al yards in front of D'Auto. Filling third place winner in the century, was again in that position.

West Virginia's touted star D'Auto was the visitor's high scorer with nine points. In addition to his two sprint performances, the Mountaineer track captain won second place in the broad jump, leaping 22 feet 9 1/4 inches. Kriehner and Lewis won first and second places for the visitors in the discus throw, while Dilcher surprised by defeating Roberts in the javelin with a throw of 172 feet 11 1/2 inches. Glenn, West Virginia hurdler and high jumper, also gave a good account of himself.

Aside from the broad jump, the best mark of the day was Stewart's 4 minutes 29 2/5 seconds in the mile. The first lap was a duel between Stewart and Poutacre, both of Penn State, but Calloway ran ahead on the second round. The time for the first half mile was 2 minutes 16 seconds. Stewart bore down on Calloway in the third lap, fought off Poutacre's challenge and was never headed.

The Lion strength in the distance runs was again evidenced when Barclay, Johnson and Reis, finishing in that order, swept the two-mile run. For the most part it was a duel between Barclay and Johnson, but all three Blue and White men lapped the lone West Virginia entry. The time was 9 minutes 58 seconds.

Eggers and Moore Win

Eggers and Larch took first and second respectively in the 120-yard high hurdle. Glenn of West Virginia nosed out Sharpe and Costello for third place. Cup Moore, making his last appearance in a dual meet on Beaver Field, stayed out of this event in order to try for a new 220-yard low hurdle record. Moore was easily in 23 1/5 seconds but it was found that one lane of hurdles had not been set up.

Ide Takes Hammer Throw

Redeeming the somewhat poor showing made by his teammates in the field, Ide, promising weight star, hurled the hammer 118 feet 2 2/5 inches for first place.

The summary

Lacrossemen Lose To Syracuse Team

the ball from behind the Blue and White net. Eight of these onslaughts resulted in counters for the visitors during this time. The opposing defense held the Nittany attacks to three tallies in the first thirty minutes. These scores came only after speedy foot-work, close scrimmages, and well-timed passes.

The second half found the teams battling on more even terms with a slight advantage for Penn State. Both defenses were strong while the offensive men on each side attempted to break through the opposing guards with more vigor. Although Syracuse had possession of the ball for the greater part of the time during the last thirty minutes, each team tallied only twice. During this period the Blue and White attacks carried the ball through the Orange guards almost every time they secured it. The Nittany defenders also tightened up and kept the Syracuse offense men farther away from the Penn State goal.

Syracuse Talks Four

As the whistle blew for the contest to begin, the Syracuse players raised their crosses high in the air and let out a real Indian whoop. From the first face-off the visitors took the ball through Penn State's defense for a score from the stick of Clarke in fifteen seconds. After the pellet had been centered again, the opposition carried it behind the Nittany end. From here a pass to Kopkind accounted for the Syracuse second tally.

his predecessor. Syracuse again carried the ball to the Penn State net where Bark counted for their third score. The Orangemen continued to get the ball from face-off and a pass from Perkins to Stoddard and another clean shot resulted in the fourth counter.

Lions Score

After Syracuse had accounted for a quartet of pointers the Penn State combination organized an attack that scored their first goal. Breaking through the visitors' defense as an odd man, Wendel received a long pass and lodged the first score for his team in the Orange net. The Nittany crosses continued their good passing to carry the play into enemy territory, only to lose the ball on bad shots at the goal.

Penn State's second tally came when Edmunds, who had been substituted for Bierd, received a difficult pass from Wendel, passed the man guarding him and netted a fast underhand shot. Following this tally Kopkind scored the fifth tally for Syracuse.

Ball Behind Nittany Goal

From a tight scrimmage before the Orange goal, Catpian Hackett accounted for the Lions' next score. The Blue and White stalkmen followed up their attack with fast work and clever passing in an attempt to raise their total, but the Syracuse defense prevented further scoring.

Kopkind tallied for the third time when he netted a shot received from behind the Blue and White goal. Passing from behind the net was a favorite and effective manner of attack for the Syracuse offense men. This method resulted in two more goals by Painter before the half ended.

Play Close in Second Half

Starting the second half, Syracuse again took the ball behind the Penn State goal. Bark received a pass from this position to account for his teammates' ninth tally. After this, play became slower and the ball was carried up and down the field until Shanks counted following a long run around the Syracuse goal and through their defense.

Wendel then took the ball down the field and passed to Shanks who made his second goal. Until the end of the game the play was mostly in enemy territory, especially behind their net. The Nittany defense prevented more scoring until Kopkind broke through for his fourth counter a few minutes before the whistle ended the contest, 10-5.

Are You Going Into the Bond Business?

There is a cycle of fashion not only for the hats college men wear but for the line of work into which they go.

But your job has to fit your head as well as your hat, for it has to fit your state of mind.

Like your hat also, your job needs to fit your purse. Therefore, why not choose one that brings not only satisfaction in service but in financial return.

Selling life insurance is one of the few modern businesses that does just this.

It takes:

Intelligence, Zest and Ability

It gives:

Liberty of action, the philosophic satisfaction of selling future security and present serenity to living people, and a response, immediate and tangible, in monetary as well as mental reward.
