DON'T READ

"A prophet is not without honor save in his own country," say the scriptures, and we would add that many who are honored in their own country are ignored as strangers in a new land. Bear with us while we illustrate our text with an example from life on our own campus.

Every year more girls transfer to Penn State from other colleges. Some of them come from situations enough like Penn State to enable them to adjust themselves easily to conditions here; some of them are sufficiently acquainted with Penn State to know what to expect; and others, coming here with the standing and privileges of upperclassmen, know very little more about Penn State than a freshman and have less chance of learning, because we do not make the efforts to meet their particular needs. They are often capable people whom we give no chance to share in our activities.

How often have you heard something like this? "She transferred this year from somewhere and she seems awfully nice, but I just haven't had time to do a thing for her." We are all guilty, and from time to time remorseful for our neglect, while in the meantime the stranger within our gates goes about the campus alone, our hurried "Good morning" and perhaps a smile all the honor she is given.

After two or three years at Penn State most of us have our own group of friends with whom we spend our time and it takes special effort to depart from our usual concerns. Yet this personal interest in the new girls on the part of each one of us is the only means of bringing them into our activities and new life to our associations.

There will be no Christmas bazaar this year, according to the plans of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. In its place will be substituted the sale of Christmas cards and gift books in charge of the freshman cabinet, which will be chosen after the Thanksgiving vacation. The proceeds, in addition to the funds raised during the campaign, will finance the projects planned by the Y. W. C. A. for this year.

Because of insufficient returns and the amount of time spent on Christmas bazaars in previous years the Y. W. C. A. cabinet abandoned their former plan as impractical. Christmas cards, which sold well last year, and "One Hundred and One Best Poems" are expected to find favor on the campus. The book chosen is a collection published by the Cable Company of Chicago, and is bound in Kraft leather to make an acceptable Christmas gift.

Girls are being considered for positions on the Freshman Cabinet, which is organized as a training school for membership on the main cabinet later. The younger girls work with the older and also have certain responsibilities of their own, the Christmas sale being their first task.

Preliminary Tryouts for Girls' Debating Team Will Be Held Thursday

Following the initial meeting of the girls' debating squad last week, preliminary tryouts for the team will take place at seven o'clock Thursday night, each girl giving a short speech on the question, "Is the tendency to emphasize the practical in American higher education deplorable?" The place of the tryouts will be posted on the bulletin board outside the office of the Dean of Women.

Juniors Break Ties for Lead in Hockey League

The junior hockey team jumped to the lead in the tournament, when it tumbled the strong yearling outfit by a 3-1 score in a hard-fought battle in Holmes field last week.

When the senior eleven engaged the freshman team, the first-year group took the lead in the early part of the fray. A free roll for the upperclass aggregation in the early part of the second half netted a point and the game ended with a tie at 1-1.

usual "Comrade In Arms," by Adams. The next two numbers presented were, "Sweet and Low" by Barnby and "Big Bass Viol" by Bohannon. Popular numbers, "Bye-Bye Blackbird," and "Moonlight and Roses," were sung by an unimpressive Varsity quartet and the stage was set for Miss Peck's musical caricature.

After the song-bird's monologues, the gleemen continued with the selections, "In Old Nassau," "Two Chanteys," "Alexander" and "Rolling Down To Rio." The Penn State song "Blue and White," was sung as the final offering.

cal record he smashed was 14 minutes 50 seconds.

George Offenhauser '29 and Captain Fouracre '27, running together at a fast clip, also beat the record and finished second and third respectively. Reis '27 and Oesterling '28, seventy yards behind this duo, came next with Swede Johnson '27 and Ollie Helffrich battling for sixth and seventh positions. Johnson won with a steady spurt. Reis and Oesterling also clipped the record.

Lee, Bass and Pettit, all sophomores, placed eighth, ninth and tenth. Since the juniors and seniors were not considered in the totaling Helffrich was credited with third, Lee fourth and Bass fifth places, thereby casting the freshmen from the scoring column and giving the 1926 men a clean victory.

Giles and Raitcliff, freshmen, were taken back a little at the record-breaking step of the leaders and took eleventh and twelfth places. They were followed by Makowski, a classmate, Wilde '29 and Kowalek. Brennis, Smith, freshmen. Giles was the first yearling to finish.

MAKE IT A DAILY HABIT

HAVE A CAMEL

A smoking pleasure that never fails

HERE is the outstanding fact of the entire cigarette industry: Camels never tire the taste, no matter how liberally you smoke them; never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

Only the choicest tobaccos that nature produces, only the finest blending ever given a cigarette could produce a smoke that never fails to please, that always brings the utmost in smoking enjoyment. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camels will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure.

That is why Camel sales, by far the largest in the world, keep overwhelmingly in the lead. Increasing millions are discovering the incomparable Camel quality—smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the one and only cigarette that's good to live with strenuously from morn to mid-night—the cigaretty that never tires the taste—Have a Camel!
