

HOLD DAIRY EXPOSITION HERE FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Dr. Jordan, State Secretary of Agriculture, Will Speak At Student Banquet

Opening with a dairy products judging contest on Friday afternoon, the dairy students will conduct the fifth annual Dairy Exposition which will close with the dairy students' annual banquet Saturday night.

Those participating in the dairy products judging contest will be grouped under two divisions—the professional, including those students who have made an advanced study of dairy products, and the amateurs or those students who have no advanced training. Saturday morning a dairy cattle judging contest will be held while in the afternoon there will be a cattle show. Forty-two students have entered a fitting and showing contest.

Many prominent speakers, including President Hetzel, Dr. Jordan, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, and Dean R. L. Watts of the School of Agriculture, will address those attending the banquet. Following the banquet, prizes will be awarded to the winners in the various contests. The prizes include eight silver loving cups, gold, silver and bronze medals, a fifty-four dollar milk cooler, ribbons, fountain pens, pencils, and subscriptions to farm and breed magazines.

LIBERAL ARTS AVERAGES LOWER AVERS STODDART

Student averages in the Liberal Arts school were lower last semester than for the second semester of last year, according to figures compiled by Dean C. W. Stoddart.

Women Debaters Win From Pittsburgh Duo

(Continued from first page) a walking thermometer, and the lawyer a statute book. The negative side, however, met with strong points the attack of their opponents. "The way to the best, they argued, is through specialization." They also showed that it is physically impossible to get more than a smattering here and there. Miss Labowitz concluded, "Even our street car conductors help us to get ahead."

Poultry Club Makes Plans for May Picnic

Planning a picnic for the latter part of May, the Penn State Poultry Club met Tuesday evening. Reports of the various committees in charge of the annual poultry show to be held in October were heard. After nominating officers for the next year, the meeting closed with a short educational talk by Mr. Kistler of the Purina Mills company whose subject was "Selling Yourself to a Job."

Dr. F. T. Struck, professor of Industrial Education, was elected chairman of the Research Committee of the Department of Practical Arts and Vocational Education of the Pennsylvania State Education Association at the last meeting of Schoolmen's Week held at the University of Pennsylvania.

'Y' TO PLACE STUDENTS IN SUMMER CAMP JOBS

Will Offer Remaining Posts to Experienced Men Desiring Organization Work

Several summer jobs at boys' camps still remain from the original list that was announced last month. W. J. Kitchen, secretary of the "Y", stated yesterday.

The work requires some knowledge of camping life and ability as a leader. During the summer the Y. M. C. A. workers conduct several boys' camps and they have need of college men to serve as leaders and counselors. Some of the positions open are: director of dramatics, social work, nature study, swimming and handicraft instructors. Camp doctors are also needed although only senior medical students or graduates need apply for these posts. There are also a few excellent positions open for men who have had experience in cooking.

The camps, which will be located in Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania, are all high grade camps with excellent equipment, according to Mr. Kitchen. Anyone desiring further information or seeking one of these positions should apply at the "Y" hut.

LADIES:—Come to our permanent waving demonstration, Thursday, May 5. All ladies cordially invited. The S Shop.

COUPLES SWAY, SAXOPHONES MOAN AT ANNUAL PROMENADE

From the opening strains of Jean Goldkette's smoothly harmonic musicians to the final weird wheeze from the saxophone in Jan Garber's eccentrically colorful group, the Army floor was jammed with swaying couples at the 1928 chapter in the history of Penn State Junior Proms.

Between five and six hundred couples, the largest attendance of the year, thronged to the final event of the social season.

The Armory itself shed its military appearance and was resplendent in gay colors for the occasion. Peeping through the ceiling were soft lights of blue, pink and yellow, while at various intervals the multi-colored spotlights cast a warm glow over the gay Prom-goers.

But it was the music that kept the crowd on the floor and continuous dancing was the by-word for all. On one side sat Jean Goldkette and his ensemble. As a Victor recording orchestra he was known by all and the syncopation which he furnished was in keeping with his reputation.

Across the floor, Jan Garber's group played. According to his press agent, Jan has acquired the lengthy epithet of "effervescent little leader of scintillating jazz." As he smilingly plied his bow and coaxed "hot" tunes from his assistants, he was the picture of enthusiasm.

Ponderous Golde, the trumpeter, drew many laughs with his dialectic take-offs and reached the peak of his performance as leader in the German band number. The singing trio of Brittain, Rhodes and Grady were encored on their popular renditions while Harold Peppie also took part in several numbers.

At intermission Carlew Miller, whose hangy case bears the destination "en route," put the finishing touches to the musical program.

GEARHART TO CONDUCT MILK TESTING COURSE

Because of the incessant demand for well trained cow testers, a short course in milk testing, record keeping, and feeding will be given here May sixteenth to twenty-first inclusive. C. B. Gearhart, Professor of dairy husbandry extension, will conduct the course.

Senator Watson,
noted for his fine voice,
writes:
"Smoking is a great pleasure and diversion to me. I get much enjoyment from Lucky Strikes because I know that I can smoke them at will with no fears of any ill effects upon my voice."
James E. Watson

James E. Watson, Republican Whip of the United States Senate, popular and powerful orator of Indiana, smokes Lucky Strikes. You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.
