Notices

The Outing Club will be addressed by Prof. C. A. Bonine of the Geology department when they convene tomorrow evening in Room 315 Old Main at seven o'clock. Professor Bonine will speak on "Geology in the Vicinity of State College."

Members of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary romance language fraternity, will meet in the Foyer of the Auditorium tonight at seven-thirty o'clock to discuss plans for the coming year. Dr. I. L. Foster will preside.

The class of 1928 will meet in the Bull Pen tomorrow night at seven o'clock. At this time J. C. Belfield, president of the class, will announce the members of the Junior Prom and Blazer committees.

Because lack of space in this issue prohibits the continuation of an account by J. L. Gans '28 on "Penn State as it appeared in the old days," the story will be held over until Friday's issue.

Juniors may obtain tickets for the Syracuse game at the Athletic Office today, sophomore tomorrow and freshmen Thursday. Two year olds and special students may secure their tickets on Friday. There is no limit on the number of tickets which may be bought.

Marietta Fares Badly In Varsity Encounter

chief offenses were holding and off-sides. Despite the crushing defeat handed the Ohio invaders, the Bezedekians showed need of improvement before the crucial test of the season at Notre Dame this week. The line work was ragged at times, and the punting far off color.

The vaunted aerial attack of the Big Blue eleven materialized, nine out of fifteen passes being completed for a total yardage of one hundred and thirty-two. Four tosses were intercepted.

First Half
A fumble by Hamas halted the first Lion offensive on the Marietta fourteen yard line, but his subsequent bucking and Bill Pritchard's plunges worked the ball into position for Bill to hurl his bulk over the goal line. He added the extra point by placement. Two twenty-yard sprints by Wolf and an eighteen-yard advance by Pincera brought the pigskin to the twelve yard line, where Pritchard scored in two smashes off tackle. His placement was accurate.

Langren, Hewitt, Greene and Harrington replaced the Lion backfield as the quarter ended. A brace of twenty-yard smashes by Greene and a twenty-four yard pass, Cy to Hewitt, offset penalties for holding. Greene completed the final drive and Cy kicked the placement which brought the score to 21-0.

Reed and Bergman entered the game for Mahoney and Munz, while Lyons replaced Lesko. After an exchange of punts, Cowboy Greene slipped through the milling linemen, and fuded out of sight down-field for a heroic seventy-two yard run for a touchdown. Cy booted the placement. Hewitt, Greene and Langren launched another offensive which Cy terminated by scoring after knifing his way thirteen yards through right tackle. A bad center pass forestalled any attempt to kick the goal.

Langren's ninety-five yard run from kick-off and subsequent goal finished the scoring for the half. By this time the statisticians in the press box had become worried.

Second Half Slow
Several times in the last half the plucky Marietta line held for downs. The Nittany forward wall failed to play up to its first-half standard. Faulkner's touchdown after intercepting a pass was the only scoring gesture made by the Varsity. Penalties killed several budding Lion drives.

Late in the third period a bounding punt which had touched a Penn State player was scooped by Laferty, who ran to the Blue and White ten yard line before being nailed from the rear by Faulkner. This same Faulkner threw Reif for a six-yard loss on the next play and aided materially in scaring Raridan out of his attempted drop-kick.

Red Griffith's outfit of fighting warriors threatened again in the fourth stanza when Hinkle intercepted Hewitt's pass on the twenty-three yard line. However, the line held and Raridan's boot went wide of the uprights.

Frustrated in previous efforts, the Ohio warriors pressed the attack against the patched line-up of the line-up of the Lion and pushed over their tally. Nevada, quarterback, wrenched his knee severely and was freed to retire.

Captain Weston Improving
The jinx which seems to dog the footsteps of every Penn State football captain and which has prevented Ken Weston from digging up any sod on New Beaver in a game this year seems to have been laid low finally. His knee is improving, and judging by his speed in sprint practice he will be ripe for the Notre Dame game.

"Ding Dangerfield is also paving the ground with impatience, but his lame shoulder may keep him idle. Roepke has returned from Philadelphia but will not be allowed to risk his jawbone before the Syracuse game. Slamp's knee remains a mystery, while Delp's bad ankle is still bad.

and the Altoona combination, the coach declined to make any definite comparison between the two teams. According to him professional soccer teams used a close style of play, emphasizing dribbling and short passes, while collegiate booters depend upon long passes and aggressiveness to score goals.

Line-up
From the results obtained during the latest scrimmages, it is likely that Coach Jeffries will start Horne at goal with Lippincott and Cherry in the full-back posts. The probable men for the line are Serry and Pecori, outside left and right respectively; Marshall and Griffin on the inside, and Glaser at center forward.

GOLF TOURNEY ADVANCES
The winner of the medal for the qualifying round of the fall College golf championship was J. F. Bunting '29, who spun a seventy-five over the eighteen-hole College course last week. Three strokes behind was N. J. Sickles '29.

Only two other contestants were able to break eighty while a like number qualified with scores exceeding a hundred.

and his flying defense for the Lions made him prominent in every play.

The afternoon with a bright Fall sun and a crisp atmosphere, was ideal for football. About seven thousand students, Dads, mothers and friends saw the fracs before the Varsity clash. Two bands were present.

Boots Shuler, center, who was hurt in the fourth quarter and removed, was acting-captain. Tony Pannaccioni did the cubs' kicking-off. Johnny McCracken, Herb's speedy brother, failed to get started at the quarterback post and Hermann replaced him with Gettings whose losses caused him in turn to be supplanted by Wilson. No line-up changes were made until the fourth quarter when both sides substituted lavishly in the last few minutes.

Starting on his fifteen yard line after the first five minutes of play Hood's forward to Gaudet netted twenty-five yards. The plebes were off-side on the next play. Daugherty gained five around right end and made thirty on a charge through guard. Zuhurunsky downed Daugherty when he fumbled. Williams netted sixteen on a fake pass and Hood carried the oval to the yearlings' ten yard line. Successive plunges, a pass and an end run by Williams scored

The second period was fought on almost even terms, and was the closest of the game. Hood displayed his passing ability in this frame by attempting several fifty yard aerials but they were too long to be covered by the ends or backs.

Penn State's line weakened in the next two quarters, and McCracken got off several pretty punts. Immediately after the opening kick-off in the final period Hood caught Ridgeway's pass and behind good interference reeled for his second score.
