of Pittsburgh yearling hurriers in a dual meet Saturday, hanging up a perfect score and winning the meet by the large margin of 15-10.

SCOTCH COMEDIANS WILL APPEAR AS "Y" NUMBER

"The Cotter's Saturday Night" Is Drama of Philosophy, Wit and Sentiment

"The Cotter's Saturday Night", a production with an ever-increasing reputation will be presented as the second number of the "Y" entertainment program in the Auditorium Friday night at eight-fifteen o'clock.

Organized and directed by John Danforth, James Smith tenor, the quartet gives promise of taking its place alongside of other great successes that have won themselves into the hearts of past Penn State audiences.

Heralded everywhere as a triumph of song and a masterpiece of acting, "The Cotter's Saturday Night" is taken from the famous poem by Robert Burns. The sketch throughout is replete with wit, sentiment and philosophy.

Added by un-musical acting on the part of six of the leading Scotch singers of the East, the production affords a character study of the quaint Scots as they went about their daily life in the highlands.

The scenery is carried away to Scotland by the singing of familiar songs, by the dry wit so characteristic of the race and the simplicity that is seen in their very actions.

There are still a few unsold season tickets for the remaining numbers of the "Y" entertainment course. These may be purchased at reduced prices upon application at the "Y" hut.

Powerful Attack Breaks Down Lafayette Defense—Lions Win by 5-0 Score

BRILLIANT PASSING AIDS IN PENN STATE VICTORY

Displaying an invincible attack that pierced the Maroon defense almost at will, the Lion booters continued true to form by overwhelming the Lafayette soccer team by a 5-to-0 score in a well-planned contest last Saturday.

Although the Lion forwards netted only five goals, the work of McCaughey, Lafayette goal-tender prevented many other tallies.

Dismissing the ball from the first kickoff to the Maroon goal the Nittany forwards were in a position to score but Eisenhuth's shot was wild and missed the net.

In the second quarter Eisenhuth again had an opportunity to add another tally, but his shot missed the goal by inches.

1929 HARRIERS DISTANCE PITT YEARLING RUNNERS

Six Nittany Freshmen Breast Tape in Succession To Take 15-10 Win

Carrying away the first six places, the freshmen cross-country team defeated the strong University of Pittsburgh yearling hurriers in a dual meet Saturday, hanging up a perfect score and winning the meet by the large margin of 15-10.

Despite the slippery condition of the course, which prevented full rotation, Cox, individual winner of the race, covered the three miles in the remarkably fast time of 14 minutes, 36 and 1-10 seconds, negotiating the distance more than a minute sooner than the next nearest harrier.

Although running in their first intercollegiate meet and against a team with a reputation as strong as the Pitt first-year men, the Penn State yearlings displayed wonderful endurance and speed in taking all but one of the first eight places.

COLLEGE TO VOTE ON WORLD COURT

Nation-wide Poll To Determine Undergraduate Opinion on Important Issue

RESULTS SENT SENATE MAY INFLUENCE ACTION

Co-operating with 650 other colleges in the United States, Penn State will, within a few weeks, conduct a poll to decide the consensus of opinion on the question of a permanent World Court.

The Nittany Valley school was represented at a student convention held recently at Harrisburg and the delegates have brought back with them information which is now being up-considerable interest on this question, which is of vital importance to everyone.

The World Court of International Justice is a permanent court having as its prime purpose the power of handing down advisory opinions and of regulating international interpretations of treaties.

Prior to the discussion of the question by the United States Senate on December 8, 1925, the poll will be taken in a majority of the colleges, the results being in turn presented to the Christian Association of America, sponsor of the idea, who will transfer them to the senate, hoping that student opinion will bear some weight with our national legislative bodies.

The Penn State committee in charge of this movement is now planning for the voting and it is their intention to open the polls within a very short time. The ballot will outline the four (Continued on third page)

H. V. BLARCOM GIVES ENGINEERING LECTURE ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Continuing his policy of securing noted industrial men for the engineering lecture course, Dean Sackett has announced that Mr. Howell Van Blarcom of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, will deliver an address here on "Choosing a Vocation" on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Van Blarcom has paid several visits to Penn State. He spoke here last May on "Personality" and addressed the senior engineers last year on "Choosing a Vocation".

The next lecturer, Mr. Chesterman, promises to deliver a timely address according to Dean Sackett. As chief engineer of the Bell Telephone company, now one of the largest employers of Penn State graduates, Mr. Chesterman has come into contact with many Penn State men.

Owing to the loss of many of last year's class through graduation and the failure of others to return this year, many vacancies remain to be filled both in the cast and chorus, especially in the female parts.

Belleville, Pa. (Special) The production of "The Kid Himself" have been postponed. Although nothing is certain as yet concerning the exact time they will be held, it is probable that it will be sometime during the week of November 15-16.

With spirited fight crashing to the forefront on every play, mud-caked shoes digging deep into the quagmire and every Blue and White-jerseyed gadder sailing mightily into the smashing offensive of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame eleven, Penn State's great defensive team on Saturday was a wall of stone against which the "Fighting Irish" battered themselves unsuccessfully, the Alumni Day fracas ending in a scoreless tie.

Only once did each team have a ghost of a chance to score, and then the opportunities were by the field goal route. In the third quarter, Enright, of the invaders, essayed a placement from the Penn State twenty-five-yard-line, but the kick was hurried by the Lion forwards and the mud-covered oval swerved to the side amid the joyous howls of the Nittany supporters.

Penn State's opportunity came in the final period, after Notre Dame had battled its way to midfield and then fumbled. Captain Gray, player recovering the ball for the Lions, Greene tore off five yards and on the next play Michalske skinned the Notre Dame left end for a twenty-yard gain, plunging the pigskin on the opposing thirty yards. Two plays gained only four yards and a pass, Michalske to Wilson, was halted for almost no gain. Weston then went back for a try at the uprights, but the pass was low and the boot blocked, and a green-jerseyed batter recovered to have Edwards punt out of danger.

Impenetrable Defense With the opening kickoff came a terrific drive by the Indians. Edwards carried the ball on the return from his twenty-yard to the thirty-five-yard mark. Heardon ripped off nine yards and Enright waded through for a first down. Flammigan eluded four tacklers and went around end for a second first down on Penn State's twenty-nine yards. Edwards' try carried him out of bounds and the ball was brought in to the middle of the gridiron.

Heardon made four yards, but Captain Crowe of the Irish was so badly hurt that he had to be replaced by Badisch. Flammigan was nailed for a four-yard loss, an incomplete pass, wasted another down, Hastings threw (Continued on last page)

TRYOUTS FOR THESPIAN PRODUCTION POSTPONED

Organization To Offer Six-Act Musical Performance at Bellefonte Soon

Because of the inability of Mr. Dancy, coach of the Thespians, and Mr. Lee Morrison, also of the Waybun Studio, to leave New York City this week, the tryouts for the last and chorus of "The Kid Himself" have been postponed.

Although nothing is certain as yet concerning the exact time they will be held, it is probable that it will be sometime during the week of November 15-16.

In order to keep the cast active before regular rehearsals begin, the management of the Thespians has arranged for a showing of its six-act vaudeville sketch at the Bicehen theater in Bellefonte on Thursday, November nineteenth.

Practically the same characters that played in the first appearance at the Auditorium during House Party Week will take part in the Bellefonte engagement.

Tickets for Philadelphia Showing Mr. Tangy, president of the Thespians alumni committee at Philadelphia, has arranged to send some tickets here so that students wishing to attend the presentation of "The Kid Himself" to be given at Philadelphia on December twenty-third may secure the best seats.

These tickets may be secured from F. H. Conrad '26, at Phi Gamma Delta house after Thursday and, as no reservation are being made, the first to get their tickets will have first choice of seats.

The play will be given at the Elk's Home on North Broad street, about two minutes walk from City Hall.

Owing to the loss of many of last year's cast through graduation and the failure of others to return this year, many vacancies remain to be filled both in the cast and chorus, especially in the female parts.

All students who have any dancing ability and are interested in the Thespians should come out for the tryouts, the time of which will be announced in a later issue of the COLLEGIAN.
