Fannie Ward, Popular Actress of the American Stage writes:

"Being looked upon as a sort of female Ponce de Leon, I have to guard not only my appearance against oncoming years, but all those other things that cruel Father Time preys upon—especially the voice. When women ask me which cigarette will not age the voice, or irritate the throat, I open my little cigarette case and show them the one I smoke—"The Lucky Strike."

Fannie Ward

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

C. W. READING
from forester to store manager

After graduating from Illinois in June of '22 I started to learn the business of wood preservation with a company whose president was a close personal friend. As I learned more of the work, I could see less of a real future in it. Having heard of Kresge methods and Kresge prospects, I investigated as thoroughly as it is possible for an outsider to do. This convinced me that there was more opportunity for advancement with this company than with any other I knew anything about. All my friends argued against the idea of my becoming a stockman in overall. They laughed at me for giving up an almost sure thing to go to work for a big corporation where no one knew me. Today, as a store manager, I can smile at these friends for I am making more money than any of them. I have gone further socially, financially, and in every other way, than would have been possible in so short a time in any other business. And I have just started! With the company expanding as it is, the opportunities are unlimited. C. W. Reading

Now, Seniors it's up to You!

Your college career will soon be over. And then you must choose your life work. How important it is that you get started right. And it is entirely up to you! You may start in a position that pays well now, but which offers little or no opportunity for advancement. Or you may start for a little less in a job where there is much to learn, but which offers an unlimited future to those who are faithful and willing to work and study hard. We start college men at the bottom. But as they learn and advance we pay them more. In a few years they may become store managers—dignified positions which pay high salaries. If you are interested in the job with a future, write now to our Personnel Department. We will send a man who has already found success with this organization, a graduate of your own college, to meet you and tell you more about our business.
