Young Opera Star Scores Hit in Joint Concerts With Many Leading Vocalists

Suzanne Keener, one of New York city's youngest debutantes of the opera, will appear here Friday night at eight-fifteen o'clock in the Auditorium under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Tickets priced at one dollar may be secured at the "Y" hut now or at the door preceding the entertainment.

Miss Keener, who was born at Latrobe, Pennsylvania, comes to Penn State highly recommended as a pupil of Mme. Valeri, noted New York teacher. Before going to New York city the young opera star had little hopes of ever becoming a great singer, having appeared before the public on a few occasions. While singing during the Liberty Loan drive, however, her voice attracted the attention of some influential Pittsburgh people who, immediately recognizing her ability, sent her to New York where for several years she studied under Mme. Valeri.

Attended Carnegie Tech While she was still a student at Carnegie Tech, it was always Miss Keener's desire to visit Penn State and so when an opportunity presented itself to include this place on her itinerary, she immediately advised her booking agent to set aside a date for her appearance here. That the "Y" is fortunate in having secured the famous soprano is indicated by the number of engagements that have been booked in advance.
