Booters Eager To Avenge La Year's Loss When Middies Smashed Seven-year Winning Streak

VISITORS' SLATE CLEAN

Jeffries Again Shifts Line-up To Bolster Offense-Continues Kicking, Passing Drills In Front of Goal

An opportunity to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Middie soccermen will be offered Penn State's booters when they meet the strong Navy team on Old Beaver field tomorrow morning at ten o'cleck The contest will be the first played between the two combinations since their entrance into the Intercellegiate Soccer Association of America.

Memories of last season's loss to Navy, the first defeat in seven year-has spurred on the Blue and White booters during practice sessions this week To date both teams have a clean record in intercelligiate games and a victory for one will mean a good start toward the league championship. For this reason Coach Jeffries has been putting the boys through more strenuous drills than for previous games.

and spurred on the Bule and white booters during practice sessions this week. To date both teams have alean record in intercollegiate games and a victory for one will mean a good start toward the league championship. For this reason Coach Jeffries has been putting the boys through more strenuous drills than for previous games.

Line-up Again Changed

These drills have caused anothed change in the line-up for the puipose of strengthening the forward line. Last Saturday's draw with the University of Toronto has further convinced Coach Jeffries that the booters still lack the punch to-score goals when the chance presents itself. To add to the offense he has advanced Mollinger from center halfback to miside right. The remander of the line will include Serry and Pecori as wingers, Marshall at inside left and Griffin in at center forward

In recent sei immages the linemen have easily carried the ball through opposing defenses only to crowd before the net or miss short shot stat should legister as counters. With the last change in line-up, the Mitchiany soccer coach has drilled the forwards especially in charging, passing and booting in front of the uprights.

The position of center halfback will likely be filled by Cockley who performed builliantly in earlier games. Composed of veterans, the backfield has presented a strong defense to enemy attackers, clearing the goal many times when tallies were almost sure.
