AG HILL PLANS DAIRY SHOW ON FATHERS' DAY

Prominent Speakers To Address Undergraduates—Program Includes Banquet

Dads of Penn State students will find the annual Dairy exposition on Saturday, May first, a big attraction according to Ag Hill announcements The fathers will have an opportunity of learning the finer points of dairying. The Penn State creamery, largest commercial creamery of any college in the United States, will be open to visitors.

Secrets of producing ice cream will be fully explained in the exhibition of ice cream making planned for the afternoon by R M Fiedler '26, chairman of the Manufacturing department. A continuous ice cream making demonstration will run from two o'clock to four-thirty.

Dairy Banquet

Fifty-two student showmen will exhibit dairy cattle in the fitting contest scheduled for one-thirty o'clock. Numerous prizes, including four silver cups, medals, and other minor awards, will be presented to successful exhibitors

Perhaps the most tempting part of the entire program is the Dairy banquet at the University Club planned by G. H Cook '26 Speaking at the Club will be State Secretary of Agriculture Willits and Assistant Secretary J. M. McKee; C. W Lauson, chief of the Bureau of Dairying of the United States department of Agriculture and formerly head of the Dairy Husbandry department at Penn State, R. W. Balderston, a trustee of the College, Dean Watts and other noted men

"NATION" SUMMER WORK ESSAY TO RECEIVE PRIZE

The Student Work contest inaugurated by The Nation last year will be repeated The contest is open to students who will spend part of next summer at work in factories, mines or on farms, and will write their experiences afterward The winner will receive one hundred dollars

The conditions of the contest are as follows:

The contest is open to graduate and undergraduate students, men and women, who were enrolled in some college or university in the spring of 1926, and worked as laborers for at least two months in the summer of 1926.

The contestants must give name, class and college, name and address of employer, and dates of employment; the name of a member of the faculty of the contestant's school who vouches for his or her eligibility is also required

Manuscripts must be typewritten and not over four thousand words in length The article winning first prize will be published in The Nation, which may accept others for publication, reserving the right to cut the manuscript of any article printed Winners will be announced and prizes awarded not later than January, 1927

entation in a professional manner

W R Widenor '26, will have an augmented orchestra in the pit to harmonize the strains of the popular Thespian numbers and to set the tempo for dancing feet "Russ" is at present contemplating the recording of a few Thespian melodies for the Columbia Company. It is through his efforts that the air "I've Been Looking For Someone Like You" has become so popular wherever the Thespians have played

The final local showing of "The Kid Himself" will take place during the June houseparty period

THETA KAPPA PHI WINS CAGE TITLE

Trips Sigma Nu in Final Round Of Fraternity Tourney Monday Evening

CHAMPIONSHIP STRUGGLE STAGED IN BELLEFONTE

Theta Kappa Phi's basketball team emerged victorious in the final tilt of the interfraternity competition when the Sigma Nu five was defeated by the score of 16-7 on the Bellefonte Armory court Monday evening

At the beginning of the game the Theta Kaps caged a field goal only to have the count tied by a couple of foul shots The half ended with the score 4 to 2 in favor of the ultimate winners

The second half found the Theta Kaps in the throes of a scoring epidemic, caging the three field goals which proved to be their margin of victory. In the closing stages of the contest the Sigma Nus began a belated rally, displaying the form which had enabled them to qualify as finalists However, the Theta Kaps froze the sphere and kept the opposition away from the basket, long shots being impossible because of the low rafters

BOTANY SOCIETIES SEEK TO SAFEGUARD FLOWERS

Authorities Warn Violators of Law Against Destruction Of Trees and Shrubs

All other means having failed to deter the ever-increasing destruction of wild flowers in Pennsylvania, the American Society for the Conservation of Wild Flowers is depending upon educational methods as a last trial saviour for Nature's own

According to local botanical authorities, wild flowers that once grew on the outskirts of State College and that added a certain touch of natural beauty to the fields are meeting swift and sure extermination at the hands of careless hikers and travelers The yellow orchid that only a few years ago grew in abundance about the College is now a rare sight and the arbutus that once glorified Shingletown Gap has disappeared entirely

One Penn State professor calls to the fore the fact that there is a very stringent law forbidding the picking of flowers from any tree or shrub, even on the highway In spite of the fact that offenders are liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars, the statute is disregarded daily, he adds

Botanical societies, in final endeavor to preserve the wild flowers of the State, are making a humane plea to the students and at the same time issuing a warning as to the graveness of the offense connected with the aforementioned law. Botany students particularly are to be instructed during the coming week
