SOCCEMEN BATTLE ORANGE TOMORROW

Lion Booters Open Collegiate Schedule Here—Syracuse Strength Unknown

LINE-UP SHIFTED TO GIVE BACKFIELD MORE POWER

Aided by the experience obtained last week from the Altoona game, Penn State booters will open the regular intercollegiate schedule here when they meet Syracuse on Old Beaver field tomorrow.

Last week's showing of the Blue and White team against a combination of Syracuse and Altoona booters has been shifted to the old position at fullback.

Although the backfield was somewhat weak because of inexperienced men, its strength will be increased when the Orange battle as Captain Lippincott has been shifted to his old position at fullback.

VETERAN ORANGE SQUAD FAVORED TO STOP VARSITY AS PLEBES FACE KISKI

Herrmann Alters Cubs' Line-up for Third Test of Year

NEW LINE SHOWS PUNCH IN PREPARATORY DRILLS

Craig May Not Start Because of Injuries—Gettings Again At Quarterback

If the Lion cubs display the same stonewall tactics against Kiski tomorrow morning at ten o'clock on the practice field that they did against the Varsity regulars in the slush of New Beaver field Wednesday, the Saltburg lads will not repeat last year's 41-2 gulching.

Three new linemen, the whole left side, greatly aided in smearing the line plunges and hidden-ball plays of the Beekmans' Parana, Brown, Faulk and Becker were especially effective although the whole team played like veterans.

The Varsity scored only because it was given the ball on every play whether it made its yardage or fumbled.

Edde Craig's knee, bruised at Wyoming, is troubling him and Weber may start in his place at fullback.

Last year Kiski's bewildering attack smothered the Lion freshmen.

DEBATERS CONSIDER CAMPUS PROBLEMS

Forensic Council Approves Two Subjects—Prohibition Has Place

CANDIDATES GATHER FOR SEASON'S FIRST MEETING

Debaters of many Pennsylvania colleges this winter will forget about the League of Nations, World Court and similar problems for their argument and turn their attention to wrangling over amendment of the Volstead Act and a group of questions aimed at the solution of problems that confront them on the college campus.

The Penn State forensic council has approved two subjects presented at the recent Harrisburg conference, and will use one of them in the annual triangular debate in December with University of Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson college.

Both Machines Hard Hit By Injuries—Carr, Friedman Out

NITTANY QUARTERBACK POST STILL UNDECIDED

New Backfield Combination To Be Used Tomorrow—Delp May Start at End

Lashed to vengeful fury during a week of dogged scrimmages, the Nittany Lion will stalk forth to meet a powerful Syracuse eleven before a crowd of twenty thousand students and alumni on New Beaver field tomorrow afternoon.

Syracuse, proud claimant of three successive victories over the Blue and White in as many starts, hears the Lion with confidence despite the absence of two of her mainstays, Carr and Friedman, who were injured in the Army game last Saturday.

Another probable change will bring Goldman into the backfield in place of Flanagan.

Orange Has Veteran Team Previous to the injuries to Carr and Friedman, Syracuse could boast a complete line-up of veterans of one or more years' experience.

The Syracuse squad, thirty strong, will arrive in time for a light signal drill and limbering exercises this afternoon Monday the varsity men were given a vacation to recuperate from the severe pounding handed them by the Army warriors, but on Tuesday the Orange mentor drove his protégés through a severe scrimmage session.

Coch Reynolds concentrated on signals in an extended practice Wednesday afternoon, hating his back for into the night in order that all false moves be eliminated before the tussle tomorrow.

Lion Line-up Undecided Line scrimmage Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings inspired the forwards to heroic endeavors, and equally potent failures.

From there he went to Leamington, Massachusetts where he served as rector of the Church of Our Redeemer for many years. In the years from 1906 to 1921 he was dean of the General Theological Seminary in New York city.

Jack Flink has displaced Munz at right tackle and will start with Greenshields at his accustomed position.

George Delp, star end on last year's yearling club, will probably get his first taste of varsity competition against the Orange tomorrow.

New Set of Backs Contemplated Coach Hugo Bezdek's latest backfield combination consists of Dangerfield and Hymas, halfbacks, Pritchard, quarterback and Pincua or Lungren, quarter.
