A THOUSAND-DOLLAR STUNT

Someone once said "When a dog bites a man, it's an ordinary occurrence, when a man bites a dog, that's news," Sinclair Lewishas attained the goal of a very great novelist—the front page of the piess. Years and years it took, he, together with every other free-lance and thought-thrower, has worked meessantly, ever reaching, ever writing, ever striving to get onto the front page. But even though he has turned out some middlin good stuff in that time, it was only inducedly that his, "Arrowsmith" gained to him the publicity which he now has Sinclair Lewis has retused the Pulitzer pive of one thousand dollars (think of it), awarded each year to the novelist doing the work which best portrays contemporary American life. One thousand dollars for the front page. Perhaps Mr Lewis is money-poor and has so much Jupitel.

Perhaps Mr Lewis is money-poor and has so much Jupiter moneta that a palitry gand is nothing more than a drop in the bucket. Perhaps he is very proud and desires that no gifts be bestowed on him. Then, again, perhaps what he says is his true treason, that he will not be a slave to the prize-contest idea and stifle his feelings in order that he may write the novel which is help up as the harmless model.

We suppose that the Committee of Award, after everything gas over, wracked its bian and muttered; "Well, we've got to frainly the first page without taking the prize." And now that the novelist has turned upon his judges and got onto the front without the first page without taking the prize." And now that the novelist has turned upon his judges and got onto the front without the first page without taking the prize. "And now that the novelist has turned upon his judges and got onto the front without the founding of a journal of self-expression. Or anything else." ### THE EVIL THAT MEN DO-

Now that the 1101 is over and the sulfur fumes have been assimilated by the atmosphere, we pause to comment on the wagon pile. High temper atures, caused by a bunch of lamebrains who velled "Let's get this" and "Let's get that" and who then stood aside while the mob milled in search of "thises" and "thats," were responsible for the biggest load of wheels and tin bodies ever piled up to obstruct Co-op Coiner.

The pai ade was a good one until——. The damage done last Thui sday mght amounts approximately to five hundred dollars which will be taken from a fund usually contributing to the memorial left by the graduating class. The file hazard created certainly worried every merchant whose place of business is in the vicinity of the Corner. The College authorities were appalled by the lack of thought evinced by those action-clary individuals who assailed the women's dormitories and those who attempted unsuccessfully to haul away the great gun from its abode in front of the Armory.

What thinking man would wish to deprive the College of a fitting senior class memorial? What thinking man could wish for another great file on Co-op Corner? What thinking man would wish to openly insult a woman student, to haul the gun to the College with no jumpose in view? Certainly not the man who is really a credit to Penn State, not the man who thinks. Mob rule tears from us our pride, our respect and our reason. The parade was held in a worthy cause, but—the evil that men do lives after them.
