NETMEN MATCH STROKES WITH BROWN AND WHITE

Lehigh Number One Man Ranks Fifteenth In National Tennis Ratings

Crossing rackets with one of the strongest net teams in Eastern collegiate circles, Penn State's tennis team will attempt to stroke its way to victory over Lehigh on the Brown and White courts tomorrow afternoon...

After sustaining a crushing defeat at the hands of Bucknell, the Lion courtmen are romping into form and should give plenty of opposition to the Bethlehem stars...

Captain Don Malpass will face one of the most formidable college players in the East when he takes the court against Neil Sullivan, the Brown and White singles ace ranked fifteenth in the national standing...

Hellmich has continued to display steady tennis and will match drives with Lehigh's second man, MacCovatt. Both of these combinations have shown power and teamwork during the week. The third doubles team will be chosen from Eggleston, McCabe and Schuster.
