A complete clean-up of box candy before Christmas; now everything new and fresh again. Five Big Lines to select from.

Notices

The Penn State Club will meet at seven o'clock Monday evening in Old Chapel to discuss plans for the next dance and to hold registration for dancing classes.

The School of Agriculture will offer a new course, Marketing Farm Products, during the second semester. Emphasis will be placed on the marketing of milk, eggs, potatoes, poultry and fruits.

A unit managers are requested to sign up at the Armory bulletin board for the inter-unit basketball tournament.

Matmen Selected for Interclass Encounter

(Continued from first page) were fast from the start and the representation that stacks up against the juniors tomorrow, will make its presence known. Grey won the 115-pound berth from the other plebe contenders. Cowell holds the 125-pound position and Hubler will wrestle with the 135-pounders.

Campbell will represent the yearling 145-pounders, while Long, a brother of Hank and Ike Long, Varsity aspirants, has still to contend with Fisher for the 158-pound post. Parana, a light-heavyweight and McDonald, in the unlimited class, complete the team.

In the sophomore trials, the final bout for 115-pound men resulted in a draw between Alexander and Steele. Either one of these men may represent his class tomorrow. Pollock and Russell will wrestle in the 125-pound and 135-pound classes respectively. Evans won by a fall in the finals for the 145-lb. weight. One of the most interesting bouts was that fought by Shachikowski, former plebe twirler, and Serry, Varsity soccer star. Both men are 175-pound contenders. Shachikowski won the bout by a small time advantage. Cramer, Varsity aspirant, holds the heavy-weight post. Finals in the 158-pound division are still to be contested. The decision lies between Nichol and Eisman.

Varsity Men to Wrestle Kaiser, Liggett, Chenoweth, Ace, Packard, Long and Garrison, all men with Varsity experience, loom as contenders among the upperclassmen. Nine seniors and thirteen juniors have announced their candidacy. As yet no junior heavyweight has made his appearance, but Rog Mohaney, alternate grappler and boxer, may make a last-minute claim for the post. Erb, Heppenstall and Hollobaugh may still fight their ways into the ranks of the junior representation. Leight and Wetzel face stiff opposition in their battles for senior berths.

The class tilts tomorrow will be fought on two mats. On one the freshmen will meet the juniors and on the second, the sophomores and seniors will grapple.

SKATING RINK MAY BE FLOODED WITHIN WEEK

Bezdek Foresees Possibility of Intercollegiate Hockey Team in Future

That ice-skating at Penn State will become a reality within a week seems possible since Hugo Bezdek appointed R. B. Rutherford of the Building and Grounds Committee Tuesday to investigate the cause of the escaping of water in the concrete tennis court on New Beaver field.

It is thought that the drain at the bottom of the court is clogged, thus causing the water to flow out when the court is flooded. Mr. Rutherford expects to have a definite report within a few days. When the work is completed, the court will be properly flooded and prepared for skating.

Sports Credit

According to Bez, in the event of the construction of a skating surface large enough to provide proper accommodations, students would be given the privilege of choosing skating as the winter sport of their Physical Education program. There would also be the possibility of the organization of a hockey team to represent Penn State in intercollegiate competition.

Every previous attempt to provide the College with a skating rink has failed, chiefly because the composition of the ground in this locality is too porous to hold water. The present operation is expected to prove satisfactory because of the concrete base retaining the water.

First Boxing Workout Satisfies Coach Houck

(Continued from first page) would leap in with both hands swinging and beat Wilford to the punch. The latter showed a tendency to lower his head at Pileger's fiery charges, but Houck's care should remedy this defect.

In the feature bout of the evening Wolf and Captain Clark Grazier found themselves opposed to each other. Wolf did most of the leading and Grazier had difficulty in getting his best punch, a straight left to the head, inside his heavy opponent's guard.

Freshman Surprises

A freshman, Ebe, took the ring against Bevan, the light haired featherweight, in the first and best bout of the night. Ebe is a weaving, foxy ringman with plenty of snap in his punches, and he gave the hardworking Bevan plenty of trouble, though several times Bevan's sharp right leads caught Ebe off his guard.

In other good bouts Robb, 145-pounder, showed plenty of fight against the dangerous Hertig, a sophomore middleweight, and Mahon and Byrem made things hot in a bantam-weight clash. Among the 160-pounders Dunn and Sullivan put on a fair scrap and Mahoney outboxed Donaldson, a tall light-heavyweight.

Mahoney used his left hand exclusively against his taller opponent. Rog displayed nothing but elephantine grace and a sweet left hook that had Donaldson hopping desperately to keep out of reach. Occasionally when Donaldson took the offensive and would wade in, the burly grid star would send him back on his heels with hard lefts.

“Speaking of fine tobaccos
—Have a Camel!”
A NICETY of blending, a friendly cordiality of flavor, an inherent goodness that thrills from the first puff to the last—that's Camels. The warmth of golden sunlight on autumn fields gleams in their smoke. Camels are an expression of all that is the finest.
Camel quality and Camel excellence are recognized wherever smokers gather. The best of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are blended in this famous cigarette. For this reason Camels have consistent goodness. For this reason they never tire the taste, no matter how liberally you smoke them; never leave a cigarettey after-taste. And wherever experienced smokers gather, wherever the conversation turns to tobacco—to the world's best—someone is sure to say: “Speaking of fine tobaccos . . . Have a Camel!”
