

WOMEN

"MUD-SLINGER!"
 "—and then she told me not to tell anyone, so if I tell you, you must promise not to tell her!" I told you, but she said that— "Whisper, whisper, whisper."

"See that girl over there? Well, I heard that she and— The voice is lowered and the rest is inaudible."

"You know her? Well, she is just ruining her reputation by going out with that man from the Xxx house."

"She isn't good looking, and she hasn't any style. The only other reason for her popularity must be that she— The voice becomes confidential, and the thrilling tale is lost to all but a few."

"She needn't high-hat me! She comes from my home-town. If you could see her family— regular beggars, and she puts on airs as if they were royalty."

How often have we heard these and similar remarks made about one person or another. In fact, most of us will have to admit, if we are honest with ourselves, that we are frequently guilty of making them.

The desire to gossip, to pass on rumors, to exaggerate, to drag someone's name in the dust, seems to be one of the main delights of the human race. Whether we know a thing to be true or not, if it is a bit spicy we hasten to repeat it plus our own additions and viewpoints.

We seldom stop to think that many of these reports are made up in moments of jealousy, hate, or desire for revenge. Others are misinterpretations of circumstantial evidence. Many are harmless slips of the tongue in the first place, but they assume great proportions when they have been repeated a few times.

One way to remedy the trouble would be to do as Benjamin Harris threatened to do in his PUBLIC OCCURRENCES in Boston in 1690: that is, to publish the names of all persons accused of starting false and malicious reports. We do not propose to carry out Benjamin's scheme; it would be too pretentious. Besides it would involve too much—and too many.

A HIGHER ORDER

"Why, Miss Ray, I didn't know there was a rule against that." "My dear, there isn't, but there are some things we take for granted you know."

We quote an interview with Dean of Women and heartily agree with her that judgment is a necessary complement to law. Many of us exercise our judgments so little they become weak and ineffective. We actually lean upon the restrictions we are supposed to keep, and if they are observed, in the letter at least, we consider that sufficient. We rarely give a thought to the reasons for these regulations.

A much higher order of conduct will result when each individual exercises a sensitive feeling for relative values, and with wisdom, chooses between them.

W. A. A. Awards Pins And Other Prizes

Girls were awarded cups, numerals, or pins in recognition of athletic prowess at the Women's Mass Meeting last Friday. After a talk by Miss Haidt encouraging the girls to participate in athletics, Miss N. E. Sheridan '27, president of the Athletic Association, made the awards.

Gold hockey sticks for placing three years on the Varsity team were given to Misses N. E. Sheridan '27 and E. R. Frank '27.

Miss L. R. Robertson '27, as captain of the victorious Women's Building basketball team, was presented with the silver loving cup which is the trophy for the inter-dormitory basketball tournament.

Numerals were engraved on the hockey pins of Misses M. D. Reed '28 and M. M. Wheeler '28, in recognition of two years service on the Varsity team.

Silver hockey pins for a year's service on a team were given to Misses L. R. Robertson, E. A. Bullock, M. M. Mather and U. M. David of the class of 1927, S. A. Licht and E. R. Pomeroy of the class of 1928, and Mabel Letzell, C. P. Hudmell, E. G. Markle and M. E. Herman of the class of 1929.

Full numerals for seventy-five athletic points were won by Misses M. Mather '27 and J. H. Schantz '27, and M. D. Reed, E. R. Pomeroy, M. M. Wheeler and A. M. Downing, all '28.

Half numerals for forty athletic points were won by Misses E. R. Pomeroy, E. M. Graffius, E. R. Frear, and J. E. Womer of the Senior class, L. V. Ash, E. T. Hazel and S. A. Licht of the Junior class, and A. N. Paleone, M. E. Herman, C. P. Hudmell, Mabel Letzell and J. G. Ritter of the Sophomore class.

NIMRODS OUTSHOT BY CORNELL AND DREXEL

The Penn State women's rifle team lost its second and third matches of the season last week when Drexel Institute bettered them by two points with a score of 499 to 497 and Cornell triumphed with a score of 587 to 585.

Next week the girls will fire against the University of Maryland, last year's national champions, and the University of Delaware. These will be the last matches of the season except the national match, held annually under the auspices of Dot and Circle, national women's rifle association.

Co-eds Are Inconsistent but Individual When Discussion Reveals the Favorites

Investigation has revealed some interesting facts about the likes and dislikes of Penn State co-eds. A group of eighty campus girls gave twenty actors as favorites, with John Gilbert leading. Undoubtedly this is because John possesses IT. Richard Dix and Thomas Meighan are next in choice. Corrine Griffith took first place as favorite actresses, followed by Bebe Daniels, Gloria Swanson, and Betty Bronson.

Swimming proved to be the favorite sport of the co-eds, but they admitted that facilities for enjoying it at Penn State are somewhat limited. Hiking, tennis, and horseback riding took second, third and fourth places. Out of every eighteen girls, eleven named the rose as the flower of their choice. Orchids and violets were also in favor, while one girl—could she have been fooling us—prefers the humble dandelion.

In Psychology 2 we learned that the favorite color of men is blue and of women red, but our investigations have proved that blue is the favorite color of girls, too. We'll never take that course again, particularly as red was not favored in the least by these women. The nearest they came to it was rose which divided honors with green, orchid and pink.

Big Sisters Victors In Class Basketball at Armory Monday Night

The Junior and Senior girls met their "little sisters" on the basketball floor on Monday night and proved to them, by severe routings in each case, that the underclassmen will have to hurry to keep pace with their big sisters.

Between the Sophomores and Seniors there was none of the keen rivalry that existed last year in games between the two classes. The Sophomores put up all the fight they had but they were powerless against their opponents, and were defeated 30-14.

In the Junior-Freshman game the Juniors emerged victorious with a score of 43-12. The line-ups for the games were as follows:

SOPHOMORE	POSITION	SENIOR
Hubball	Forward	Frank Gould
Gould	Forward	Robertson
Herman	Center	Sheridan
Ritter	S. Center	Pomeroy
Letzell	Guard	Bullock
Maclatchie	Guard	Ondebone

Substitutions—Sophomores: Ritter for Letzell for Ritter. Seniors: Frank for Pomeroy.

JUNIOR	POSITION	FRESHMAN

VISITS WEST TO STUDY AGRICULTURE CONDITIONS

Purposing to study agricultural conditions throughout the middle-west, Prof. R. U. Blasingame, of the department of farm machinery, left on a tour of those sections of the country Tuesday.

During the trip, which is conducted by the American Agricultural Editors' association, the Penn State professor will visit sections of southern United States and Mexico.

Louise Homer Club and Glee Club Give Concert

The Penn State Girl's Glee Club and the Louise Homer Club will present a concert in the Auditorium on Sunday afternoon March 27, at three-thirty o'clock. Many of the members of the Glee Club are also members of the Louise Homer Club, girl's honorary musical organization so it is arranged to have the two clubs appear jointly.

The program has been prepared under the direction of R. W. Grant, Director of the department of Music. This is the first time since 1923 that Director Grant has had charge of the club.

One of the features of the concert is a group of Indian Songs by the American composer, Cadman, which will include the well known "Land of the Sky Blue Waters." Miss Helen Lachenmeyer, Assistant Professor of Music, will be heard in a group of piano solos and Miss C. R. Hoy '27 will play a solo on the organ. Miss M. J. Wright '27 will give a series of musical monologues.

A trio composed of Misses A. J. Romig '28, H. B. Foster '27 and M. F. Oehme '20, will present a number of the old English folk songs and ballads in costume.

WPSC TO RESERVE NIGHT FOR ALUMNI

President Hetzel Among Many College Authorities To Speak Monday

MUSIC AND TALKS MARK THREE-HOUR RADIO CARD

Penn State alumni throughout the east and middle-west are preparing to listen in on the WPSC radio program for alumni and former students next Monday night from eight to eleven o'clock.

Academic and athletic greetings will vie with all-star musical features for interest on the program which will be one of the most varied ever given from the College station, according to Director D. M. Cresswell.

President Hetzel is scheduled to extend greetings to alumni following the opening musical numbers at eight o'clock, and will be followed by marimba selections by Miss M. J. Gobrecht '30.

Between these numbers Professors F. L. Pattee and A. H. Espenshade, known perhaps to more of the older alumni than any other members of the College staff, will have brief messages and probably some old traditions and stunts to recall.

Then, between musical selections by D. E. Jenks, S. H. Torchia, and half a dozen other individual students, the deans of the six undergraduate schools will address short greetings to the alumni of their respective schools.

The next part of the program will be filled by a half hour of music followed by a message from James M. Holland, Pittsburgh, president of the Penn State Alumni Association, and also an alumni activities talk by Secretary E. N. Sullivan.

More music, a basketball review by Coach B. M. Hermann and inter-collegiate boxing and wrestling championship prospects and results from Coaches Leo Houck and Charles Speldel will be placed before the grand finale by Bottorf's orchestra from ten-thirty to eleven o'clock.

The program is being arranged by D. M. Cresswell, radio program director and announcer, and E. N. Sullivan representing the alumni. The program is subject to change before actual broadcasting, and it is possible that new features may be added.
