

THREE ELIMINATED AS FRATERNITIES BATTLE FOR SPARRING HONORS

Two Fights End Preliminaries Tonight—Semi-Finals Start This Week

Alpha Sigma Phi and Theta Upsilon Omega battled to victory over Beta Sigma Rho and Delta Sigma Phi in the inter-fraternity boxing tournament Thursday night in the Armory. Pi Kappa Alpha forfeited their match to Delta Kappa Sigma the following night.

McAndrews, Alpha Sigma Phi heavy, proved the stumbling block for the Beta Sigma mittmen when, after tying up the match at 3-1 against Kurland, he once more entered the ring to win easily over Begeffer in the unlimited class.

In the other match of the evening Theta Upsilon Omega had things their own way over Delta Sigma Phi, dominating one bout of the seven when Henderson went down to a defeat before Reed.

Fireworks marked Alpha Sigma Phi's triumph over Beta Sigma Rho. Donovan, mulling furiously, gave his fraternity the first win by humbling Hueckland of Beta Sigma Rho. A forfeit and victories by Lille and Chandres gave Beta Sigma Rho a 3-1 lead.

Although defeated by Finetock of Theta Upsilon Omega, Cooper of Delta Sigma Phi put up the best fight of the evening. Exhausted by the powerful blows of Finetock, Cooper gamely waded in and several times staggered Finetock with hard blows to the head. Aside from Reed's victory over Henderson in the 115-pound class, Delta Sigma Phi was helpless before their more experienced opponents.

Four teams will end the preliminaries when Alpha Tau Omega clashes with Theta Kappa Phi and Phi Epsilon Pi meets Alpha Gamma Rho tonight at seven-thirty o'clock. The teams must weigh in at one o'clock this afternoon.

According to inter-fraternity boxing manager H. I. Schermer, the semi-finals will be started this week. In the bouts last Wednesday, Sigma Pi and Phi Kappa Sigma defeated Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Gamma Delta.

Indian Bracelets Are Military Ball Favors (Continued from first page) The favor is different from any that has been given at a Penn State dance before, in accordance with the committee's precedent-setting policy. An attempt will be made this year to improve the methods of holding a dance which have marked all functions held previously in the Armory. To eliminate crowding on the dance floor, the committee has arranged to keep the crowd away from the main doorway. There will be no indiscriminate exchanging of tickets and pass-out checks will be given to all those who wish to leave the floor at any time. This will be done with the idea of insuring the pleasure of those attending the dance.

Each R. O. T. C. unit in the county will hold its military ball on this evening and it is the desire of the

Nittany Matmen Lose Contest to Cornell

Long fell victim to Geier of Cornell, after Captain Walt Liggett had lost to Chakim, a fast strong and clever wrestler, in the thirty-five pound division. Long was helpless when he slipped into a cross-face hold and inside catch grip, which led to a fall in four minutes and thirty-six seconds.

Cornell Strengthens Lead In the fifty-eight pound division Paekard and Partee wrestled nine minutes to a no-decision match which necessitated two extra periods. Only thirty seconds of the nine minutes period were contested on the mat, during which time Paekard held a short advantage over his opponent. The first period was also contested from the neutral position but in the last period Partee held the advantage for the entire three minutes.

The Rumbough-Howard match in the seventy-five pound class resembled the fifty-eight-pound tilt, in that practically all of the grappling was done from the neutral position. Rumbough, in a weakened condition, failed to show his usual brand of wrestling in the two periods which followed and Howard was awarded the decision with five minutes advantage, during which time he almost succeeded in pinning the Lion grappler to the mat for an additional two points.

Garrison Springs Surprise In the unlimited class Garrison and Captain Affeld of the Big Red staged a match that kept the spectators in a state of excitement during the entire nine minutes. Garrison took the aggressive from the start and by clever footwork managed to gain the advantage over his rival. The period that followed was marked by close wrestling which showed that the contestants were evenly matched, although the best Affeld was able to do was to break into the neutral position again.

Garrison again took Affeld into his clutches from behind, and the contestants went from one side of the mat to the other, finally falling on the mat, the Blue and White defender still keeping the advantage. Captain Affeld was a bit too wary to permit Garrison to gain the hold which has given him falls in his two previous matches, and the Lion grappler had to be satisfied with a time advantage of almost three minutes.

A committee that the affair be strictly formal. Invitations have been sent to many noted army officers as well as to President Coolidge and Governor Pinchot.

In order to offer to every one the opportunity of getting a ticket for the annual College function, there will be a ticket sale at Co-op tonight at seven o'clock for the price of $3.50. A sale of booths for three dollars each will be staged in conjunction with the ticket auction this evening. Tickets will be available at Co-op again tomorrow evening at seven o'clock, but those who are unable to obtain them at either time may purchase them at the Armory entrance Friday evening.

Horsemanship Plays Important Part in the Coming Pulling Contests at Fair

The manner in which drivers handle their teams will play an important part in winning prizes in the coming County Fair contests with the use of the Pennsylvania State College dynamometer. To get two horses or mules to exert their maximum effort at the same time requires the greatest of skill. The pull of a team is no greater than twice that of the weakest horse. Teamwork, requires training and good management. Whipping is barred in the contests.

College Dynamometer Will Be Used by B. and B. Members in Horse-pull Test

Members of the Block and Biddle Club will stage a Horse-Pulling Contest using the Penn State dynamometer in the Stock pavilion, Thursday evening, February twenty-fifth. College teams will be driven in the contest according to A. O. Rhoad 26, president of the club.

The machine to be used in this contest is the one which took part in fourteen contests in thirteen different Pennsylvania counties during the past fall season. More than seventy-five thousand people thoroughly enjoyed watching these exhibitions of Dobbin's prowess.

Simply marks the principles of the dynamometer. On the bed of the machine a number of weights are arranged so that they can be lifted vertically when the team pulls on a cable which passes over pulleys attached to the frame which is mounted on a one-ton motor truck. The pulleys are so arranged that the tractive pull, in pounds developed is twice that of the weights lifted.

When the weights go up the movement releases an oil pump which sets up any desired resistance, controlled by the placing of extra weights on the large one attached to the cable. Any number of these weights can be attached to the vertical cable which runs over the two pulleys at the top of the frame and then around another pulley to which is attached one end of the cable upon which the team directly pulls. The latter cable runs down under a pulley at the rear end of the machine and to it is hitched a pair of double-trees. The free end of the first cable is anchored to the frame.

The method of conducting a horse-pulling contest is similar to that of certain athletic events, such as the high jump and pole vault. The weights are increased until the various teams have all reached the limit of their power. The distance chosen is twenty-seven and one-half feet, over which a horse exerts his maximum pull. A stop watch is held on the team so that horse power, which they develop can be determined. The man-equivalent of the horse will be determined by seeing how many men it will take to pull the same load which the winning team accomplished pulling.
